For nearly a quarter of a century, Jerry Tarkanian’s home has been the basketball court. Each year as he presides as the head coach of this prestigious household, he preaches virtues such as hard work, discipline and loyalty.

Tarkanian views every day as a happy hour as long as anyone can remember — or at least the past 23 collegiate seasons. For his 12th consecutive season, Tarkanian will head one of Las Vegas’ most successful teams: the UNLV Rebels — the UNLV Runnin’ Rebel basketball team.

Tarkanian may be regarded as the father—figure to some, especially his son Danny, who was the starting point guard for three years before graduating after the 1983-84 season, but all regard him as one of collegiate basketball’s finest coaches of all-time.

Tarkanian in nearing a coaching milestone that so few before him have attained. When UNLV wins its 27th game of the 1984-85 season, that will mark Tarkanian’s 593rd win as a collegiate coach. His overall record currently stands at 593-118, a winning percentage of .834.

His 593 wins include his seven seasons at the junior college level. At the major college level, Tarkanian’s record is as impressive as he is the winningest (by percentage) active collegiate coach in the country. He has a winning record of 593 wins, which translates to an 83.4 percent winning percentage of 606 in 16 years of major college coaching. With his record of 381-92, Tarkanian’s only 19 wins away from his 400th major college victory.

For all of his achievements on the basketball court, Tarkanian is sometimes overlooked for what he does off the court in the Las Vegas community. A very popular local figure—sports or otherwise—he speaks many hours of his time involved with community related functions and charities. Last year, Tarkanian was named by the Las Vegas Kinney Foundation as Man-of-the-Year for his efforts on behalf of that organization. He also runs state­wide basketball camps and clinics for youngsters of all ages as well as being an active member of various charitable organizations.

The University recognized what he has been doing for the Las Vegas community and named him Assistant Athletic Director with designated duties as Director of Community Relations in 1982. While at UNLV, Tarkanian has molded the Rebels into a veritable basketball dynasty. In his 11 seasons, he has failed to win a season with less than 15-10. He has guided his teams to the NCAA Tournament five times and the NIT twice. In the 1978-79 season, UNLV placed third in the NCAA Tournament by beating North Carolina Charlotte 108-94 in the Consolation Game. In the 1978-80 season, the Rebels finished fourth in the NIT. UNLV under Tarkanian currently has a 10-6 Post-season record.

The 1983-84 campaign was another masterpiece for the Run­nin’ Rebels. The team was 24-6—the third time Tarkanian has won as many as 24 games at UNLV—and advanced to the Far West Regional Final of the NCAA’s before losing to eventual Na­tional Champion Georgetown. UNLV was the first team in the nation to reach the 25th, 28th and 32nd placings on the list. The team captured its second consecutive PCAA regular season title with a 16-2 mark. Finally, Tarkanian was named Coach-of-the-Year by the Basketball Times and the PCAA for 1984. He had been UP’s choice in 1983.

UNLV is not only the only school that Tarkanian has had coaching success. It has been at Cal-State Long Beach from 1968-73, where he compiled a 122-20 record (85% in five seasons and reached the NCAA’s four times. He never lost a home game in those five seasons, including a streak of 65 home wins. In 1972, he was named Coach-of-the-Year at Long Beach, including being named Professor-of-the-Year and Salesman-of-the-Year for his job of promoting the University.

Prior to CSULB, Tarkanian coached at Pasadena City College for two seasons (1966-68). He was named Coach of the Year in both of those two seasons. He also started that career and won a California Junior College Athletic Federation to wrap around.

Tarkanian started his collegiate coaching career at Riverside City College and in five seasons compiled a 145-20 record. After a season of 14-13, Tarkanian guided Riverside to three California Junior College Championships, including a perfect season (1963-64) of 35-0.

Another tribute that Tarkanian is widely known for is his ability to recruit. He has the knowledge in basketball circles as the “Player of Basketball Recruiting” — a title he is most worthy of. Last year, no matter how thin the recruiting field is, Tarkanian manages to attract only the top prospects.

