ATHLETICS 1985-86 SEASON OUTLOOK

Two-Time PCAA Champions

Oh, how times have changed.
Three seasons ago, the UNLV Lady Rebel Basketball Team — forged on an excellent 24-4 overall record — was overlooked by the NCAA selection committee — to their independent status. This season, however, the Lady Rebels will attempt to earn their third consecutive NCAA bid and defend their conference crown in one of the strongest and up-and-coming leagues in the country.

It appears that the times will continue to change for the better because the 1985-86 outlook is brighter than ever.
Five starters return — including several other letter winners — from last year's PCAA Championship team. Throw in a fine recruiting class and the Lady Rebels are primed for the new challenge that awaits them.

"Winning the conference title will be tougher this year than it has been in the past, but I think that we are capable of regaining the title," said Lady Rebel Coach Jim Bolla said.

"We're going into this year with the attitude that we are the champions and people are going to have to work very hard to dethrone us. I think the new teams in the conference will help. I think we'll start to develop rivalries.

The PCAA has changed drastically since its beginning two years ago. At this time the conference only had three members — UNLV, University of California Santa Barbara, University of California Irvine. Two additional teams, University of Hawaii and University of the Pacific, joined the PCAA last year. This year, the conference has grown to eight teams with the addition of San Diego State University, California State Fullerton and perennial powerhouse California State Long Beach. The PCAA Conference is now eligible for an automatic bid for postseason NCAA playoff action.

"The strength of the conference will now give us instant credibility and in the past people have doubted us," Bolla explained.

"Six out of the eight teams in our conference had 20 wins or better last season. I think we'll have the best conference in the West and one of the strongest in the country. The consensus of the coaches in the conference is that three or four teams could quality for NCAA's next year."

The top returnee for the Lady Rebels is All-America candidate Misty Thomas. Thomas was the leading Lady Rebel scorer (20.4ppg), rebounder (7.9rpg) and assists leader (6.4apg) last season. Among the honors she was bestowed with were: Kodak All-District VIII, PCAA Player of the Year, CoSIDA Academic All-America, first team All-PCAA, 7UP Desert Classic All-Tournament Team and MVP of the Golden Bear Classic. Although Thomas suffered a knee injury at the end of the last season, she is expected to be healthy for the 1985-86 campaign.

Adding experience and leadership to this year's squad will be third year letter winner Donya Monroe. Monroe ended last season as the third leading scorer (12.0ppg) and rebounder (6.3rpg). She was named first team All-PCAA and was named to the Budweiser All-Tournament Team.

"Both Misty (Thomas) and Donya (Monroe) have been here for four years and have provided much leadership," Bolla said. "But we have younger players, like Karen (Hall) and Tina (Harr is), who also show leadership."

Karen Lamb

Harris is another returning Lady Rebel starter. She led the squad in steals with 72 total thefts and was the fourth leading scorer (15.4ppg).

"Tina did an excellent job for us last year," Bolla explained. "Going from a center in high school to a point college is a big move to make and she did it well."

Angela Christian, the 1984-85 Lady Rebels second leading scorer (13.5ppg) and rebounder (7.7rpg), will return to defend her starting forward position. Starter Kathy Lathem returns for her senior year with the Lady Rebels. Lathem ended the season leading the team in blocked shots with 30.

After nursing a knee injury last year, Karen Hall returns healthy this season. Her fine ball handling ability will enable her to receive extended time at the point guard spot. Adding depth to both the forward and guard positions will be senior Kris Silver.

Eligible for play this year is Junior Toni Sims. Sims transferred from the University of Oklahoma where she earned Big Eight Player of the Week honors in 1983.

The Lady Rebels' recruiting class is filled with talent and height this season. Kim Crawford, 6-1, out of San Luis Obispo, CA, will add depth and talent to the forward positions. Another fine freshman forward is Shari Netzel. Netzel was named All-CIF Southern Section Player of the Year last year at Culver City High School.

