THE ROTHERMEL FAMILY

THE ROTHERMEL FAMILY

For the past four academic years, the University of Nevada, Las Vegas has had each of its 14 intercollegiate athletic programs, with only one exception, represented in post-season, national competition. In addition, most of these teams were ranked nationally in the Top 20 at one time or another. Most of the credit for this outstanding record goes to UNLV's Director of Athletics, Dr. Brad Rothermel. Rothermel's philosophy while at UNLV has been that the function of the intercollegiate athletic program is to provide for the student-athletes an environment in which these student-athletes are able to pursue excellence selected extra-curricular educationally related activities. Furthermore, his objective for the programs is to win within the structure of the rules and the budget framework provided. The achievement of this goal is demonstrated by successfully competing against national championship caliber competition in all activities sponsored by the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics.

Rothermel's career began at the University of Nebraska where he served in a variety of roles, from assistant coach to head coach of the Husker football team. He later moved on to become the Director of Athletics at the University of Missouri, before joining UNLV in 2007 as Director of Athletics.

During his time at UNLV, Rothermel has overseen the development of numerous successful athletic programs, including the football team, which has won numerous conference titles and has made multiple appearances in the NCAA tournament. He has also been instrumental in the creation of the UNLV Student-Athlete Success Program, which provides academic support and counseling to student-athletes, ensuring their success both on and off the field.

Rothermel's leadership and dedication to the university and its student-athletes have earned him numerous accolades, including being named the College Football Hall of Fame's Athletic Director of the Year in 2015.

The nation's winningest active collegiate basketball coach (by percentage)!

Five-time PCAA Coach of the Year!

Tark Wears More Than One Hat. . .

Tarkanian has literally owned the PCAA (now Big West).

In the Beginning

Prior to his successful career at UNLV, Tarkanian put Long Beach State basketball on the map and began his terror against Big West opponents. In five seasons with the 49ers, he compiled a 115-17 (.672) record and made four trips to the NCAA Tournament. Beginning with the 1968-69 season and ending with his final campaign in '72-73, Tarkanian never lost a home game while at the Beach, winning a remarkable 65 games without a loss. He also earned accolades as Professor of the Year and Salesman of the Year for his efforts in promoting the university. He was recently elected to the Long Beach State Athletic Hall of Fame.

His initial days of coaching began humbly enough at San Joaquin Memorial High School in Fresno in 1956. He moved onward to Antelope Valley High School (Lancaster, Calif.) in 1958 before making subsequent moves to Redlands High School (Redlands, Calif.) in 1959 and Riverside City College in 1961.

Tarkanian's collegiate coaching odyssey began in 1961-62 at Riverside City College. His first season ended with an undistinguished 14-13 mark but things soon changed as he led Riverside to four straight 30+ win seasons and four consecutive California JC championships. He recorded a perfect season in 1963-64, 35-0, and tallied a 145-22 (.866) overall mark in five years at Riverside.

He moved to Pasadena City College for two seasons beginning in 1966-67, compiling a 67-4 (.944) two-year mark and still another California JC crown. He ventured to Long Beach State in the fall of '68 to begin his present tenure as a major college coach.

Other Tarkanian coaching posts include national and international assignments. He coached in Ecuador for the People-to-People Sports Committee in April and May of 1968. He coached the Junior College Olympic Team the same year.

Tarkanian makes his home on the basketball court. He is both father and teacher to the members of his prestigious household, preaching virtues such as hard work, loyalty and discipline. His wife, Dr. Lois Tarkanian, has been instrumental in maintaining his basketball household. She has been a consistent contributor in establishing an academic support system for Rebel basketball that is among the finest and most progressive in the nation. Son Danny, a recent graduate of San Diego Law School, is now practicing law in Las Vegas.

What is most remarkable about this UNLV family is that in a city of bright lights and big name stars, the hometown Runnin' Rebels shine brightest.

Despite all his achievements on the basketball court, Tarkanian is often over-
UNLV ATHLETIC ADMINISTRATION

TOURNAMENT HISTORY: Now in its 13th year, the Rebel Round-Up championship has been captured by only three teams. The host Rebels have won the title ten times (1976-78, 1979-80, and 1982-87), while Colorado (1981) and Texas A&M (1979) have won the other championships.

