Score.
That's the name of the game.
A good basketball team, like the Rebels, puts points on the board with speed, talent and efficiency. And a good hotel team, like the Mint's, scores the same way.

That's why the Mint Hotel and Casino has been a "heads-up" winner for years. Talented personnel, specializing in speedy, efficient service. And courteous, too!

So, the next time you Rebel fans are looking for a good place to eat or drink, or just to have a fun time, why not come down to the Mint?

We know your team is on the ball. You'll find ours is too!

Jerry Tarkanian, Head Coach

An astonishing feature of his wins is that they were accomplished at a school which had never previously won a basketball championship. Riverside was last in its conference for two consecutive years before Tarkanian; Pasadena was last in its conference the previous year; Long Beach had never won a championship in basketball; and UNLV had never finished higher than fourth in the WCAC.

The outstanding coach started his coaching career with five years in high schools: San Joquin Memorial, Antelope Valley and Redlands. Regarded as one of the great recruiters in the nation, "The Pied Piper of College Basketball" landed in Long Beach such nationally recognized superstars as Sam Robinson, George Trapp, Chuck Terry, Ed Ratliff, Leon Gray and Roscoe Pondexter. In his first year at UNLV, Tarkanian may have recruited as well as he did during his entire tenure at Long Beach State.

As his winning tradition continues to grow, so does his reputation. Three years ago, Tarkanian brought three high school All-America performers with him. All five this year, they are Eddie Owens (Houston, Texas), Lewis Brown and Jackie Robinson (both Los Angeles).

Two years ago he recruited Robert (Los Angeles), last year he brought in Sam Smith (Las Vegas) and Reggie Theus (Inglewood, California). For this season, he has all-star junior college center Jerry Moffett.

Jerry Tarkanian is a towel-chewing, nail-biting, hard-working Armenian who came to Las Vegas with a commitment to basketball. He never doubted his ability to develop a winning college basketball program.

At UNLV, Tarkan's troops have won 40 straight games going into the 1976-77 season, and, in three seasons, the Runnin' Rebels have a spectacular 48-2 record in the friendly, yet boisterous, surroundings of the Las Vegas Convention Center.

On Runnin' Rebel game nights, the otherwise stately convention hall is turned into a mass of theoretical light explosions which quickly works the crowd into a frenzy-and that's why a prominently-placed sign welcomes visitors with "Welcome to Tarkan's Shark Tank."

The only two teams who dared to defeat the Runnin' Rebels were both from the SWAC (1975-76) season when the freshman-laden squad fell to Texas Tech, 82-76, and to the University of Houston, 75-72. The freshmen averaged the Houston loss last season, beating the Cougars in the opening round of the Holiday Classic, 116-92.

Sellout crowds have become traditional at UNLV in the Tarkanian era. In the Rebels' top WCAC seasons with Tarkanian, UNLV did not lose a home game in 14 nights. (UNLV has now withdrawn from the WCAC and competes as the Division I team.) In three seasons under Tarkanian, UNLV is 24-10 on the road.

In NCAA playoff action after the 1974-75 season, the Rebels played a sub-regional game on the campus of Arizona State in Tempe, defeating San Diego State, 90-80, in the NCAA Regional tournament in Portland, Oregon, the Rebels were narrowly defeated by Arizona State, 84-81, but bounced back in the consolation game to defeat a favored University of Montana team, 75-67.

Following the 1974-75 campaign, the Runnin' Rebels defeated Boise State, 103-78, in a sub-regional game played on the campus of the University of Oregon in Eugene. Then the Runnin' Rebels were knocked out of the race for the national championship, losing to the University of Arizona, 114-105, in overtime, at famed Pauley Pavilion.

Before Long Beach, where Tarkanian's reputation first drew national acclaim, he spent seven seasons in the junior college ranks at Riverside and Pasadena City Colleges. At Riverside (1962-66), he had a 131-19 overall record, which included three consecutive state championships and four league championships in five years. No other junior college coach in the history of California basketball has achieved this height. At Pasadena (1966-68), Tarkanian was 67-4 and bagged a four-state title while another year finishing in the runner-up spot.

Tarkanian's players have gone on to play in professional basketball. They include Chuck Terry (Houston Rockets), Eric McWilliams (Houston Rockets), John O. Trapp (Los Angeles Lakers), Glenn MacDonald (Boston Celtics), Leonard Gray (Seattle SuperSonics), and most recently Ricky Sobers (Phoenix Suns).