The center position will be bolstered with the addition of 6-4, Cathy Waltet. Waltet tallied 20 points and 11 rebounds as a senior at San Gabriel High School in Arcadia, CA.

Height, or the lack of it, was a bit of a problem on last year's squad, but the Lady Rebels have more than made up for the lack of height with the addition of a set of identical 6-3 twins, Allison and Diane Dickson. They will enter UNLV as juniors after transferring from Howard County Junior College in Texas.

"We'll be really big this year," Bolla explained. "We'll still be able to get up and down the court very fast and we're going to stay with the same game plan. We'll still try to balance scoring with four or five players scoring in double figures for us.

For the past three years, the Lady Rebels have achieved 24 wins or better. With that superb success rate, the Lady Rebels are not about to change their strategies or tactics.

"The group of players have been here in the past and have been successful, we hope to continue the tradition," Bolla emphasized.

"A lot of the players have experienced the winning end for three straight seasons. They know what winning is all about and they know what it takes to get there."

"The team has matured a lot in the past few years," Bolla continued. "The players have matured from year to year. Just look at Donya (Monroe). When Misty (Thomas) went down last year, Donya stepped right in and became the leader when we needed it. She inspired us and settled the team down when it was needed."

Another philosophy the Lady Rebels have matured throughout the changing years is with the flexibility of players. Several players on the Lady Rebel team can play two, or at times, three positions.

"Last year we had a rash of injuries which we had to deal with," Bolla said. "We did our best with the situation we were in, that's all we can do. That's been our philosophy in the past to make our players versatile. In this season we'll have more than one position player, but the majority will be flexible."

Yes, the times have changed and will continue to change in the future. But with dedication, the Lady Rebel Basketball team has displayed in the past, the times should continue to change for the better.

goals sought after the Lady Rebels two straight years. He and his wife, Co-Head Coach Bolla, asked him to try out.

"I was not going to go to a program that was not a real fit," Bolla explained. "I wanted to go to a school where I could make an impact.

When Bolla came to Pitt in 1970 several other local Pittsburgh stars joined him. "They had a press conference when signed with Pitt," he said. "We all made the commitment that we would take Pitt to a tournament when we were seniors.

"Bolla brings much play. He's like a fresh and started as a sophomore. Through hard work and dedication Bolla's skills were being fulfilled on almost a weekly basis; that is, until December 12, 1971. While chasing a loose ball, he dislocated and broke his elbow while playing against South Carolina. "There really was not that much sports medicine or physical therapy then, so I had to rehabilitate it on my own.

As a player, Bolla believed in two things, hard work and aggressiveness. He has broken his nose five times and has been in the hospital at least three times. "But I never had any conditioning or weight lifting programs," Bolla said. "The way we improved was by playing basketball all year round. We used to go into the Pitt Field House in the summer at 6:00 p.m. and lock the doors and play for two or three hours.

Bolla and his teammates fulfilled their promise in 1974 when they tallied 22 straight wins and received a bid to the NCAA Tournament. His team advanced to the final eight, the furthest any Pitt team has ever advanced in NCAA competition only to be knocked out by North Carolina State.

He was named co-captain in his senior year and helped guide his team to the NIT Championship tournament.

After graduation, Bolla stayed with the Pitt Basketball program as a volunteer assistant under then Pitt Head Coach and present Pitt Head Coach Tim Tagliani. He became a graduate assistant for the Panthers in 1977.

Bolla's indoctrination in the world of women's basketball came in 1979 when he was appointed Pitt's assistant women's basketball coach. While coaching the Lady Panthers, Bolla concentrated mainly on defense and rebounding. The Lady Panthers finished third in the nation in rebounding in 1980.

Bolla temporarily dropped out of the coaching world in 1981 to work for the Eastern Eight Basketball Conference. He worked in the advertising department and was the Eastern Eight official photographer for the 1981 season.