FIRST ROUND SUCCESS: The Rebels are a perfect 12-0 in first round play. UNLV is 22-2 in overall Round-Up action.

GREG ANTHONY: UNLV's point guard enjoyed his finest all-around performance against UC Irvine, scoring 14 points, grabbing five rebounds, dishing off six assists and coming up with five steals. In his 13th year, the Rebels have met four times, with the Aggies holding a 3-1 series lead. UNLV won the most recent meeting, 83-76, during the 1981-82 season. Central Michigan and the UNLV have never played before.

REBELS CAPTURE 7TH STRAIGHT BIG WEST OPENER: UNLV moved its record to 2-0 on the young season with a 100-85 victory over UC Irvine on December 15. It was the first Big West game of the season for the Runnin' Rebels as well as their first home game. David Butler led the Rebs in both scoring and rebounding with 19 points and 10 boards. With the score tied at 35 with 2:54 left in the first half, UNLV went on a 13-1 run breaking open a close game.

FACING THE BEST: The Rebel Round-Up opener against Rhode Island will mark the fourth time in UNLV's last seven games (dating back to last season) that they meet an opponent who advanced to the 1988 NCAA Tournament's Sweet Sixteen field. Last year the Rebels lost to Iowa to end the season. This year, the Rebels have played Oklahoma, Arizona, and now the Rams.

THE SERIES: Rhode Island and UNLV have met once before, with UNLV taking a 94-80 decision in 1974. The game, played at the Las Vegas Convention Center, came during Jerry Tarkanian's second campaign at UNLV. Texas A&M and the Rebels have met four times, with the Aggies holding a 3-1 series lead. UNLV won the most recent meeting, 83-76, during the 1981-82 season. Central Michigan and the UNLV have never played before.

Dear Friends of UNLV:

Once again I'd like to welcome you to the Thomas and Mack Center for an exciting season of college basketball.

Coach Tarkanian and his men have prepared for another season of the run-and-gun play that has become the hallmark of the Rebels for many seasons now. And, as the quality and expectations of play have increased in the thirty years of Rebel basketball, so have the quality and expectations of the academic side of our institution.

We enrolled almost 15,000 students this fall, which set another attendance record for UNLV. Not only are our numbers growing, but the quality of our students is increasing as well. We have now enrolled over 240 valedictorians from Nevada's high schools over the past four years, and can boast that our students from the distinguished Honors Program. All of this growth will of over 140 in our distinguished Honors Program. All of this growth will bring us another bumper crop of professors over the next biennium. Their presence, along with the extraordinary faculty we can already boast of, will enhance the high level of learning that takes place daily on our campus. As a major Ph.D. granting university, we have now taken our place alongside the premier academic institutions in the nation.

UNLV is indeed young, proud, and growing. It is also a university that will settle for nothing less than first rate. We appreciate the support you have given us in our quest.

Sincerely,

Robert C. Maxson

Automobile dealers in Las Vegas are contributing a large measure of help to the UNLV Athletic Program with membership in the UNLV C.A.R.S. (Courtesy Auto Resource System) Ltd., program—the loan of the courtesy cars. Like other programs which are a part of Rebel booster activities, this project enables the UNLV Athletic Department to make greater use of its funds. These sports-minded dealers have earned a debt of gratitude from the Rebel Athletic Department. They are an important part of the "Team" that helps make UNLV athletics so successful.

On July 1, 1988, the Pacific Coast Athletic Association marked the beginning of the league's twentieth year by changing its name to the Big West Conference. The new name is seen as a simpler, more accurate description of the league's 12 member institutions (Cal State Fullerton, Fresno State, Long Beach State, New Mexico State, San Diego State, San Jose State, UC Irvine, UC Santa Barbara, University of Hawaii, UNLV, Pacific and Utah State).

When the league was first formed in 1969, it consisted of seven charter members, all of which were located in the state of California. In its 19 years of existence, however, the conference has expanded to include universities from states which are not on or near the Pacific Coast (Utah, Nevada and New Mexico). Because of this expansion, the new name will serve to better identify all of the conference's member institutions.

