UNLV Rebels vs Cal State, Los Angeles Diablos
Saturday, September 15, 1973
Official Program 50¢
Las Vegas Stadium 8:00 p.m.
The second chapter in the 11-chapter novel of Rebel football 1973 is previewed tonight as the Rebels host Cal State, Los Angeles in the season opener for the visiting school.

New Head Coach Ron Meyer had his baptism of fire last Saturday as the Rebels opened up the new regime with a resounding 38-6 triumph over an overmanned Arkansas.

In showing some strong intensity at times, UNLV rolled up 356 yards in total offense while limiting the Bears to but 177 total yards. The UNLV coaching staff has selected fullback Steve Matousek and tackle Scott Orr as the offensive and defensive players of the week for their efforts against SCA.

It's a new year for CSLA also, and coach Foster Andersen is smiling. His only reservation about how well Cal State University, Los Angeles could fare was whether he could recruit an adequate quarterback.

He landed a supper -- Rick Holoubek, a highly sought plum that many institutions wanted in the worst way. A 5-10, 175-pounder, Holoubek starred both in high school and junior college.

In two years at Pasadena City College, where he played with Rebels Jimmie Andrews, Sonny Brockman and Jesse Roberts, he completed 173 of 354 pass attempts for 3,485 yards and 35 touchdowns.

The Diablos have 24 returning lettermen off a team that was 3-7 last year that included a two-year loss at Pasadena City College, where he played with Rebels Jimmie Andrews, Sonny Brockman and Jesse Roberts, he completed 173 of 354 pass attempts for 3,485 yards and 35 touchdowns.

Chevrolet's Suburban offers a combined weight of 14,000 lbs. This includes the weight of the Suburban, passengers, cargo and trailers. The Suburban comes standard with four-wheel drive and a combination of front and rear disc brakes. Power front disc brakes are recommended for improved performance in braking and handling. If you're looking for a true luxury car, take a closer look at Chevrolet's Suburban.

A Fan's Glossary

BY JOHN MOSER
R-J Sportswriter

An educated person is a happy one.

And every college student knows that a good education begins on the football field, because who has the patience to learn anything in class?

So with the idea in mind to grind out happy, educated football fans -- just like football factories grind out players -- the Review-Journal's John Moser has come up with yet another segment of his fan's glossary.

Using the following definitions as handy guides, the fan can now get a total grasp of the complicated, intricate world of football's very own language.

He can then impress his friends with: "Oh, I'm multi-lingual. I speak fluent football too."

SIDELINE MARKERS -- Your friendly casino pit boss standing behind the bench with extra chips.

SPLIT END -- What the long-haired wide receiver gets after shampooing.

NAKED REVERSE -- Buy friend making bee-line for closet when hubby comes home.

MAIN CONCOURSE -- Dinner time at San Quentin.

FOURTH DOWN, ONE TO GO -- Dean, Erlichman, Haldeman, Mitchell... Nixon.

CLUTCH TOUCHDOWN -- Poor linebacker watching the front end of his car hit the pavement as he shifts into fourth while dragging racing home from the stadium.

EXHIBITION GAMES -- The only ones Lantz Rentzal gets to play in.

SHOULDERPADS -- Neat little apartments right next to the freeway.

END ZONE -- Place in the parking lot reserved for cars of guys with numbers 81-89.

GOAL LINE STAND -- Over-zealous vendor selling hot dogs underneath goal posts.

30 YARD LINE -- What it takes to catch a giant Marlin.

FORWARD LINE -- What it takes to catch a saucy cheerleader.

UNLV Scene

BY MARK HUGHES
Information Director

There's a mathematics professor at UNLV who says he likes to calculate how things will turn out in the long run.

That's why he jogs 12 miles every morning of the year. His name is Aaron Goldman.

"I think jogging is important in a lot of ways," he says. "It keeps you in top shape physically -- and does something for the spirit, too. With as many times as I go around that track, I've got plenty of time to think things out."

"Jogging is healthy, all right. I just wish more people realized that."

Dr. Goldman started a four-times-a-week jogging class this week designed for Las Vegas residents of any age who have sagged a bit out of shape in the wrong places. Everyone meets at the new nine-lane track on campus where Dr. Goldman gives instruction on how to pick them up and lay them down.

"Running should be as natural as getting up in the morning," he said. "But you'd be surprised how many people who haven't exercised in years suddenly wake up feeling out of shape and guilty one day, then almost kill themselves by running several miles. These things have to be regulated!"

A statistician, Dr. Goldman said he would be figuring out just how much jogging each person in the class needs to regain health and vigor during the six weeks the class is in session.

As a special feature, the joggers will be able to get a scientific appraisal of what kind of condition they're in by undergoing a set of tests by two esteemed physiologists with the Desert Research Institute -- Dr. David Bruce Dill and Dr. Mohamed Yousef.