Bolla came to UNLV as an assistant coach for the Lady Rebels in 1981. He was promoted to Co-Head Coach in 1982. Bolla, a native of Pittsburgh, earned a Bachelor of Science degree in Physical Education from the University of Pittsburgh in 1975. He enjoys photography, and devoting time to his Old English sheep-dog, Alika.

The Lady Rebel Basketball program has flourished under Co-Head Coach Shelia Strike-Bolla. Strike-Bolla. Within the past five years the team has amassed an excellent .692-44 record, including three straight seasons of 20 wins or more. Two years in a row, the Lady Rebels captured the PCAA conference title and received bids to the NCAA National Tournament.

"Yet, through all the accomplishments the Lady Rebels have procured in the past five years, Strike-Bolla remains modest.

"I think we have now layered the groundwork in terms of quality women's basketball program," Strike-Bolla said. "Our goal now will be to attract quality people year in and year out.

Quality is a goal that Strike-Bolla has strived for as an athlete, a student and as a coach. Her emphasis on quality was first evident when she embarked in the world of basketball as an assistant for the Alpha Gamma Delta, British Columbia.

"I come from an academically oriented family," Strike-Bolla said. "My mother is a high school principal and my sister was class valedictorian and an honor student through college. Sports was a way for me to avoid challenging her and still seek advancement."

Strike-Bolla however, excelled enough academically to graduate early in order to play for Simon Fraser University in Burnaby, British Columbia. Her 6-2 slender frame and gracefulness soon made her one of Canada's most prominent women's basketball players.

"I don't remember most of the scores or even some of the places we traveled," Strike-Bolla said. "But I always remember things like coming out of the arena in China and seeing 10,000 bicycles, seeing the man who was considered the father of women's basketball."

"It was just a matter of being in the right place at the right time."

When I first made the Olympic team," Strike-Bolla said, "it was not a long sought out goal. A friend got me a try-out and they just happened to need a center at the time.

As a member of Canada's national women's basketball team for five seasons, Strike-Bolla had the opportunity to travel to all points on the globe for international competition. Her team competed in the Pan American Games, held in Mexico City in 1974, the World Student Games, held in Moscow in 1973, and was one of the first international teams to play in China when they opened their doors in 1972. All in all, Strike-Bolla has visited 21 countries through international basketball competition.

"I don't remember most of the scores or even some of the places we traveled," Strike-Bolla said. "But I always remember things like coming out of the arena in China and seeing 10,000 bicycles, seeing the man who was considered the father of women's basketball."

"It was just a matter of being in the right place at the right time.

The highlight of Strike-Bolla's playing days occurred in 1976 when she represented Canada in the Olympics. "Making the squad in 1976 was a major goal," she said. "Competing for an Olympic games in my home country was just the epitome of what every amateur athlete strives for. It was just spectacular!"

After Strike-Bolla received her BA in Geology from Lassan University, she completed her teaching certificate from Simon Fraser University in 1979 and entered an aggressive coaching career. Her first coaching assignment was coaching the junior varsity team at her alma mater Simon Fraser in 1976-77. She then spent one year at the high school level as the head coach of North Delta Senior High School Girls Basketball team. In 1979 Strike-Bolla accepted an assistant coaching position at the University of Oregon, where she stayed for two seasons. She served as the team's recruiter and landed several Canadian as well as American stars.

When the head coaching position opened at UNLV in 1980, Strike-Bolla applied with no serious intention of being considered. To her surprise, she was not only considered, but was offered the position.

"Again, becoming a head coach was not really one of my grand goals, it was just something that I fell into," she stated. "However, I'm very glad I made the move to UNLV.

This will be the fourth season that she will be sharing the head coaching duties with her husband, Jim Bolla. Together they have compiled a 74-16 record through three seasons.

Strike-Bolla, a native of Vancouver, British Columbia, received her M.S degree in Physical Education, with an emphasis on Sports Sociology, from Oregon in 1983. She is currently enrolled in Doctoral studies in Higher Education Administration at UNLV.