Through 19 years of existence, the Big West Conference has made numerous positive strides in intercollegiate athletics. Recent highlights of the league's success include the 1987 NCAA basketball championships, when, for the first time ever, the conference had a representative in both the men's (UNLV) and the women's (Long Beach State) Final Four. Last season, three of the league's men's basketball teams (UNLV, Utah State and UC Santa Barbara) were invited to the NCAA Regionals - the most ever for the conference.

Another first occurred in the spring of 1988, when three conference baseball teams (Cal State Fullerton, Fresno State and UNLV) received bids to the NCAA Regionals, with Cal State Fullerton and Fresno State both advancing to the College World Series.

Six conference teams were invited to the NCAA women's volleyball championship last fall, and conference member Hawaii won the national title, making it the third straight national volleyball championship for the league (Pac-10 won in 1985 and 1986).

Four conference teams received bids to the NCAA Softball Regionals last spring (Fresno State, Long Beach State, Cal State Fullerton and associate member Cal Poly Pomona), and two of them — Fresno State and Cal Poly Pomona — participated in the College World Series. Fresno State wound up as the No. 2 team in the nation.

The Big West Conference office is headed by James Haney, who was hired as the league's commissioner last spring. Only the third commissioner in the history of the conference, Haney succeeded Lewis Cryer, who guided the conference through 10 years of expansion and development.

“Even when I’m off the court, I’m still in the game.”

“Because with a Cellular One phone in my hand, I can make the play no matter where I am. Even when facing a full-court press, it really helps me get a jump on things. That’s why I count on Cellular One and my cellular phone to rack up the score.”

Maybe it’s time you got in the game, too. Call Cellular One at 732-4545, and sign on with the #1 team in cellular communication.

The University of Nevada, Las Vegas, is a young, growing institution that is making significant progress toward its goal of becoming one of the nation’s leading urban universities. With a faculty of approximately 400, some 75 percent of whom hold doctorates, UNLV offers 64 undergraduate and 50 graduate degree programs to a student population that in the fall of 1988 reached almost 15,000, a record enrollment.

UNLV’s 335-acre campus is located in the metropolitan area south of the City of Las Vegas. Its academic colleges include Arts and Letters; Business and Economics; Education; Health Sciences, Hotel Administration; Science and Mathematics, and Engineering. The School of Health, Physical Education and Recreation is housed in the school of education.

Although the University is now only three decades old, it has maintained a healthy rate of growth, both in programs and physical plant. In 1985 the Nevada Legislature appropriated $14.7 million for construction of the 101,000-square-foot Thomas T. Beam Engineering Complex, named for one of UNLV’s most generous donors. When the new complex opens in 1988, it will house the Engineering College, which was formed in 1987 as a means of strengthening the engineering and computer science programs. The college and the engineering complex are major steps forward in the University’s effort to provide strong programs in the technological higher education. Four new dormitories, a student-life building, a Student Health Service Building, and a new Public Safety Building were all constructed in 1988.

The recently established Honors Program and the Margaret Elardi Nevada Scholars Program have helped the University attract many academically outstanding new students. Thanks to a substantial donation from Mrs. Margaret Elardi, the Nevada Scholarships Program offers scholarships for valedictorians to enroll at UNLV. More than 100 valedictorians from Nevada high schools registered at UNLV in the fall of 1988.

In addition to its regular academic programs, UNLV offers more than 600 classes through its Division of Continuing Education, which enrolls 16,000 students annually.

The University operates an on-campus Center for Business and Economic Research, Center for Economic Education, Center for Applied Computer Science, and Environmental Research Center (in cooperation with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency).

- Thomas and Mack Center — The 18,500-seat sports arena and special events facility, home of the UNLV Runnin’ Rebels.

UNLV operates on a semester system and is a member of the American Association of State Colleges and Universities, the Council of Graduate Schools in the United States, the Western Association of Graduate Schools, the American Council on Education, and the Western College Association. All of the University’s academic programs are fully accredited by the Northwest Association of Schools and Colleges, and many programs have received further accreditation from independent national accrediting bodies.

The Desert Biology Research Center, Center for Survey Research, and other research and public-service centers are major components of UNLV’s research effort. The University’s the Cultural and Performing Arts Center, the School of Public Health, the Center for Economic Development, and the Desert Province Research Laboratory are also important contributions to the University’s mission.

As a resident at Spanish Trail, you’ll receive a full membership to the Spanish Trail Swim and Tennis Club and have priority rights to purchase membership at the Spanish Trail Golf and Country Club.