Darrell Evans, who played for Tarkanian in junior college, is a starter for the Atlanta Braves in major league baseball.

An intense individual, Tark has coached in Ecuador for the People-to-People Sports Committee and, in April and May of 1968, he coached the Junior College Olympic Team in the Olympic Trials.

The 46-year old coach easily won the hearts of Las Vegas fans, and the Los Angeles Times called him an "instant Las Vegas celebrity."

A true champion builder, when he arrived at Long Beach the team was unknown nationally. when he left, it was an established power, second in the West only to UCLA.

A native of Euclid, Ohio, Tarkanian attended Pasadena City College before graduating from Fresno State in 1956. He received his Master's degree from Redlands University in 1960.

Tarkanian and his ever-active and totally-involved wife, Lois, reside with their four children Pamela, Jodie, Danny and George—in their sparkling Las Vegas home.

With Tarkanian’s tradition and image, invitations for him to speak at clinics and banquets arrive almost daily. He will average nearly one per week during the off-season, sending him all over the country.

Las Vegas is one of the most unique cities in the world, one which sees losers every day. Maybe that's why they appreciate a man like Jerry Tarkanian even more. He's a winner.

A Taste of Something Better.

With life as hurried as it is now, we often find ourselves longing for the "Good Old Days". That time we remember, when dinner was an all day event, and everything was gathered from the local fields. The whole family would help to make dinner a special time, with garden fresh corn, potatoes, and soup as thick as stew, and Mother would serve hot biscuits, bread, and desserts like home made pastry.

Today, dinner like the "Good Old Days" is a tradition at Cohen & Kelly's Restaurant and Pub. They offer entree's which range from Beef Duke of Wellington to Poached Channel Cod, and desserts like pastries make fresh daily in their own bakery. Today, if you're looking for a taste of something better, a memory of days gone by, join us at Cohen & Kelly's Restaurant. Serving dinner nightly, from 5 PM until 11 PM.

HEY, GONDO... YOU'RE SOMETHING ELSE

If confidence in one's worth has anything to do with it, Glen Gondrezick has earned his place on somebody's All-America team. The best way to describe his blazing UNLV performance these past four years was best expressed by New Mexico Head Coach Norm Ellenberger this year when he said following UNLV's 121-96 triumph over his Lobos, "Somebody better give that kid a saliva test. He can't be for real."

Gondo has done it again and again in his rugged Rebel career. He is UNLV's own Kamikaze Kid. He never quits. Sometimes you wonder if he wouldn't make a great football player too. He is constantly diving, scratching, jumping, hurdles, doing whatever it takes to get his hands on the basketball, especially when the other team unfortunately has it.

This season he leads UNLV in steals with 31 going into last night's battle with UCSB.

Getting Back to the New Mexico story, Ellenberger was justified in his remark. What Gondo had done in 28 minutes of playing time was something that Rebel fans will remember as long as there is beer at Davey's Locker.

We must preface our remarks about the UNM game though by saying he has been playing phenomenal all season long. Okay, after making the all-tournament team of the Rebel Roundup in December, Gondo was ready to start 1977 with a passion.

And what a way to start it, playing against his hometown school—the University of Colorado, which is from Boulder. The "Bionic Man" as he is referred to because he has taken more charges than Sears and Broadway combined and lived through them, playing 31 minutes against CU, scoring 18 points and getting a line 12 rebounds. Remember please, he is "only" 6-6 and plays forward against usually much taller people as was the case against UNM.

Well, here comes New Mexico and no 6-7, 6-8, and 6-11 players are going to intimidate Gondo, let alone stop him. Oh yes, one more thing. Before the season started his goal was to get 12 rebounds a game, which even his coaches said was unrealistic considering the people he would be going up against.

Well, the starting lineups have been introduced and now begins Gondo's show. Gondo put 20 points through the net, ripped off a career high 28 rebounds, handed out four assists, had no turnovers, and came up with three steals.

Ponder those stats again, for just a moment, because here comes Gondo again tonight against the Waves. Somebody give that kid a saliva test, but all it will prove is that GONDO'S FOR REAL...

Our Quarter Pounder with cheese. The hamburger so thick, we had to use two pieces of cheese.

"Cheese on top, cheese on the bottom - STEREO CHEESE!"

Our McDonald’s® Quarter Pounder® is so thick and heffy, one piece of cheese doesn’t even make a dent in the big beef flavor. It just gets lost.