Jim Bolla
Co-Head Coach

For Co-Head Coach Jim Bolla, achieving goals is not a new strategy coaching scheme, it is more a way of life.

As a prepster, Bolla did not pick up a basketball until the age of 15, however, he developed into one of the most highly sought after players in the state.

As a college player, Bolla and his freshman teammates vowed to take their team to a tournament in their senior year. He went to the NCAA for it junior.

The achievements continue to grow for Bolla who is entering his fifth season with the Lady Rebels. Last year, Bolla's third season assuming the duties of co-head coach, helped compile a .692-44 record and a second straight PCAA title in as many years. He and his wife, Co-Head Coach Shelia Strike-Bolla were awarded PCAA Co-Head Coaches of the Year for the second straight season.

Bolla entered the world of basketball at Caness High School in Pittsburgh. At a 6-5 freshman, he had about as much interest in basketball as he did in American diplomatic policies until his hometown teacher, who doubled as the basketball coach, asked him to try out. "I never played basketball before ninth grade," Bolla said. "I was getting beat 21-0 in one-on-one.

After a year's growth spurt which added four inches to his frame, Bolla became a starter. Canessin experience with successful women's season as assistant coach, has vast two national championship teams, one basketball programs. He helped coach 6 short seasons.

today, Busone theorizes that winning towards winning. Unlike most coaches brought a struggling Busone possesses is his philosophy that winning is truly not everything. "You can't measure the success of a program by whether or not you earn a national title or go to the Final Four," Busone said. "Winning can't be the sole purpose — it is a result of doing a number of things right. You have to go one step at a time and keep growing. If you work hard enough and do everything right the wins will come." Before coming to UNLV in 1984-85, Busone turned the University of Hawaii Women's Basketball program, which had not won more than eight games a season in its entire history, into a veritable island paradise.

Jerry Busone

Assistant Coach

Jerry Busone, entering his second season as assistant coach, has vast experience with successful women's basketball programs. He helped coach two national championship teams, one National Women's Invitational Tournament (NWIT) championship squad and brought a struggling collegiate program to height of respectability in two short seasons. But the most valuable factor that Busone possesses is his philosophy towards winning. Unlike most coaches today, Busone theorizes that winning is truly not everything.

"You can't measure the success of a program by whether or not you earn a national title or go to the Final Four," Busone said. "Winning can't be the sole purpose — it is a result of doing a number of things right. You have to go one step at a time and keep growing. If you work hard enough and do everything right the wins will come." Before coming to UNLV in 1984-85, Busone turned the University of Hawaii Women's Basketball program, which had not won more than eight games a season in its entire history, into a veritable island paradise.

His first season, 1982-83, Hawaii amassed 22-12 record and received an invitation to the NWIT Tournament — the programs first ever post season tournament appearance. But after two fruitful years in the island paradise, Busone decided to hang up his head coaching shoes and come to UNLV as an assistant. "I grew a lot in Hawaii," Busone explained. "I wanted to see what I was like as a head coach. Coming to UNLV was a good decision. It put my priorities in life back in order."

Prior to Busone's head coaching duties with the Rainbow Warriors, he served as an assistant at Old Dominion University for five years. He helped guide the Lady Monarchs to a NWIT Championship during his inaugural season in 1977-78.

Then in 1978-79, Old Dominion attainment national prominence by capturing the NCAA National Championship trophy. Led by All-America Nancy Lieberman, the Lady Monarchs repeated their championship performance in 1979-80 by winning their second national title.

During the two championship years, Busone helped coach what was called, "the greatest women's basketball team ever assembled on a court." In an exhibition game against Russia in 1979, this formidable squad came closer to beating the Soviets than any team did in 20 years. "That was the greatest game I ever involved in," he said. "The Russians were not used to being behind in a game, and here we were on top until the final minutes. There were 11,000 screaming fans and American flags all over the place...it was a greater thrill than the two national championships."