Athletes command a unique position in American society and in societies throughout the world. Many view the athlete as a hero who strives for perfection. The public expects excellence, and to achieve these high standards and thereby maintain public favor, the athlete must maintain peak alertness, responsiveness, efficiency and coordination.

A small segment of the athlete population has resorted to the use of drugs (e.g., anabolic steroids, amphetamines and various "street drugs") purported to improve physical performance. The decision to use drugs to improve physical performance, for the most part, has not been based on sound information and could have dire physical consequences for involved individuals. Further, such usage violates NCAA ethical principles.

The ethics of sport need to be emphasized, particularly in that taking drugs to improve performance constitutes cheating. There is need to reemphasize the fact that the important thing in sport is to compete honorably; to win at all costs is a contradiction to the meaning of sport.

The athlete should not carry all the blame for the situation. Coaches, trainers and the medical profession need to share some of this burden, as does the public, for expecting and frequently demanding a winning effort every time.

Society has placed a number of demands upon the athlete. If one believes that athletes and the general public will make sound judgments most of the time when provided with the necessary information, educating athletes and others about drug effects, appropriate drug use and the skills needed to cope with such problems could have substantial benefits to the individual and to society.

The NCAA has produced a pamphlet entitled "Drugs and the Athlete... a losing combination," which includes the latest and best information available on the problem of solving drugs in sports. To order send $3 for 12 copies to: NCAA Publishing, P.O. Box 1600, Miasion, Kansas 66201.

David Butler: For the second consecutive game, Butler led the team in both scoring and rebounding against Irvine. The Sporting News JC Player of the Year last season, he has emerged as the top front line player for UNLV. He leads the team in rebounding (7.2 rpg.) and is tied for the lead in scoring (13.6 ppg). He has scored in double figures in four of the Rebels’ first five games.

BE PROUD, GET LOUD: At every home game, if the crowd meter hits the 110 decible level, all Rebel fans are eligible for a drawing of caymaraman at Las Vegas Marine Supply. The promotion, which runs the length of the season, is sponsored by Las Vegas Marine Supply and radio station KKLZ, 96.3 FM.

AGGIES TAKE ’79 TITLE: Texas A&M is a perfect 2-0 in Round-Up play as they defeated (North Texas State [87-86] and UNLV [77-73]) in the 1979 championship game. The Aggies were led by all-tournament performances by David Britton (MVP) and Vernon Smith.

STAGE AUGMON: UNLV’s representative on the 1988 U.S. Olympic Team remains the team’s most versatile player. He is among the top four on the team in scoring (10.4 ppg), rebounds (6.8 rpg) and assists (1.6 apg). Against UCLA, the sophomore was 5 of 7 from the field, and grabbed six rebounds. He is the team’s most accurate three-point shooter, having canned four of his eight attempts on the season.

MOSES SCURRY: The rebound specialist enjoyed his best game of the season against UC Irvine. Scurry came on the bench to score a career-high 15 points and added eight rebounds in just 14 minutes of action. For the year, he is fifth in scoring (6.8 ppg) and tied for second in rebounding (6.8 rpg) on the team.

MORE HOLIDAY TOURNAMENT ACTION: The Runnin’ Rebels return to action next week as they host the Bud Light Holiday Classic at the Thomas & Mack center. Indubitably in the tournament field are Columbia, Hartford, Pepperdine, and San Jose State. The Rebels open up play on December 28 with a 9:30 p.m. contest against the Waves of Pepperdine.

STREAKING REBELS: UNLV has won the tournament six years in a row and has had the Most Valuable Player for the last eight years. The only time the MVP went to someone besides a Rebel was 1979 when it went to a Texas A&M Aggie (David Britton).

GEORGE ACKLES: The Junior from Pittsburgh, PA continues to be a defensive force for the Rebels. Ackles, who has started all five games, is grabbing 4.4 rebounds per contest. In addition, he has blocked 10 shots on the season. On the offensive end, Ackles paces the team in field goal percentage (.607 on 17-28). He has played just 112 minutes, fouling out of four games.

ANDERSON HUNT: The freshman from Detroit, Mi, came off the bench to chip in 16 points against the Anteaters. He also dished off a team-high seven assists. On the year, Hunt is third in scoring (13.4 ppg) and second in assists (4.0 apg). He is the team’s top three-point threat, with seven trifectas on the season.