After pondering the question, we came up with a brilliant solution — add another piece of cheese.

So, if you’re serious about your cheeseburger, and you’re seriously hungry, order a Quarter Pounder with cheese. Twice as much cheese. Just for you.

We do it all for you.

A GROWING UNIVERSITY

It was 25 years ago that Las Vegas witnessed the arrival of its first university professor. He was Jim Dickinson, an English instructor from the University of Nevada, Reno, who was sent to the south to start the first college-level classes here in 1951.

Dickinson started pretty much on a shoestring, teaching his courses out of Las Vegas High School wherever he could congregate with a group of students—in dressing rooms, on the theatre balcony, anywhere that wouldn't interfere with the high school's regular activities. His "office" was in the corner of a room also occupied by Tuffy, the campus security guard.

That's the way higher education got its start in Southern Nevada. But if the origins are a bit humble, the progress that has been made by the University of Nevada, Las Vegas over the past quarter century has been nothing short of spectacular.

Today, UNLV finds itself to be one of the fastest-growing universities in the country, built for the most part during the 1970's. It has developed a spacious, 300-acre campus dotted with modern buildings, a young energetic faculty of more than 350 professors, and academic degree programs in 65 different subject areas.

The school is making a name for itself in the sciences too, with its extensive research programs in the fields of desert ecology, environmental biology and geology.

The past year was a significant one at UNLV. Here are some of the highlights:

Enrollment: There are now more than 8,000 students enrolled at the university. Last fall, the enrollment took a jump of nearly 14 per cent over the year before, a rate of several times the national average. Students come from every state of the nation and more than three dozen foreign countries.

Instruction: Presently, students may enroll in degree programs at the bachelor's and master's degree levels taught by UNLV's 32 academic departments. The school also offers a doctorate in education as a joint program between UNLV and the University of Nevada, Reno.

The university conducted its third successful "Mini Term" in January, an innovative two-week program giving students intensive study into topics of wide ranging and timely concern. Some students worked in local business or government offices, while others traveled out of state to investigate everything from plant ecology to mountain resorts.

New Construction: Completion is expected this fall on two major new facilities on the campus—a 2,000 seat concert hall and a three-story life sciences building.

The Artemus W. Ham Concert Hall will serve as a cultural home for the broadest possible range of presentations, including light opera, ballet, folk and pop music, jazz and full symphonic productions. Seating 1,500 patrons on the main floor and another 500 persons in the mezzanine, the hall will feature a versatile stage and a flexible acoustical system which will allow innovations in sight and sound such as found in only the finest concert halls.

The 68,000-square-foot Juunita Greer White Hall has been designed as a research and teaching facility for some 1,100 students per semester in the biological sciences. The ground floor has been developed around a two-story-high atrium that will be a centerpiece of exotic and tropical plants and an actual living area for a number of small mammals, reptiles and birds in an earthen setting.

The building will provide space for an animal center complete—with surgery and autopsy rooms, an aquatics laboratory for the study of fish and amphibians, and botany laboratories where plants may be studied in a natural environment.

UNLV SCHOLARSHIP DONORS

Rebel athletics have come a long way. But they would never have come so fast, so far, if it were not for the over 1,000 scholarship donors on the 1976-77 Rebels Club roster.

Since the Rebel fund-raising drives have started, a new record has been set every year and this year over $725,000 has been raised through generous donations to support the grant-in-aid program for UNLV intercollegiate athletics.

But even more than this, Rebel boosters do more than donate money. They participate in every way. From being great fans like we have here tonight, or being “sideline coaches” in private talks with Rebel coaches.

The degree of involvement by the Rebel boosters in UNLV athletics is truly phenomenal. That is why it is with great honor and thankfulness, we present the 1976-77 UNLV athletic scholarship donors with our heartfelt gratitude:

The highly-acclaimed Theatre Ballet of San Francisco will give a one-time-only performance in UNLV’s Artemus W. Ham Concert Hall at 2 p.m. February 6.

The company’s arrival here will follow a highly-successful appearance at the Sahara-Tahoe Casino Theatre where they broke all records with their famous interpretation of “The Nutcracker” just before Christmas.

Their appearance in Tahoe marked a first for the resort, as a full-length ballet had not been presented there before.

Now the same artists will appear for the university, this time with ballets that include one presented originally for Queen Victoria in 1840.