Busone embarked in athletics while at LaSalle Institute in Green Island, New York. In high school he played basketball, football and ran track. He then went to Hudson Valley Junior College and played basketball and ran track. His last stop in his collegiate athletic career was at Santa Fe College where he played point guard on the school’s basketball team.

Although Busone jests that he was "the kid nobody noticed on the floor," he was an expert at fundamentals. "I had a good set of legs and was quick, but I was short so I had to perfect the little things. Too many athletes are worried about their 20 foot jump shots rather than perfecting the fundamentals."

Busone earned a BBA in Management at Santa Fe and a masters in education at Old Dominion. He also published an article in Scholastic Coach magazine in December 1979.

Busone, a native of Green Island, N.Y., is married to the former Lori Jensen and has one daughter, Carly Leilani, age 2½.

Lady Rebel Assistant Coach Jerry Busone

Jaina Preston

Academic Advisor

Jaina Preston, the Lady Rebels new academic counselor, brings to the program an outstanding record of success in advising and counseling. She has worked as both counselor and director of counseling in a variety of settings, usually with organizations specializing in treating the problems of adolescents. Most recently she has been the office manager and interim director of the local chapter of the National Conference of Christians and Jews. During this time she recruited several of the Lady Rebels as counselors for the NCCJ's annual summer camp, an experience that convinced her of the high quality and wide ranging abilities of UNLV's players.

"I have to work the better they get. It is fun to see them really know that they can achieve in class as well as on the court."

As the Lady Rebels Academic Counselor, Preston is responsible for evaluating transcripts, making sure every player is progressing toward their degrees, making certain each player satisfies both University and degree requirements and overseeing each player's eligibility status. She works in conjunction with each player’s faculty advisor to ensure academic progress is being made.

Preston is a 1977 graduate of Antioch where she received her B.A. in Psychology. She has three children—Eric (17), Sean (4), Erin (2). Her husband, Fred, chairs the Department of Sociology at UNLV.

Jim Gemma

Assistant Sports Information Director

Beginning his third year in the position of assistant SID, Jim Gemma lends the department a wealth of local experience. Gemma is a graduate of Bishop Gorman High School (1978) and earned his B.A. in Communication Studies at UNLV in 1982. Gemma has logged eight years as a student assistant and full time staff member. Gemma worked for five years for the UNLV Baseball program under the direction of Head Coach Fred Dallimore, before becoming a full time employee. Gemma has been responsible for covering women's basketball, men's and women's swimming and women's volleyball, in addition to his work with baseball. Gemma also assists with all major athletic events at UNLV. A member of the National Collegiate Baseball Writers Association and a member of the College Sports Information Directors of America (COSIDA), Gemma has also worked as official scorer for the Las Vegas Stars professional baseball team. He orchestrated the successful All-American campaign of UNLV point guard Misty Thomas, and published an article on Thomas in Women's Basketball Weekly.
Academic Affairs at the University of Nevada, Las Vegas, on August 1, 1984. Before coming to UNLV, President Maxson served as the Assistant Vice President for Academic Affairs at the University of Houston.

During the 1984-85 academic year, the University of Nevada, Las Vegas had each of its fifteen intercollegiate sports with only three exceptions, represented in postseason, national competition. In addition, many of its athletes have participated in top-level competitions against national champions. Rothermel's philosophy while at UNLV has been that the function of the intercollegiate athletic program is to provide for student-athletes an environment in which those student-athletes are able to pursue excellence in selected extra-curricular education-related activities. Furthermore, his objective for the program is to win within the structure of the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) - a program that position he was an administrative associate and coach for the Chicago National League Baseball Club (Chicago Cubs).

In addition to his above-mentioned athletic positions, Rothermel has served as an administrator in numerous educational, recreational and financial environments. He also possesses coaching and experience (as a competitor at all levels) in the University through the professional ranks. Rothermel received his Ph.D. in 1961 from the College of Applied Human Life Sciences at the University of Illinois, Champaign-Urbana. He received his B.S. from Northern Illinois University in 1960.