UNLV Student Rhodes Scholar Finalist

A 21-year-old senior at the University of Nevada, Las Vegas was a finalist in the competition for the 1986 Rhodes scholarship.

Noelle Dela Rosa of Fallon, a political science major, was one of two finalists picked to represent the state by the Nevada Rhodes Selection Committee at Reno.

Dela Rosa was among a group of 14 finalists from seven Western states who appeared before a nine-member district selection committee at the University of California-Berkeley recently. She was not one of the two recipients.

“We are thrilled that Noelle came so close to winning this prestigious academic award,” said UNLV President Robert C. Maxson. “She was one of the first students recruited into our Elardi scholarship program, and she has been one of our brightest young scholars since she came to UNLV as a freshman in 1985.”

Dela Rosa was valedictorian of Churchill County High School in 1985. She was among the first class of top students from around the state to apply at UNLV under the Elardi Nevada Scholars program.

The program, created with a $1 million gift from hotel/casino owner Margaret Elardi in 1984, offers $10,000 scholarships to the valedictorians of Nevada’s 53 high schools.

Dela Rosa is also a member of UNLV’s Honors Program for academically outstanding students and is one of the Student Ambassadors, a group that helps recruit other students to the university, leads campus tours, and performs other functions.

As a political science major, she served as an intern in Sen. Chic Hecht’s Washington, D.C., office. Dela Rosa plans to begin her master’s degree study in political science after her graduation from UNLV.

KREL turns its mike - and language - over to Lady Rebels

by RickSpitznagel
Las Vegas Review Journal
Reprinted with permission

Regardless of the language, the linguistics of basketball remain the same on KREL-AM (1280), where UNLV Lady Rebel basketball broadcasts are the only break in the Spanish-speaking station’s format.

For the first time in nine years, the Lady Rebels have a full-season package on an AM station thanks to Bob Blum, KREL’s president and general manager, who donated air time to the program.

Last season, 10 Lady Rebel games were broadcast on KLVN radio. Before that, KJVU, the campus radio station, would pick and choose a few games each season.

But the last time UNLV had a full-season broadcast package was in 1979-80 when Blum, then associated with KORR-AM, hooked up with the Lady Rebels during Coach Dan Ayala’s last season.

Blum, who also owns a minority share of KREL, teams on the home broadcasts with Kevin Messenger, a UNLV sports information assistant. Blum does the road broadcasts solo which provides an interesting sidebar: KREL has yet to sell any advertising time for the broadcasts and the announcers must fill two or more hours with solid banter.

“It’s quite unrelievably,” Messenger said. “From the opening tip through the final buzzer, we talk the entire time. We get interviews from time to time, but mostly we talk basketball.”

In English, of course.

“We went ahead at the beginning of the season,” Blum said, “and spoke with Brud (Rothenberg, UNLV athletic director), Joyce Aschenbrenner, sports information director, and Jim Dalla, women’s coach. They were interested in getting the games on radio and we told them we’d commit, with or without advertising.

“As of now, we haven’t sold any advertising as such.”

That means a lot of idle chatter, but then again, maybe none of the Spanish-speaking listeners will understand anyway.

Messenger said that the Lady Rebels — who draw anywhere from 500-1,000 fans a home game — typically will get that many listeners on road broadcasts. He said that’s encouraging.

Blum said the radio station itself has a big following.

“There are 29 AM and FM stations currently in the market,” he said. “And a recent survey shows there are 75,000 Hispanics living in Las Vegas. We’re the only one doing Spanish programming.”

The station won’t lose much on this experiment because of low production costs and air time.

“I’ve been a long-time supporter of Lady Rebel basketball and we’ll go with them right through the NCAA playoffs,” Blum said. “People are really appreciative of the fact we’re doing the games.”

6 STORES IN THE LAS VEGAS AREA TO SERVE YOU
Thomas & Mack Center:
November/December '88 marks Fifth Anniversary

Five years brings "Something for Everyone"

It's difficult to imagine a Runnin' Rebel game with a sell-out attendance of little over 6,000 cheering fans, but only six years ago that was the case for the UNLV team on their home court at the Las Vegas Convention Center.