The examinations, which include an electro-cardiograph of heart beat and a measure of oxygen supplied by the heart during the moderate exercise of walking on a treadmill, provide an extremely accurate description of a person's health and stamina.

Dr. Goldman issued a special challenge to everyone sitting in the stadium tonight to hustle out to the campus at noon Monday to join the ranks of the joggers. (First, all should register and pay a small fee at the Office of Continuing Education.)

"One thing is sure," he emphasized. "Everyone in the class will get a run for his money."
College Football "Plays It Again" Sunday

by GRAYLE H. LETT, NCAA Promotion Director

As it is popularly conceived, the instant replay is a split-screen, isolated, slow-motion, stop-action piece of art which lets you see the play you didn't see a few seconds earlier.

But popular concepts are far too confusing. An instant replay—every sense of the term—takes place every Sunday morning on most ABC stations. It even has a name—ABC College Football Highlights Show.

Putting the Sunday morning highlights show together is a game in itself, and when you consider that the "working day" in Chicago for the show is 11 p.m. Saturday until 11 a.m. Sunday, you can bet it's the only game in town.

For at least three members of the Highlights Show team, it's an away game. Dick Snider, director of NCAA Films and executive producer of the show, checks into Chicago Saturday night from his home in Wichita, Kan. Kemper Peacock, the producer-director, journeys from New York; and Bill Flemming, the host, comes from his assignment on ABC's college football telecast of the week.

Snider minimizes his role in the production, but the five-year reign of the show is in his credit. "You know, the whole thing's impossible," he confessed. "The good thing is that we never have time to stop and think about it when we are putting the show together."

"With film on the average of 12 games a weekend, then pick the five or six top games. Those games are determined on the importance of the contest, logistics or even if one of the teams has a player everybody would like to see.

"The most important thing about the show," Snider continued, "is getting the film into Chicago. When I get there Saturday night, I contact the cameramen and find out what flights the film's going to be on. Then I make sure that our messengers—who race to O'Hare and Midway airports on motorcycles—get the film out there and get the film.

Important Motorcycles

"Kemper Peacock has been all over the world and has to be one of the best in the business. Bill Flemming has covered every major sporting event in the world, and I've been around a little, too; but we all are helpless if one of those guys in a helmet and leather jacket can't get his bike started."

In the five years the show has been on the air, only one shipment of film has been lost in transit. "I know the plane schedules into Chicago better than the airlines," says Snider, "but sometimes things go wrong. We had an important game coming in from the South on Piedmont Airlines; it arrived on time, but the messenger didn't, and Piedmont closed down its baggage counter. We had to call Piedmont's home office, get the manager's name, and when you work through the night, that means disturbing some people.

"Flemming is the man up front. According to Snider, "He is super. He's one of the few sportscasters who could do this show. He knows the game, and you can't shake him up."

Flemming smiled at this comment and said, "They do call me 'one-shot Flemming.' Let's face it, that's my strength. I can get the thing done in one take. And fifty per cent of the time, that's all we have time for.

"Flying my own plane is the only way to do it," says Flemming. "Even so, sometimes I have to leave at half-time, or before, to make it. It's amazing, but I've never been weathered out. I've had some bumpy flights, but Chicago has always been open for me."

Upon arrival in Chicago, Flemming reads the first edition of the Tribune to get a head on some of the games. Preparation is his hallmark. He compiles information throughout the week on the games which will probably be used then attaches this information during the taping of the show.

After getting a wake-up call at 4:30 a.m., Flemming heads over to begin the taping. He gets the script outline then the camera roll. Often the narration is material Flemming is seeing for the first time.

"I think this is an advantage," he says. "I just put everything into the present tense. It's like I'm announcing the game for the first time. To us, the game isn't in the past."

Flemming Cares

Flemming is a perfectionist. "With Bill you have to be prepared," says Elliott. "If he sees a name he's never seen before, he wants to know how to pronounce it. His standard line is 'Are you sure?' I'd hate to think how many times we've run to a phone at 6 a.m. to check out a pronunciation, a statistic, a record or even a halfback name.

Peacock rolls the cameras at 6 a.m., and Flemming begins reading. If he makes a mistake, the film is still rolled because the important item is to get all the film onto videotape. If that is accomplished, then the backtracking is done. When Flemming is happy with the script and is sure that everything is correct, he proceeds in his one-shot fashion.

The result is an exciting football show, which provides information—an exciting football show.

"The show is great," Flemming claims, "and I can tell you why. We have a great team, and we all 'dig' college football."

The 12-hour period which spans the Sunday Morning College Football Highlights Show is summed up by Flemming: "Physically exhausting."