Rothermel and his wife, Suzanee, a kindergarten teacher in the Clark County School District, have two daughters; Beth (16) and Christine (12).

Women’s Basketball

Medical Staff

Coach Mike Gallagher, University of Montreal, Quebec, Canada. She participated in basketball, track and field and volleyball while earning both B.S. and M.A. athletic awards. She attended Vanner Junior College in Montreal and earned an associate degree in Nursing. She is married to Robert Summers, a University of Nevada Las Vegas police officer.

Norm Jenkins

Jim Chaisson

The Lady Rebels basketball staff wishes to thank Norm Jenkins of Sav-Mor Rent A Car and Jim Chaisson of Chaisson Motors for their sponsorship of the Lady Rebels.
The Lady Rebel basketball team will defend their title this season with a newly aligned conference. UNLV, for the last two seasons, defeated UC Irvine to capture the title. On March 6, 1984, the Rebels were paced by Misty Thomas' 31 points as they defeated UC Irvine. Last season, UNLV was defeated by UNLV, UNLV, and UNLV, but the Lady Rebels will play each conference opponent except Hawaii. This season, the Lady Rebels will play a home and home series against each conference opponent except Hawaii and will play the additions of Cal State Fullerton, Cal State Fullerton, and San Diego State University. The PCAA conference expansion this year will feature all eight teams from the conference. The winner of the PCAA tournament will receive an automatic NCAA play-off bid.

UNLV, UNLV, and UNLV will play Cal State Fullerton, Cal State Fullerton, and San Diego State University. The PCAA Women's Basketball Tournament, scheduled for March 6-8 (first round play at Cal State Long Beach and semi-finals and finals to be played at the Forum, coinciding with the men's tournament) will feature all eight teams from the conference.

Although her achievements are numerous, her talents are countless and her contributions to the Lady Rebel basketball program are almost innumerable, the Lady All-America, Misty Thomas still labels herself as a "team player." But what a team player Thomas is. Last year, for example, she led the Lady Rebels in almost every offensive category, including points (33.3 ppg) and assists (9.6 ppg). She was the leading scorer in 25 out of the 31 games played and helped guide the team to the NCAA National Tournament for the second consecutive year.

The 1984-85 season was a campaign filled with many highs and lows for Thomas. Her skills and leadership on the court helped her team to its second consecutive national tournament appearance and to the highest finish (fourth place) in the PCAA for women's basketball. Although Thomas finished second in the PCAA Player of the Year voting and second in the Jerry Colangelo Award, she averaged 12.1 points per game and broke the season assists record (15.5ppg) and was named to the All-American (second team) as a senior. As a senior, Thomas was the Lady Rebel's leading scorer and leader in assists. As a junior, she was named to the PCAA Player of the Year and was named to the Jerry Colangelo Award team for the second consecutive year—"the second consecutive year—the second consecutive year that surpasses all others."

Thomor's five-year point rate of the 1984-85 season, scored in the first game of the PCAA Women's Basketball Championship, was the highest three-minute period of her career. Thomas went down with a severe knee injury. Although she was unable to play the rest of the season, she remained an integral part of the team until she returned to the court and was third on the team in assists (61 assists). Thomas' injury was a blow to the Lady Rebels, but it did not slow her down. During the past three seasons, Thomas' legacy has been one of inspiration and determination. She has shown that even in the face of adversity, it is possible to persevere and succeed.