The compelling study of the various sides of the famous character, Carmen, will also be presented in dance by the troupe.

The exciting “Don Quixote” pas de deux will be danced by the company’s leading dancers, Kimberly Graves and Antonio Mendes. Miss Graves has recently joined the troupe after touring the world as ballerina with the Royal Winnipeg Ballet of Canada. Mr. Mendes hails from Portugal where he was discovered by the Gilbenkian Foundation.

The company has an impressive repertoire of ballets: Les Sylphides, Six Princesses (Swan Lake), Danse Macabre, Winda and Rose, Many Faces of Carmen, Light and Shadow, Pavlova Solos, Salome, Danza, and Grand Pas De Quatre.

The Theatre Ballet of San Francisco is part of Pacific Dance Theatre’s complex of schools, performing companies and other dance services.

Founded in 1949 and still directed by Merriem Lanova, former soloist with Ballet International and the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo, Pacific Dance Theatre employs the ideas and principles applied successfully in Europe and Russia.

Two thousand seats are available for this performance priced at $6 and $3. Senior citizens and UNLV students, however, have the advantage of obtaining tickets at an unbelievable $1.

Tickets go on sale in the Ham Hall box office beginning Jan. 25.

Everyone in Las Vegas is familiar with the Pepperdine University Waves. And so is the Runnin' Rebel basketball team. They all remember the 93-91 loss to the Waves last season when the Rebels were 23-8 and looking for the first undefeated season in the history of the school. Well, Pepperdine changed that for the Rebels and I don't think the team has forgiven the loss. After all, it was the only regular season loss endured by UNLV all of last season.

Pepperdine is coming to Las Vegas after a tough trip to the Bay area last weekend where they met the No. 1 rated University of San Francisco and the University of Santa Clara in a pair of back-to-back West Coast Athletic Conference games.

They entered that series with a 9-3 overall record, but changed that for the Rebels and still lost an amazing four-overtime game to the University of Nevada, Reno, 77-73 in a game played in Malibu.

The Rebels and the Waves have played many, many times before, most of them when the Rebels were a member of the WCAC. UNLV leads the series history at 10-4, but Pepperdine has seemingly come up with the big win when they needed to.

This year's Pepperdine team lacks the strength on the boards, given to them mainly last season by Brazilian Marcos Leite, who left a year early to play in the NBA. Still, the Rebels are a very good ball club.

The Pep squad is led by 6-6 junior forward Ollie Matson, who made the basket heard round the basketball world last season when Pepperdine defeated UNLV. We still can hear ABC TV announcer Jim McKay announcing it during the Olympic games in Montreal.

Well, last year was just that. And the Rebels play tough at home, which should make this a very exciting game to say the least.

REBEL WRESTLERS... Two of a Kind

by George Sarestis
UNLV Sports Information Office

They are definitely two of a kind! Charles and Carl Blalark were named UNLV Co-Wrestlers of the Week recently by head coach Dennis Finfrock for their outstanding performances in UNLV's three dual meet wins of that week.

The Rebels scored a 25-14 victory over Cal State Stanislaus and crushed Colorado School of Mines 40-4 in running their record to 10-1 on the season.

The Blalark brothers are UNLV's first-ever twin-brother combination to compete in an intercollegiate sport.

The Blalarks were born on February 12, 1957 in Louisiana fifteen minutes apart. They are two of a family of eight children, four boys and four girls, and are the most athletic of the family.

Carl and Charles first gained interest in wrestling while attending Rancho High School as freshmen. Carl had thoughts of playing basketball but Coach Finfrock, who had been an assistant wrestling coach at Rancho at the time, encouraged Carl to try out for wrestling.

"I really wanted to play basketball but Coach Finfrock came to me and said that we both had the potential to be state champions, so I decided to wrestle," says Carl.

The brothers both advanced to the zone tournament during their freshman year. Charles captured second place in the 98 pound weight class, and Carl grabbed himself a third place medal in the 105 pound division.

For the Blalark brothers and head coach Dennis Finfrock, it was the start of a relationship that has now carried on for five years.

In the fall of 1973, Finfrock accepted the head coaching job at Chaparral High School and the Blalark brothers moved on to Chaparral when the school opened in the same year.

The rest is history.

Finfrock worked with the brothers and put in extra time in helping to develop their wrestling skills. The extra time and effort paid off in the first year. As sophomores, the brothers were Zone Champions in their respective weight classes, and Charles culminated his season by winning the 98 pound State Championship.