Back then there were thousands of unfortunate Runnin' Rebel fans who would have given their first born for a ticket to a home game. The cries for a new and bigger home court grew as the city and the university grew.

The cries were answered when two prominent Nevada bankers, E. Parry Thomas and Jerome Mack set up the foundation and donated the first one-half million dollars for the initial architectural renderings and feasibility studies for the building that now bears their names.

On Nov. 21, 1983 the Runnin' Rebels faced the University of Victoria, Canada in an exhibition contest at a new 6,000 seat facility to meet any need," says Finrock. To meet such goals, the Center recently formulated an in-house service committee that meets weekly to discuss better guest and client service. In addition, new projects on board in-clude plans for acoustical clouds and short curtains that hang from the ceiling to enhance sound absorption during concerts. And some recent changes are the newly paved parking lot and an applause meter that measures crowd response during sporting events.

"Our goal in everything we do for the building is to make it more convenient for the promoter and more pleasant for the guests who attend our events."

The Center also hosts industrial shows. The types of events depend on large accommodations, experienced managers and unique floor plans in order to be successful.

"We provide both accommodations and experience that easily mold our facility to meet any need," says Dennis Finrock, executive director of the Center. "Shows like Sesame Street Live, big-time wrestling, professional rodeo, top-name rock concerts, NBA exhibition games — every year the number and diversity of our events increases."

The Center is centered around one type of event — college basketball. Over its relatively short five-year history, this one-dimensional concept dramatically changed. Because of many physical alterations, the Center is capable of hosting just about any type of event imaginable.

The Center is primarily "Tark's Shark Tank." with the UNLV Runnin' Rebels playing the number-one attraction for Las Vegas, but multipurpose has become the buzz word used by the Center's management team.

"We have something for everyone," says Dennis Finrock, executive director of the Center. "Shows like Sesame Street Live, big-time wrestling, professional

"We provide both accommodations and experience that easily mold our facility to meet any need."

THE UNLV REBEL ATHLETIC CLUB

What is the RAC?
The UNLV Rebel Athletic Club is a gift club established at The University of Nevada, Las Vegas to provide support for the athletic program in areas other than athletic scholarships. The Rebel Athletic Club provides support in areas which include: academic support services, recruiting, awards, banquet and equipment.

How Do You Benefit?
As a Rebel Athletic Club member, the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics provides numerous benefits and privileges in accordance with the different membership contributions levels. These benefits include a media guide; Rebel Athletic Club embroidered shirt, sweater, jacket and blazer; Rebel Athletic Club clock; Red Room/Stadium Club; and trips to selected football and basketball games.

Established to Perpetuate Academic and Athletic Excellence at UNLV

The University of Nevada, Las Vegas Department of Intercollegiate Athletics fields fourteen men and women's athletic programs that compete at the NCAA Division I level. It is our goal to produce national contenders in every one of these programs. In Intercollegiate athletics, there is a high correlation between winning and budgetary expenditures. In order to reach our goal of academic and athletic excellence, it is necessary to generate sufficient revenue to produce and maintain these high caliber programs.

The UNLV Scholarship Donor Fund (currently including over 2,000 individuals and corporations) provides a major portion of the scholarship and recruiting budgets of the athletic programs at the University. This financial base provides deserving student-athletes with the opportunity to develop through the UNLV Athletic programs at the University. This financial support in turn enables UNLV to provide quality competition at the level of excitement and intensity only found in Division I athletics.

For More Information
For additional information about the Rebel Athletic Club please write or call: Asst. Director of Athletic Development University of Nevada, Las Vegas 4505 Maryland Parkway Las Vegas, NV 89154 (702) 739-3614

* New Member Incentive
It is the goal of the UNLV Department of Intercollegiate Athletics that every participant in the Scholarship Donor Program eventually join the growing ranks of the Rebel Athletic Club. Therefore, any first-year member of the Club will receive a $150 credit if they pledge a minimum contribution at the $500/Associate Coach level. Please call or visit John Peterson at the Athletic Development for additional information.

* How UNLV Benefits
UNLV Rebel Athletic Club members have the satisfaction of knowing they are responsible for providing:

(1) Educational opportunities for young student-athletes.

(2) The margin of excellence which enables UNLV to provide quality competition at the level of excitement and intensity only found in Division I athletics.