Among the top recruits Tarkanian managed to bring to Long Beach during his tenure there include: Grizzy Tepp (Seattle Sonics), Larry Motett (Houston Rocks), Eddie Owens (Buffalo Braves), Jackie Robinson (Seattle SuperSonics), Sam Smith (Chicago Bulls), Glenn Gondrezick (Denver Nuggets, New York Knicks) Sidney Green (Chicago Bulls) and Reggie Theus (Chicago Bulls, Kansas City Kings). In addition, four members of the 1983-84 Rebel squad were selected in the recent college draft. They are Jeff Collins (Phoenix Suns, 4th round), Danny Tarkanian (San Antonio Spurs, 8th round), Eric Rooker (Utah Jazz, 8th round) and Paul Brozovich (Golden State Warriors, 8th round).

In Tarkanian’s 11 years at UNLV a total of 23 players have been drafted by the NBA. Six players along from the 1977-78 team were drafted in the NBA — an NCAA and NBA record.

Tarkanian has been honored with other coaching duties throughout his stellar career. He coached in Equador for the NBA record. He also coached in the NBA record.

A native of Euclid, Ohio, Tarkanian attended Pasadena City College before graduating from Fresno City College in 1968. He then went on to earn his Masters degree — with honors — in Educational Management from Redlands University.

Dear Friends of UNLV:

I am happy to have this opportunity to express my greetings to you and to convey my best wishes to Coach Tarkanian and the Rebels in their efforts to begin another successful basketball season. This university and the Rebel basketball program have built a national reputation for excellence in recent years. UNLV is an important part of the University of Nevada system and recognizes that the quality of the athletic programs is a reflection of the overall quality of the academic programs. UNLV's academic excellence in these programs has significantly advanced the visibility and stature of the institution and has instilled deep loyalty and pride in the hearts of many throughout the state and region.

We are also aware, however, that this excellent basketball program is a part of another success story: the remarkable growth and development within the past century of the University of Nevada, Las Vegas as an important urban cosmopolitan city. UNLV is fortunate to be a vital part of a wonderful urban community for which we are proud to call our home. I have stated on many occasions that my administration is absolutely committed to see the further development of UNLV as a first-class academic institution which will serve as a center of excellence for the state and our nation as a center of excellence for teaching, learning, and research. The residents of this community who have supported this institution so generously over the years deserve nothing less.

This is truly one of the most exciting times in the history of our University. We are at a turning point from which we must push ahead toward greater excellence as an institution of higher learning. I invite all of you to join us as we endeavor to build an ever stronger foundation of academic excellence for UNLV. I have no doubt that with all your support and the efforts of our fine faculty and staff, the University of Nevada, Las Vegas will become a University of the first class.

Sincerely,
Robert C. Maxson
President

THE UNIVERSITY OF NEVADA SYSTEM
BOARD OF REGENTS
UNLV DIRECTOR OF INTERCOLLEGIATE ATHLETICS
Dr. Brad Rothermel

For the 1983-84 academic year, the University of Nevada, Las Vegas has had each of its fourteen intercollegiate sports, with only two exceptions, represented in post-season, national competition. In addition, exactly half of those sports were ranked nationally in the top 20 at one time or another. Much of the credit for this outstanding intercollegiate record goes to UNLV's Director of Intercollegiate Athletics, Dr. Brad Rothermel.

Rothermel, now entering his fifth year as UNLV's Athletic Director, has built UNLV athletics to the point where the university is now very competitive at both the conference and national levels.

Rothermel's philosophy while at UNLV has been that the function of the intercollegiate athletic program is to provide for student-athletes an environment in which those student-athletes are able to pursue excellence in selected extracurricular educationally related athletic activities. Furthermore, his objective for the programs is to win within the structure of the rules and the budgetary framework provided. The achievement of this goal is demonstrated by successfully competing against national championship caliber competition in all activities sponsored by the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics.

Prior to his appointment at UNLV in 1981, he was Assistant Director and Business Manager for the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics at West Virginia University. From 1974 to 1976 he was employed as Assistant Director and Business Manager for the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics at Kansas State University.

Rothermel supervised the intercollegiate athletic programs for men and women while serving as Director of the Division of Health and Physical Education at George Williams College in Downers Grove, Illinois, from 1971 to 1974.

From 1965 to 1967, he served as Supervisor of Counseling and Research Development while functioning in the capacity of Assistant Athletic Director of the University of Illinois Athletic Association. Prior to that position he was an administrative associate and coach for the Chicago National League Baseball Ball Club, Inc. (Chicago Cubs).