One of the most talented players on the Lady Rebel squad, LaVern returns for her third season...ended last season as the sixth leading scorer, tallying 5.2 points and 3.2 rebounds per game...best performance was against the University of Hawaii when she compiled 14 points and seven rebounds. "Kathy has shown flashes of brilliance and has the potential to dominate a game," Co-Head Coach Jim Bile said. "She needs to be more consistent every game and is capable of playing both power and finesse. She also drives to the bucket very well...attended Wenatchee Valley Junior College in 1981 where under head coach Jim Sollars she led her squad in assists...in 1982, she spent one year with the Seattle Seabaskets AAU team...in 1980 graduated of Roosevelt High in Seattle, Washington. Earned All-Metro honors and MVP honors in 1986...averaged 15 points and eight rebounds per game...also lettered in track and was the district winner in the high jump her sophomore, junior, and senior years...winner of the Arco Jesse Owens Award in the high jump...daughter of Mary E. LaVern of Seattle, Washington...majoring in Visual Arts with an emphasis on photography...has aspirations to be a freelance photographer...born July 30, 1963.
Christian returns for her third year with the Lady Rebels to defend her situating position at forward... finished last season as the Lady Rebels second leading scorer (13.0) and rebounder (7.1), was named second team All-PCAA and earned 7UP Desert Classic All-Tournament team honors... "Angela has an advantage now because she has played full-time for two years and know's our system," Co-Head Coach Jim Bolla said. "She is one of the players this team that can provide leadership. One of the best aspects about Angela is that she is so deceptive. That gives her the opportunity to slide right in for rebounds and easy shots..." best performance was against Northern Arizona University when she tallied 28 points and connected on 14 of 17 from the field..."she is currently the 13th All-Time leading scorer with 626 points in Lady Rebel history..." a 1983 graduate of Lynwood High, Christian earned numerous basketball awards under head coach Van Girard including All-CIF three years, All-League three years, Best Defense and was recipient of the MVP award at Artesia Classic... averaged 19.5 points, 15.1 rebounds and six assists her senior year at Lynwood... named MVP in both basketball and softball and was selected as the Athlete of the Year her senior year... also USA Army Reserve National Scholar-Athlete Award... participated in the Carson All-Star Game where she scored 19 points and pulled down 13 rebounds... daughter of James and Sylvia Christian of Lynwood, California... she has one brother (James) and two sisters (LaToya and Taiwana)... majoring in Physical Education... born August 2, 1964.

THE THOMAS AND MACK CENTER

The $32 million Thomas and Mack Center is the newest addition to the Entertainment Capital of the World, located at the heart of Las Vegas on the campus of the University of Nevada, Las Vegas.

Conceived with state-of-the-art engineering capabilities, the Center is an athletic and special events facility. It is the largest structure of its kind in the state of Nevada, and is the fourth largest on-campus arena in the United States.

The Center was specifically designed to handle a wide variety of athletic events-including basketball, wrestling, tennis, volleyball, gymnastics, soccer, hockey, ice skating and rodeo—but it is also perfect for such events as concerts, conferences, circuses and commencement exercises.

Audio Visual Capabilities-232-foot candles of metallic halide light over every square foot of the area provide excellent television lighting.

Television camera baskets are located on the concourse level and cameras may be set up on ground level.

-40,000 pounds spread over eight points, can be hung from the arena ceiling.

Parking-44 acres for 1,500-2,000 cars.

Ticket Booths-2 main offices and 4 satellite offices.

Locker Rooms-Six rooms and snack bars.

Concourse-Measures 34’ x 1,300’

- Ceiling height varies from 13 feet as sides to 20 at peak.

- Thirty private luxury boxes—total of 392 seats—are available for rental.

The Center was specifically designed to handle a wide variety of athletic events-including basketball, wrestling, tennis, volleyball, gymnastics, soccer, hockey, ice skating and rodeo—but it is also perfect for such events as concerts, conferences, circuses and commencement exercises.

The most impressive feature of the facility is its 18,000 seat arena. Spectators have optimal sight lines from armchair seats in 51 rows on two tiers. Surrounding the arena is spacious, accessible concourse with 44,500 square feet of floor space, easily capable of providing capacity crowd movement, displays or trade shows. The Center’s main floor has four expandable meeting rooms, another large meeting room, ticket offices, a restaurant with bar, press room, locker rooms and snack bars.