Good Luck, Rebels!
Rebel Athletics Enjoy Another Banner Year 1987-88

Speakerhead once again, the tremendous success of the Runnin’ Rebel basketball team, UNLV athletics reached their peak in 1987-88. The Rebels recorded seven wins, seven losses and three draws in seven games. The team advanced to the final round of the NCAA post-season tournament, finishing second in the nation. In the Conference USA, the Rebels finished third in the conference. UNLV’s Lady Rebel basketball team continued to shine, finishing second in the conference and finishing 15-7 overall. The men’s tennis team was ranked 94th in the nation. The women’s track program sent four athletes to NCAA competition. The Lady Rebels’ 440 Relay Team consisting of Tanya Davis, Gretchen Jiles, Carrie Franklin, and Cheryl Cheeks earned All-America honors by finishing third in the NCAA Finals. They were the fourth UNLV relay team to earn All-America status since 1975.

Other Rebel highlights from the 1987-88 athletic year: The Rebel football team brought prestige to the UNLV campus. Rebel running back Elbert "Jedey" Woods became the first UNLV and PCAA running back to lead the nation in Division I rushing. Woods brought national attention as the only team to defeat Oklahoma State, Cal State Fullerton, Fresno State, and UCLA. The Rebels captured national attention as the only team to defeat them, No. 1-ranked Oklahoma State through the first two months of the season, and later established itself as the nation’s only club to play all three “number one” teams, earning credit to their claim as one of the strongest schedulers in the nation.

The 1987-88 Athletic Review concluded:

UNLV athletics prospered in 1987-88 season. The Runnin’ Rebels claim their sixth PCAA Championship in the team UNLV had been in the conference. UNLV posted victories over the Soviet Union, Iowa, and eventual national champion Temple, Louisiana State, and Oklahoma while climbing as high as number 2 on the Associated Press Writers Poll. In his seventh season in at least a shared head coaching capacity at UNLV, Jim Bolla continues his quest to make Nevada, Las Vegas a national power in the world of women's basketball. The 1988-89 season marks Bolla's first as sole head coach after sharing duties with his wife, Sheila Strike-Bolla, for the past six years. It is his eighth year at the University, leading UNLV in 1981 as an assistant coach under then head coach Sheila Strike. Through six years as head coach, Bolla enters the season with a 142-43 record.

DeNise Ballenger

Last year's three-point shooting leader in the Big West Conference, DeNise Ballenger returns for her final year at UNLV. She came to UNLV last season out of Angelina JC in Lufkin, Texas, and immediately established herself as UNLV's second leading scorer. She is a native of Nacogdoches, Texas, and originated at- tended Northeast Louisiana University out of high school. She will play the point and off-guard positions, and is a bonafide threat to drive inside or hit the jumper from three-point range.

Lori Brotherson

Beginning her first season at UNLV, Lori Brotherson carries impressive credentials from a four-year career at Virginia Wesleyan High School in Virginia. She is a native of only native Nebraska, and was the Lady Rebel roster, and was the recipient of a UNLV Elandi Scholarship awarded to all high school seniors from Nebraska High Schools. After averaging 22 points a game and 3 rebounds in high school, she received recognition as the Las Vegas Review Journal's Female Athlete of the Year last year. Time will add depth to the UNLV squad or forward.

Deanna Williams

A fourth-year senior, Kim Crawford begins her final year with the Lady Rebels hoping to return to a Big West title for the first time since her freshman year. Another three-point shooting threat, Crawford will be looked upon for a valuable experience and leadership role as one of the most valuable players of San Luis Obispo, California, and some of her best games, including her 23-point against Louisiana Tech, have been against the nation's best competition. She is one of the Lady Rebels' most versatile talents.

Mandy Hannah

Known as UNLV's most consistent and most durable player over the past two seasons, Geannine Jordan begins her third year with the Lady Rebels after averaging 10.9 points and 7.0 rebounds her second year, and has led the club in scoring the past two seasons. Jordan is one of the team's most consistent scorers and rebounders, and is a bonafide threat to drive inside or hit the jumper from three-point range.

Geannine Jordan

Geannine Jordan is one of the Lady Rebels' most valuable players. She was a Kodak and All-American selection in scoring (19.6) and rebounding (11.4) during her sophomore year last year at Kansas State University. Jordan is a two-time All-Big West selection, and is expected to be a valuable point guard and force on the court.