In addition to his above mentioned athletic positions, Rothermel has served as an administrator in numerous educational, recreational, and financial environments. He also possesses coaching and experience as a competitor at all levels from elementary school through the professional ranks.

Rothermel received his Ph.D. in 1965 and a M.S. degree in 1961 from the College of Applied Human Life Sciences at the University of Illinois, Champaign-Urbana. He received his B.S. from Northern Illinois University in 1960.

Rothermel and his wife, Suzanne, a kindergarten teacher in the Clark County District, have two daughters; Beth, 15, and Christine, 11.

A graduate of Monogah High School in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, Bennett was one of the most highly sought after tennis players in the state. She earned All-State honors with three letters while at Peabody. She was also offered a scholarship offer from Tim Girgurich who was then the head coach of the University of Pittsburgh. Bennett had an extremely successful inaugural season with the Panthers. After one season with the Panthers, Bennett was drafted by the Virginia squires of the American Basketball Association in 1975. Bennett then played with the Philadelphia 76ers of the National Basketball Association for one season. He was then traded by the 76ers to the Indiana Pacers in 1976.

COACHING EXPERIENCE—Bennett was a volunteer assistant coach at the University of Pittsburgh under Tim Girgurich. He came to UNLV in 1983 and is entering his second season with the Runnin’ Rebels basketball team. Bennett and his wife, Eva, reside in Las Vegas.

For all of us here in Nevada, living the life we want often means something a little different. But it always means something special. Most of all, it means working together.

And no matter the life you choose to live, First Interstate Bank of Nevada is committed to helping you live it.

Maybe it's making a move for the better with the help of a home improvement loan. Or planning for retirement with one of our IRAs. For some, it's a new car or recreational vehicle. Or a college education with a government-backed student loan offered only through First Interstate Bank of Nevada. Perhaps it's financial strength for that growing business. Or a consumer banking package that fits your individual needs.

First Interstate Bank of Nevada and you.

Working together to help you live the life you want. Just as we've been doing for the past eighty-two years.
Automobile dealers in Las Vegas are contributing a large measure of help to the UNLV Athletic Program with membership in the UNLV C.A.R.S. (Courtesy Auto Resource System) Ltd. program—the loan of courtesy cars. Like other programs which are a part of Rebel booster activities, this project enables the UNLV Athletic Department to make greater use of its funds. These sports-minded dealers have earned a debt of gratitude from the Rebel Athletic Department. They are an important part of the "Team" that helps make UNLV athletics so successful.

Since 1978, the PCAA has grown from an all California League to a league that has members from four states in the western part of the nation. The leagues' newest member, New Mexico State, will participate in conference football for the first time in the 1984 season.

In addition to New Mexico State, the other PCAA members are California State University, Fullerton; California State University, Long Beach; Fresno State University; San Jose State University; University of California, Irvine; University of California, Santa Barbara; University of Nevada, Las Vegas; University of the Pacific and Utah State University.

Lewis A. Cryer, who begins his seventh year as Commissioner of the PCAA, has overseen the conferences' phenomenal growth during his tenure. Under his guidance, the PCAA has grown in stature to rival some of the more established conferences in the nation. The PCAA has also recently added championships for women's basketball, swimming and track and field and is currently working to expand the PCAA women's league.

Working in the PCAA office with Cryer are: Assistant Commissioner Dennis Farrell; Supervisor of Football Officials Jack O'Cain; Supervisor of Basketball Officials John Dangleis; Assistant to the Commissioner Jody Harter; Administrative Assistant Dodie Hayes and Secretary Michele Schrimpf-Scott.

The conference office is located at 1700 East Dyer Road, Suite 140, Santa Ana, California and the phone number is (714) 261-2525.

REBEL TRADITION

Without certain traditions, a Runnin' Rebels game just wouldn't be the same. Last season a new tradition was added, which has become a favorite part of the pre-game hoopla. Thanks to Mr. George Gerringer, the Runnin' Rebels enter the Thomas and Mack Center on their own red carpet, as we ROLL OUT THE RED CARPET FOR YOUR RUNNIN' REBELS. Mr. Gerringer crafted and donated the red carpet for the Rebels.

Another time-honored tradition is the pre-game light show, which is a carry-over from the days the Rebels played in the Convention Center, where the original pre-game lighting show was designed by Art Rader.