As a junior, Carl moved up to the 112 pound weight class, finally reaching his potential. Going through the dual meet season undefeated, Carl continued his brilliance throughout the zone and state tournaments, capturing both individual titles.

Charles meanwhile, did not lose a dual meet during the 1974-75 year, but failed to make weight for the zone tournament.

During their wrestling days at Chaparral, Finfrock felt that they were the biggest draw among the students, and Charles culminated his season by winning the 98 pound weight class, and Carl grabbed himself a third place medal in the 105 pound division.

As a junior, Carl moved up to the 112 pound weight class, finally reaching his potential. Going through the dual meet season undefeated, Carl continued his brilliance throughout the zone and state tournaments, capturing both individual titles.

Charles meanwhile, did not lose a dual meet during the 1974-75 year, but failed to make weight for the zone tournament.

During their wrestling days at Chaparral, Finfrock felt that they were the biggest draw among the members of the team. "A lot of the people and especially the students, came to the matches to see the Blalark brothers because they were our most exciting wrestlers on the team," Finfrock said.

If it wasn't difficult enough to tell them apart when seen in public, it was even more of a task when they wrestled. During their three years at Chaparral, Carl and Charles each had worn one black and one white wrestling shoe that became their trademark for the Cowboys.

In their final year at Chaparral, the Blalarks finished their high school wrestling career in a fine fashion. For the first time in the three-year history of the school, Chaparral won the zone and state championship, led by Carl and Charles.

Charles moved up to the 112 pound weight class and wrestled yet another undefeated season, capping his career by winning both the zone and state championships. Not to be outdone by his brother, Carl equaled his brother's accomplishments in the 123 pound weight division.

During their three years at Chaparral, Carl and Charles never lost a dual meet and a big part of that, Carl felt, was due to Coach Finfrock. "Coach Finfrock was with us the first year we were at Rancho, and we have been together ever since. He helped us more than anyone and if we had any personal problems, we knew we could always go to him. He was almost like a father to us," the younger brother of 15 minutes said.

The brothers did not get many offers to attend other colleges, because of the fact that most of the coaches knew that the Finfrock-Blalarks relationship was a strong one, and that they would move on to UNLV under the direction of Finfrock.

This year, so far, has been somewhat difficult for the two. Because of their size, it is near impossible for either one of them to gain enough weight to move up to the 126 pound weight class. They are both competing for the varsity spot in the 118 pound division, and although they are top-notch competitors, wrestling for the number one spot has not caused any conflicts at home.

We have not had any disagreements because we are so close and always pulling for one another," Charles says. "We realize that only one of us can wrestle at a time."

A week before the first dual meet of the season against Cal Lutheran College, the brothers had their wrestle-off determined who would wrestle the first week. In the first match, Charles won 9-8, only to have Carl win the second wrestle-off 16-15, on a one point riding time decision.

So, because of their closeness, not only on the mat in competition but at home as well, Finfrock and the Blalarks decided to flip a coin to see who would wrestle. Carl won the toss and wrestled the even-numbered matches throughout the remainder of the season and Charles would wrestle all the odd-numbered meets.

Carl and Charles have picked up in collegiate wrestling right where they left off in high school. Carl has wrestled in ten dual meets, excluding the meet against UNLV, and Charles has wrestled in eight dual meets.

THE UNIVERSITY REBELS CLUB

Wildcat, whose optimism and enthusiasm has sustained the Rebel program over the years, is a former University Regent, prominent Las Vegas businessman and attorney and one who is a Rebel booster.

And, then, of course, there are the visiting honorary alumni like Mr. Frank Sinatra. For two summers now, Dr. Sinatra has given of his time and his music, and now earns his money, to provide UNLV with two of its most memorable evenings ever.

This past May 18, over 3,000 Rebel boosters jammed Caesars Palace Hotel to hear Mr. Sinatra sing a sincere, "Las Vegas, my kind of town...Las Vegas Is..." With support like this, how can we go wrong. Call Davey or Wayne anytime at the URC office on the UNLV campus at 774-3614.

Reb Soccer Player in Draft

UNLV Senior Roy Sparks, was recently selected by the Las Vegas Quicksilvers professional soccer team during the North American Soccer League's sixth annual draft. Sparks, who led the Rebel soccer team in scoring for the past three seasons, was drafted in the fourth round but was only the second player chosen by Las Vegas' first professional team.