Kim Crawford

Kim Crawford

Another newcomer to the Lady Rebels this season, Tammy Moore was a Kodak and National Junior College All-American last year at Kansas Junior College in Kansas City, Missouri. Formerly from Detroit, Moore averaged 24 points and 8.6 rebounds while leading her club to a 5-16 finish and a sectional championship. She is considered by the Lady Rebels' coaches as a pure point guard and is expected to develop into a scoring threat as the season progresses.

Pauline Jordan

Pauline Jordan begins her second season at UNLV as a pre-season All-america level player. Pauline led UNLV in scoring (19.6) and rebounding (11.4) during her sophomore year last year at Kansas State University. Jordan is a two-time All-Big West selection, and is expected to be a valuable point guard and force on the court.

Shari Netzel

One of two fourth-year seniors, Shari Netzel provides the team with strong all-around play and excellent defense. She tallied 12 rebounds against San Jose State. From Culver City, California, Netzel will play the post position, and may be used on defense anywhere from the point to the post.

Shelly Ray

Shelly Ray begins her season with the Rebels after an injury plagued year in ’87-88. Shelly transferred to UNLV last year out of Walla Walla JC and the University of Oregon, but was hobbled again after two games with a lingering ring knee troubles. Originally from Walla Walla, Washington, Ray will play the forward slot for UNLV, and is expected to play a valuable role on the boards.

Linda Staley

Perhaps the most improved player on the team and certainly one who will have a definite impact on this year's club, Linda Staley appears to be the Lady Rebels' next guard point player. Following strong leadership capabilities and excellent court sense, Staley has emerged as the UNLV floor leader. The Palmdale, California native averaged 4.3 points and two assists last year, and started in 13 games. Staley's best game a year ago came at Louisiana State, leading UNLV to an upset win with 11 points and six assists.

UNLV To Host Annual Radioactive Waste Management Conference

Beginning in April 1990, the Howard R. Hughes College of Engineering at the University of Nevada, Las Vegas will host an annual international conference on high-level radioactive waste management, according to Dean William R. Wells of the college.

Wells' announcement came after the Dec. 9 meeting at UNLV of the conference steering committee, which he chairs.

"This conference will provide a unique opportunity for the presentation and exchange of scientific and technical information related to the management of high-level radioactive waste," Wells said.

Wells noted that it is appropriate that the Howard R. Hughes College of Engineering at UNLV be designated the permanent host of the conference, because Yucca Mt. in southern Nevada is the only site under consideration for construction of a national high-level nuclear waste repository."

"The conferences will be co-sponsored by the professional scientific and engineering societies, who will play a major role in the steering and planning of each year's event," Wells said.

The first conference, set for April 9-12, 1990, will be managed by the American Society of Civil Engineers. The American Nuclear Society will be responsible for coordinating the technical program. Wells said conference organizers will be soliciting scientific and technical papers on all aspects of high-level radioactive waste management for presentation at the conference.

Senior Citizens Ticket Discount

The UNLV Performing Arts Center will offer a new discount to senior citizens on tickets for the Charles Vanda Master Series. For each concert, 10 half-price tickets will be available to senior citizens on a first-come, first-served basis.

These tickets will cost $8, which is half the regular price for senior citizen tickets. They will be available only on the night of the performance, beginning at 7 p.m.

Also, any season tickets that are returned to the box office the night of the performance will be given away to senior citizens free of charge on a first-come, first-served basis. These tickets are also available on the night of the performance only. For more information, call the Performing Arts Center at 739-3801.

Telecommunication Device For Deaf

Hearing impaired members of the Las Vegas community can now order tickets to many UNLV cultural events with the help of a new telecommunication device obtained by UNLV's Performing Arts Center.

According to Performing Arts Center Director Rick Romito, the new device receives messages sent by deaf people and enables box office staff to respond to their inquiry with ticket information.

"This is part of our ongoing effort to make the Performing Arts Center more accessible to the handicapped," Romito said.

The center obtained this device as a result of working with the local chapter of "SHHH" — Self-Help for Hard of Hearing (People). Hearing impaired individuals wishing to use this system can access it by calling the regular box office number, 739-3801.