An Allen Scope Is Like Hiring The Ten Best Diagnosticians In The World
Allen introduces a bold new concept for service in the 80's. The world's first and only engine diagnostic computer that collects data based on an auto's actual operating characteristics – sifts this information automatically, and deduces in the most logical manner which of the engine parts are defective and need to be replaced or repaired. Faulty components are pinpointed for all major engine systems – starting, charging, fuel distribution, compression, timing and ignition.

Armon Gilliam — UNLV's Rising Roundball Star

by Michael DiChiaris
Assistant Sports Information Director

What a difference a year makes. Last season, Armon Gilliam was not widely known in Las Vegas as being a Runnin' Rebel basketball player. In fact, many had never even heard of him. This season, Gilliam has become a force in the Runnin' Rebel lineup as evidenced by his being named the most valuable player in the Lite-Rebel All-Star Round-Up Dec. 20-21 with a 39-point and 25-rebound performance for the two days.

Gilliam was a standout basketball player at Bethel High School. Playing basketball in the Pitts­burgh suburb Gilliam knew a few of the people who would eventually end up at UNLV. For instance, he played on the same summer league (Connie Hawkins) team as did Melvin Bennett, who is currently a volunteer assistant coach with the Runnin' Rebels.

Gilliam is indeed putting in the effort. With a 2.8 GPA as a Business major at UNLV and an 11.6 point/game and 8.8 rebounds/game average, Gilliam is fulfilling his role on the UNLV team.

"My role is primarily as a rebounder," said Gilliam. "If I score a few points also, all the better. The key is to just be prepared to play whenever the coaches call on you."

His selection as the Lite-Rebel All-Star Round-Up MVP came as a complete surprise to the unassuming sophomore. A unanimous selection by the media covering the tournament, he was already on the radio post­game show with UNLV play­announcer Len Howard when his name was called to accept his trophy.

"I was completely surprised when I was selected as the tournament MVP," recalled Gilliam. "I thought that it usually went to someone with a higher class standing."

As many college players, Gilliam is looking down the road to be a part of the select group who make the pros, but it is not something that he worries about.

"If the pro career is there, I'll take it of course," said Gilliam. "If not, I'll just get a job in my major field like anyone else, working nine to five."

Right now, Gilliam's future is this season as a Runnin' Rebel. At this point last season, very few people not connected with Runnin' Rebel basketball knew his name. But as performances in the Rebel Round-Up indicate, his name will very soon be widely recognized.

"I'll just be prepared to play whenever the coaches call on me," said Gilliam. "If I thought that I could get a job in my major field like anyone else, working nine to five, I'll take it as is."

As many college players, Gilliam is looking down the road to be a part of the select group who make the pros, but it is not something that he worries about.

"If the pro career is there, I'll take it of course," said Gilliam. "If not, I'll just get a job in my major field like anyone else, working nine to five."

Right now, Gilliam's future is this season as a Runnin' Rebel. At this point last season, very few people not connected with Runnin' Rebel basketball knew his name. But as performances in the Rebel Round-Up indicate, his name will very soon be widely recognized.

LAS VEGAS, THE CITY

The city of Las Vegas, Nevada is a thriving metropolis of nearly half-a-million permanent residents nestled in a desert valley near the southernmost tip of the state.

Located in the scenic southwestern United States, Las Vegas is within a 30-mile radius of Lake Mead; the massive Hoover Dam and Colorado River recreational area; the snow skiing trails of 12,000 foot Mt. Charleston; and a panorama of red-rock mountains, eroded sandstone landscapes and replicas of old western towns. Also, within easy reach is the Southern California coastal areas, Arizona's Grand Canyon, California's Death Valley and Southwestern Utah's Zion National Park.

First settled in 1855 as a missionary outpost of the Mormon Church, the city has grown into one of the premier entertainment spots in the world. Of course, everyone is familiar with the famed Las Vegas "Strip," where renowned entertainers come to perform and the glamour and glitter is unsurpassed anywhere. Yet, the "Strip" is by no means the only means of entertainment.

In many important ways, Las Vegas is like any other large city that is on the go. There is a rich cultural scene including art galleries, theatres, ballet and numerous musical organizations.

In addition, there are new museums, recreational parks, libraries, churches and hospitals making Las Vegas a city able to satisfy every taste.