Overall, the Thomas and Mack Center is 251,450 square feet and is 20,271’ feet above sea level.

Arena-Floor-level retractable seating (9 rows) decreases seating by 2,000.

Without seating retracted, floor measures 124 feet x 72 feet and has approximately 8,900 square feet of floor space.

THE BERT LEAVITT MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP

A donation in the name of Bert Leavitt was made in the Spring of 1983 to an endowment fund for women’s basketball at the University of Nevada, Las Vegas. An annual scholarship, the Bert Leavitt Memorial Scholarship, will be presented prior to the beginning of each season by Mrs. Joyce Leavitt to a member of the women’s basketball team who meets the following criteria: 1) The recipient must be either her junior or senior year of eligibility at the time of the scholarship; 2) The recipient must have an overall GPA of 3.0 for her college career; 3) The recipient will be chosen by the head coach (Mrs. Joyce Leavitt reserves the right to amend this item at the time of the Center); 4) In the event that no female basketball players meet all of the above-mentioned criteria in any given year, the award will be presented at the discretion of the head coach.

The recipient of the Bert Leavitt Memorial Scholarship shall receive monies from interest earned on the Bert Leavitt endowment up to the amount specified by NCAA as allowable over and above her basketball scholarship. Remaining monies that represent the balance of interest earned on the Bert Leavitt endowment shall be transferred into the women’s basketball scholarship account.

The Bert Leavitt Memorial Scholarship recipient shall receive, in addition to scholarship monies, a small plaque to be provided through funds accrued from the endowment.

The interest earned on the first quarter, ending June 30, 1983, shall be used to purchase a large trophy, upon which names of successive recipients shall be added, to be displayed in the Thomas and Mack Center.

Lori Arent was the recipient of the Leavitt Scholarship last year. Misty Thomas will be the recipient this season. Thomas is a two-time CoSIDA Academic All-America (first team).

LAS VEGAS, THE CITY

The city of Las Vegas, Nevada is a thriving metropolitan area nestled in a desert valley near the southwestern tip of the state. Most people know Las Vegas as the Entertainment Capital of the World. But the city has many other attractions. Like other large cities, Las Vegas has fine libraries, museums, community theatres, art galleries, and parks which are enjoyed and supported by more than 26 million local residents. As one of the fastest-growing areas in the United States, Southern Nevada is an example of modern urban living for families and individuals.

Mild desert temperatures make outdoor recreation possible throughout the year in Southern Nevada. Within a half-hour’s drive from the city lie the shores of Lake Mead, the largest man-made lake in the United States. Local residents enjoy year-round sailing, water skiing, swimming, and fishing. Massive Hoover Dam and the entire Colorado River recreation area have become a mecca for tourists, boaters, windsurfers, and fishermen.

A short drive north of Las Vegas are Red Rock Canyon and Lake Mead. The Hoover Dam and the man-made Lake Mead, the site of the Shoshone Dam and the Shoshone Power Plant, are enjoyed and supported by more than 26 million local residents. As one of the fastest-growing areas in the United States, Southern Nevada is an example of modern urban living for families and individuals.

Other nearby sights abound. Valley of Fire State Park offers a beautiful view of deep red sandstone cliffs, Indian petroglyphs, and desert wildflowers. Red Rock Canyon is a popular hiking spot and scenic drive. Within a few hours’ drive are the Grand Canyon; Death Valley; Zion, Bryce Canyon, and Cedar Breaks national parks; Brianhead and Mount Holly ski resorts; the beaches and amusement parks of Southern California; and the art galleries of Phoenix. Las Vegas enjoys a mild yearly climate, yet there are noticeable seasonal differences. The annual average temperature is 79 degrees, but it is unusual for the mercury to hit the 110 degree mark during summer and dip into the 30s in the winter. Annual rainfall amounts to only 3.9 inches, much of it falling in the winter when it is snowing in the nearby mountains.