During his three years at UNLV, Sparks scored 34 goals and dished out three assists in leading the Rebels to a 32-12-6 mark in three seasons. Sparks averaged nearly 1.5 goals per game this past season, slamming home 20 goals, to set a new UNLV record, breaking the mark of nine that the graduate of Basic High School in Henderson set during the 1975 season. He holds three UNLV records with most goals in a season (20), Most Penalty kicks (3), and Most Points scored during a season (20).

This past season, Sparks led the Rebels to the Southern California Intercollegiate Soccer Association title. UNLV finished with a perfect 7-0 mark for the Conference and had a 13-4-1 record for the season. Sparks culminated his collegiate career by making the SCISA All-Conference team.

The 24-year old forward was invited by former UNLV football coach, Ron Meyer, to placekick for the 1975 football Rebels. Sparks converted 11 of 13 extra points, and was successful on 2 of 3 field goal attempts, including a school-record 45-yarder.
Dominic Clark, Sports Information Director

Dominic Clark, one of several people behind the scenes of the Rebel Express, is nearing five years of fulltime service to the UNLV athletic program.

Spending countless hours over the typewriter and on the telephone, spreading the word of the Rebels across the nation, his responsibilities include game programs for home events, brochures, pamphlets, posters and media guides on all Rebel sports. He also chums out near-daily press releases on the UNLV athletic scene and works closely with the University Rebels Club, the booster organization behind the Rebel drive to the top.

Born in Reno, Nevada, on January 2, 1949, and raised in Las Vegas, this native New Zealander worked in the UNLV sports information office as a student assistant during the 1967-68 and 1968-69 school years before transferring to the University of Nevada, Reno, where he earned his Bachelor of Arts degree in journalism in 1971. He attended college on a four-year, full-scholarship provided by the Las Vegas Press Club and graduated with honors from UNR.

The 1967 graduate of Bishop Gorman High School came to UNLV in his present position in December of 1971 from the Las Vegas Review Journal where he worked as a sportswriter assigned to covering prep sports.

Clark has a wide background in journalism, despite his young age, including work in radio, newspaper, television, and instruction, in addition to his SID work.

While attending school in Reno, he served as the school's sports information director for two years as well as being the game announcer and statistician for the Reno Silver Sox minor league baseball team.

He has served as a stringer for several papers including the New York Times. His efforts have contributed to the success of the five-year-old Pizza Hut Basketball Classic and he was also part of the ABC-TV production crew for the 1973 Alan King Caesar's Palace Tennis Classic.

In addition to putting out the department's publications, he has been published himself in several sources, including the Athletic Administrator, the CoSIDA Digest, and the UNLV Alumni News.

He and his lovely wife, Linnie, have a one-year-old daughter, Amy Marie.

UNLV's Division of Continuing Education and Department of Intercollegiate Athletics present
JERRY TARKANIAN BASKETBALL CAMPS 1977

WHO'S INVITED?

Boys between age 0 and the junior year in high school. You will be grouped and instructed according to age.

DATES TO BE ANNOUNCED SHORTLY
(Will be in June)

CLASS WILL MEET in the new Paul McDermott Physical Education Complex on the UNLV campus, where there are two new air-conditioned gyms and other modern facilities. WHAT'S IT ALL ABOUT? The fundamentals of basketball will be stressed - passing, dribbling, offensive and defensive footwork, defensive stance, ball handling, rebounding techniques, plus a strong emphasis on your shooting techniques. DAILY CLASSROOM SESSIONS with highlight techniques and strategy, with film sessions and instruction on rules and officiating. Also: full-court, organized, officiated games are scheduled each day. INSTRUCTION will be geared to you, individually; lots of personal attention is built into this program. YOUR INSTRUCTORS? UNLV basketball coach Jerry Tarkanian and his coaching staff. The entire camp is organized by "Tark," one of the great basketball masters, who will be on the floor personally instructing each student. You'll get the best from the best.

REGISTRATION is a breeze: just complete the attached form and return it with your check. The fee is $60 for a one-week session, and includes the Basketball Camp T-shirt, notebook, refreshments, and special awards. Enrollment is limited, so register right away! PLAN to bring trunks, T-shirt and basketball shoes to camp.

For MORE INFORMATION, call the UNLV office of Conferences and Institutes: 739-3394

REGISTRATION: JERRY TARKANIAN BASKETBALL CAMPS — 1977