HOOVER DAM SPECTACULAR—Hoover Dam, 35 miles from Las Vegas. Puts on its own show as water gushes across 100-yard-wide canyon through needle-valves five feet in diameter. Hoover Dam is not only the single most popular visitor site in Southern Nevada, but it produces hydroelectric power and releases irrigation water from Lake Mead for the Southwest.

Head Coach Jack Pete and UNLV's 1984 Singles' Champion, Scott Warner

Dusty Mac, our peasy Nevada sand- dough miner, is still digging up the place in search of his legendary "lost" McCarran Mine (actually, we're remodeling, and Dusty is taking the blame for things).

FRUSTRATING EXPERIENCE

During our extensive remodeling program at McCarran Airport, passenger pick-up and drop-off can sometimes be a frustrating experience. The best advice is to have someone drive you to the airport (or take a taxicab) and drop you off in front of the terminal.

ON YOUR RETURN

To avoid vehicular congestion and jangled nerves, pre-arrange to call someone when your plane arrives. By the time your baggage is sorted and delivered to the baggage claim area, you can be on your way in a matter of moments.

FREE SHUTTLE BUS

In the meantime, free shuttle bus service is still being provided in all terminals every 5 minutes from the new parking area. This is one of the best ways to avoid congestion.
THE UNIVERSITY OF NEVADA, LAS VEGAS

The University of Nevada, Las Vegas, has grown and developed in its relatively short history into one of the most dynamic urban universities in the Southwest. With some 11,000 students, a vigorous Continuing Education program, and active performing arts complex, the university has become both the educational and the cultural hub of southern Nevada.

Academic excellence has been a priority at UNLV since its inception as the Southern Regional Division of the University of Nevada in 1957. When Maude Frazier had opened campusthat year it stood alone, surrounded by desert and fronted by a ring of landscaping--like landscaping and modern buildings is located two miles from the Las Vegas Strip, in the heart of a busy commercial and residential area.

The push for academic excellence has intensified in recent months under the direction of UNLV's energetic new president, Dr. Robert C. McCaw. During the first months of Dr. McCaw's administration a number of substantial gifts have come to UNLV to support academics and to help build the New School of Engineering and Computer Science. Of these, the Margaret E. and Harold G. Stocker Scholars Program and the Harold and Mayme Stocker Interest-Free Loan Program are notable for the impetus they give to the university and the potential they have to attract Nevada's finest high school graduates.

UNLV Power Company's recent pledge of $1.5 million came soon after a gift of $500,000 by construction general contractor J. A. Tiberti, both for support of the engineering school.

The drive to expand UNLV's engineering and computing science programs actually began in 1982 when local business and community leaders visited the Silicon Valley College where they learned that establishment of an accredited engineering school at UNLV is critical to attracting clean, high-technology business to southern Nevada. It has moved forward decisively since then. An academic program was designed and received regent's approval. New faculty members have been hired, and plans have been drawn for a $15.2 million building to house the school.

Most significantly, the groundswell of support from the Greater Las Vegas Chamber of Commerce, the Nevada Development Authority, the UNLV Foundation, and other groups established specifically to promote the school has resulted in substantial private contributions to the project.

When the new engineering building is constructed, it will join several important additions to UNLV's physical plant that have opened in the past several years, including the $11.7 million Frank and Edelstam Hall, which houses the colleges of Business and Economics and Hotel Administration; and the 18,900-seat Thomas and Mack Center, home of the Runnin' Rebels and the site of major concerts and sporting events. The business and education building is named for the parents of donor Thomas T. Beam, and the arena is named for long-time UNLV supporters Jerome Mack and E. Parry Thomas.

UNLV is proud of its physical facilities—its 56 million Alva Hart Fine Arts Building and 37 million, four-story addition to James R. Dickey Memorial Library among them—but campus administrators, faculty, and students understand that the heart of the university lies in its teaching and research programs. Bachelor's degrees are awarded in 50 major subjects, and 28 programs lead to the master's degree. Doctoral and specialist degrees are offered in a campaign to attract the nation's finest faculty; 100 percent of whom hold doctorates. Faculty members, 77 percent of whom hold doctorates, have come to UNLV from some of the nation's greatest universities; many have extensive experience in the professions in which they teach.

UNLV operates on the semester system, with a Mini Term offered between Spring and Fall semesters and two five-week sessions scheduled during the summer. Regular daytime classes are augmented by a strong evening program.

Las Vegas residents by the thousands—some 15,000 annually, in fact—take advantage of the variety of credit and non-credit courses offered in evening departments, such as the School of Continuing Education. These "Classes for People" are designed with a wide range of potential students in mind: teachers, nurses and other professionals who need course work to stay current in their fields; persons interested in developing artistic and handicraft skills; business people who want to gain expertise in new areas or brush up on present abilities; people who want to learn photography, writing, computer programming; virtually anyone who wants to learn.

McCaw, during the first months of Dr. McCaw's administration a number of substantial gifts have come to UNLV to support academics and to help build the New School of Engineering and Computer Science. A MAN AND HIS TOWEL

Everybody wants to know about the Tarkanian trademark — Tark’s Towel. The towel dates back to Jerry Tarkanian’s Long Beach State days, when an ingenious manager devised it to help Coach’s mouth from getting dry. Actually, there are two towels; the one on top is wet (soaked in nothing more than tap water) and the one on the bottom is dry and is used simply to keep the wet one from sitting on the floor. The towel is wetted and folded (into 16ths, by the way) by a designated student-manager, who has learned the folding technique from a predecessor. The towels are handed to Coach Tarkanian as he enters the court at pre-game. The folder of the towel, most recently, is student-manager Barry Vaccaro, a junior from Pittsburgh, PA. Vaccaro adds that the towels are nothing more than plain, ordinary locker-room towels (but he does go through the stack to find the least raunchy one!).

On UNLV Fight.

Lifting our voices high,
With a conquering hand of might
We raise our banner to the sky.

On UNLV Fight,
Charging triumphantly:
Fight, UNLV, Fight
For Victory.

"ALMA MATER - UNLV"

Alma Mater, we praise you
For the spirit you have shown
You've given inspiration through the years
And with your knowledge we have grown.

Alma Mater, U-N-L-V
May you continue in glory
Days of old, and days to be
We'll treasure your dignity.

Alma Mater, we'll remember you
When our student days are through
Hard times, good times
They'll be part of UNLV's call.

HAIL TO NEVADA

Hail to Nevada, the place I love the best.
Hail to Nevada, to the glory of the west.
That's why all the other folks are jealous as can be.

Hail to Nevada, her glory reigns supreme.
She is the lady who is always in our dreams.
We'll make you welcome if you'll only be our guest.
Come on by and you'll see why Nevada is the best.

Come on by—You'll see why Nevada is the best.

Hi Mom!

I've found a really great apartment called Wildflower. They're brand new and close to everything, plus they have all the extras I enjoy—swimming pools, spas, tennis courts and more. I live in a studio, but they also have one, two and three bedrooms available, when I have a bigger budget!

Love,
Me

Sept. 5, 1984
Las Vegas
UNLV’s men’s tennis program seems to be heading toward a new beginning under Head Coach Jack Pate, even though the program has existed since 1969. The Rebels enjoyed some fine seasons during the 1970’s and early 1980’s under former Head Coach Fred Albrecht, but in building a nationally recognized program, one can’t dwell on the past.

Pate is an energetic, young coach who has big plans for Rebel tennis in the future. First, he is working to bring in the finest tennis recruits he possibly can and blend them in with the established veterans already on the team.

After only several months as Head Coach, Pate has already shown that he can do the job. With such established vets as 1984’s No. 2 Singles Champion Scott Warner; 16-match winners Jeff Foley, Zohar Ben-Rey, Jim Gatza and Norm Mauz; and Tom Sullivan, Pate has added Joe Thomas, a Las Vegas native who has won Nevada state titles in both singles and doubles play; Jim Craig, a versatile athlete and talented tennis player from Grossmont Junior College; Sam Garvin, another Las Vegas native who was his team’s most valuable player in high school; and Marvin Simon, a four-year letterman in high school who was a redshirt last season.

Another item on Pate’s agenda is to make the Rebels competitive with any other team in the nation. To achieve this goal, Pate has scheduled many top schools in 1985. In addition to traditionally strong PCAA schools UC-Irvine, Cal State-Long Beach, UC Santa Barbara, Fresno State and San Jose State, the Rebels will play such teams as USC, University of San Diego, Pepperdine and BYU. UNLV will also host two major tournaments (the Sixth Annual Michelob Light & Hotel Continental Tournament and the UNLV Invitational) as well as travel to two others (UC-Santa Barbara Tournament and Ojai Valley Tournament).

With his hard work and tennis experience, Pate is well on his way to putting University of Nevada, Las Vegas tennis on the map.
We gratefully appreciate the moral and financial support provided by the Alumni and friends of UNLV who are identified as UNLV Scholarship Donors. Only with this sustained and continuous help can UNLV's varsity athletic teams maintain national prominence. And remember, you, UNLV Scholarship Donors!

Introducing the biggest single burger in fast food history.

Wendy's, eat your heart out.

The best thing you'll notice is a 'bigger than big' beef patty -- 30% bigger than what you've had to settle for at Wendy's. Burger King, McDonald's and Jack-in-the-Box. It's thicker, the way you'd make yourself.

Naturally Carl's wouldn't think of fying anything this good. Instead it's charbroiled to sear in the juices and full beef flavor.

But the 1/3 Pound Western Bacon Cheeseburger doesn't stop with the addition of cheese and two whole strips of bacon. Crisp onion rings and hickory sauce make it absolutely one-of-a-kind.

Try one. It's the only burger you've ever tasted. Because it's a burger the way a burger ought to be.

LADY REBEL BASEBALL: ONE STEP FURTHER

The 1984-85 UNLV Lady Rebel Basketball team hopes to go one step further this season. In 1982-83, the Lady Rebels 24-4 mark was the most successful record in the program's history. In 1983-84, the Lady Rebels became the first-ever PCAA Women's Basketball Champions, advancing to the first round of the NCAA Tournament (another Lady Rebel first). In this 1984-85 season the UNLV Lady Rebels will attempt to conquer another step toward their goal of climbing to the top of the top of the collegiate basketball world.

"We've tasted two years of success," Lady Rebel Head Coach Jim Bolla said. "We finally made it to the NCAA Tournament. Now that we know what it takes to get there, we have to take it one step further."

Last year was indeed a banner season for the Lady Rebels. The team started the year with a string of six consecutive wins, compiled a perfect 4-0 conference record and ended the year with a 24-7 slate. Despite a 76-58 loss in the first round of the NCAA Tournament to California State Long Beach, the 1983-84 campaign was overwhelming one of the most prosperous ever for UNLV Women's Basketball.

This year's edition of UNLV Lady Rebel Basketball will differ slightly from the 1983-84 team. We're going to try to play at least as well. We will be smaller this year than last year," Bolla said. "But we'll offset our lack in height by using more skilled players at all the positions."

There will be many more noticeable revisions in this second edition of UNLV Lady Rebel Basketball. One of the biggest changes will be the quickened pace.

"We are going to play an up-tempo game this season," Bolla explained. "Our plan is to use speed and quickness. We hope to be both offensively and defensively, try to get up and down the court very fast. The different style we hope to play should dictate an up-tempo pace. Whether it be a half-court or full-court, we want to keep a fast pace and try to create turnovers."

An up-tempo style of play will mandate more frequent substitutions — even the fast-paced locomotive run out of steam some time or another. "We're going to have to play at least eight players consistently," Bolla said.

Once again, the Lady Rebels will be led by AllAmerica candidate Misty Thomas. Thomas, 5-11, Junior, out of Windsor, Canada, has guided the team for the past two years, in the point guard slot. Last year she completed 15.5 points per game, 6.3 rebounds per game and broke the school season assist record with 180 in 1983-84 (breaking Shelia Powell's old record of 174 set in 1976-77). Thomas also earned CoSIDA Academic All-America honors accumulating a 3.94 grade point average. Along with Danny Talavani, first team Academic AllAmerica on the Rebel Men's team, they became the first-ever Academic All-America tandem in the country.

Donya Monroe, a 6-2 junior, returns and will add leadership to this year's squad. Monroe finished the 1983-84 season as the Lady Rebels top rebounder (8.5 rebounds per game) and third leading scorer (11.8 points per game). Also returning are sophomores Angela Christian (6-2) and Charlotte "Neicy" Blair (5-9), Christian saw action last season as the back-up power forward and tallied 7.1 points and 5.2 rebounds per game. Blair was a substitute point guard and compiled 3.9 points and 1.2 rebounds per game. Adorning depth to this year's squad are junior Jackie "Leif" (6-4) and Kathy McPherson (5-7). Leif saw limited action last season at the center position, but will be asked more extensively this season. McPherson was a back-up forward and tallied 4.1 points and 2.7 rebounds per game.

The Lady Rebels have compensated for the loss of six senior winners with a quality recruiting class. Joining the team will be two of the finest prep players in the country, Kenni Hall, a 5-4 point guard, and Zine Harris, a 5-11 guard/forward. Hall earned from MALL University HS in Pittsburgh, where she accumulated 1,824 points and 573 assists and was a four-year starter. She was selected to the "Fabulous Five" by the Pittsburgh Post Gazette and was heavily recruited by women's basketball powers North Carolina, Missouri and two-time defending national champions USC, Harris, from Gallatin HS in Gallatin, Tenn., was a Parade All-America and an All-State selection. Over her four-year career at Gallatin, she made every school record (except in free throw percentage) and averaged 16.3 points per game.

Also new to the Lady Rebel attack force will be Shuana Crawley and Lisa Ryma. Crawley (6-4), a registered nurse from Montreal, Quebec, Canada, will enter UNLV as a junior and will push for the starting point guard action at the forward slot. Ryma (5-8), a native of the Virgin Islands, is what Bolla calls "a new talent with much potential."

Kym McPherson (5-9), forward/guard and Saundra McPherson (5-7, guard), both of Las Vegas, will provide the necessary bench strength this season.

"One factor that is missing from the 1984-85 Lady Rebel roster — seniors — is one that most teams consider essential. The Lady Rebels, however, do not consider the absence of senior players a crucial factor — leadership capabilities are found in every class."

"Both Misty (Thomas) and Donny (McPherson) have shown leadership even as freshmen," Bolla said. "We're basically a young team, but we're counting on other players like Neicy (Blair) and Angela (Christian) assuming some leadership duties."

"We haven't had the luxury of having seniors, losing them and re-building the team as of yet," Bolla continued. "We're still young and not an established team. We're still building and will be building even next year."

The Lady Rebels may not be as established as perennial dynasties, but they share one thing in common with the elite of women's collegiate basketball — talent. "We recruit athletes not just shooters and rebounders," Bolla said. "The team will never be complainent — they want to get better every year. I think the players are starting to get a hunger in them."

The Lady Rebels realize that in order to be considered "Top-20" caliber, they must face the Top-20 competition. This year, as years past, will be a stiff challenge. Powerhouses such as Texas, Louisville, St. John's, Penn State, Alabama and Utah State are all ranked in the Top-20. No. 1 is the of a few teams the Lady Rebels will face in 1984-85. In addition to the grueling NCAA schedule, the Lady Rebels will make eight road trips this season compared to the regular three or four in past years.

For the 1984-85 Lady Rebels achievements such as consecutive conference title and a Top-20 ranking would be great. For now, the Lady Rebels hope simply to go one step further.

Dr. Jay Coughtry makes it clear to his students that history is more than a lot of interesting stories. It is a process, he says, that can be learned. Once learned, the methods of history enable us to observe the past and understand the present.

"I ask my students to think about history in the same way that science teachers expect their students to think about science," he explains. "In the end, they come away from my courses with a respect for the discipline and an understanding that there are applications for history beyond the mere memorization of facts."

Jay is a social historian. That is, he spends his research time rummaging through what he calls the "basement of history." Coughtry takes his research to the streets by helping local groups develop historical projects. A traveling exhibit on black history he helped produce in Rhode Island is a good example.

"It's one thing to perform heavy duty research and to advance knowledge at the scholarly level," he says, "but I feel an equal obligation to present the material to the community."

"I find that I can generate the most enthusiasm among students by taking my research material into class with me."

By studying the material for themselves, students begin to sense an investment in the process.

"Suddenly they are experts, no matter how small the area of study. They come in to talk, and we talk as equals."

Bob Boord teaches college students in the same way he hopes they will teach their elementary school pupils.

"Many students are unfamiliar with children's books when they come into my class. For whatever reasons, they haven't read them. All at once as young adults they discover these books, and many of them enjoy reading for the first time in their lives," he observes. "That brings me as much pleasure as ½ brings them, because if we send teachers out of the university who enjoy books and reading, they are very likely to turn out kids in their image."

"I expect them to teach in a caring, understanding way that will make kids want to learn."
