Young, Proud, and Growing...

After five straight seasons with 20 wins or more, co-head coaches Jim and Sheila Bolla have their young troops ready to roll in 1987-88.

"Young, Proud, and Growing."
That is the motto recently proclaimed by UNLV President Robert C. Maxson to symbolize the youth and strength of this southern Nevada university. While it was not originally intended to describe the fortunes of the UNLV women's basketball team, the 1987-88 Lady Rebels may seem fit to use it.

YOUNG — Point guard KAREN HALL (5-4/Pittsburgh, PA) is the lone returning senior on the Lady Rebel squad, flanked by a cast of one freshman, four sophomores, and six juniors.

PROUD — Co-Head Coaches JIM BOLLA and SHEILA STRIKE-BOLLA have led the Lady Rebels to five straight seasons with 20 wins or more, three NCAA Tournament appearances, and until last season, three straight PCAA Tournament Championships.

GROWING — Despite their youth, the Lady Rebels are experienced and should only get better. Five impressive newcomers are expected to vie for starting roles immediately, and among the nine returning letterwinners, three were starters and five others saw considerable playing time off the bench.

"We want to win the league. That is our number one goal," said co-head coach Jim Bolla. "We're really excited about the people we have coming back. We'll be young, but I think we're in a better position than last year."

The Lady Rebels will be tested early this season with a bout against the Soviet National Team followed by the annual 7-Up Desert Classic and a trip to the Bayou to face national heavyweights Louisiana State and Louisiana Tech. They come home again to host the Lady Rebel Bud Light Tournament before breaking for the holidays and the opening of conference play on January 2.

"We are going to be O.K. We'll be one of the top contenders in the league, but we'll be tested early in the year by playing the Russians and travelling to Louisiana. We're just going to have to go out and play well," Bolla added.

Early season leadership must come from the senior Hall who directs the Lady Rebel attack, returning with a 9.0 scoring average and 4.6 assists per game. A third-year starter, the nifty floor leader and team captain topped second team All-PCAA honors last season. She will be joined in the backcourt by returning sophomore LINDA STALEY (5-10/Palmdale, CA) and a pair of newcomers in JC transfer DENISE BALLenger (5-10/Nacogdoches, TX), and freshman VICKI LANDER (5-8/Evansville, IN).

Ballenger will likely compliment Hall's talents at the point with previous experience at the junior college and Division I level at Northeast Louisiana. Staley will also be looked upon to share ball handling duties after a solid season under her belt in 1986-87. Lander was the Indiana state scoring champion, posting a 31.1 per game average.

"With the addition of Denise (Ballenger) we now have two legitimate ball handlers so that they can give each other a rest. And with the young kids coming along, it gives us even more balance. Now we have four people that we have confidence in to bring the ball up the floor," said Bolla.

At the forward position, KIM CRAWFORD (6-2/San Luis Obispo, CA) and GEANNINE JORDAN (5-8/Pasadena, CA) return from their starting posts a year ago. Jordan, the team's leading returning scorer and rebounder with 9.1 points and 5.5 rebounds was named to the PCAA All-Freshman Team. Crawford, a steady performer through two seasons at UNLV brings back an 8.3 scoring average and 4.3 boards per contest.

Most notable among the Rebel newcomers at forward is PAULINE JORDAN (6-3/Pasadena, CA), twin sister of Geannine. A sophomore redshirt, Pauline was one of the most highly sought after high school stars in the country two years ago and a 1986 Parade All-American. She comes to UNLV for the 1987-88 season after leading her West team to the Olympic Sports Festival gold medal last summer.

Also among the contingent at forward are returnees SHARI NETZEL (6-2/Culver City, CA) and RENE CZERWIN-SKI (5-11/Port Coquitlam, B.C.), and former University of Oregon standout SHELLY RAY (5-10/Walla Walla, WA). Ray transfers to Las Vegas this season from Walla Walla Junior College after averaging 8.9 points and 5.2 rebounds as a freshman at Oregon. Netzel is termed "the most agile defensive player of all our big people," said Strike-Bolla, and Czerwinski is called the "most purely talented shooter on the team — a legitimate three point threat," added Bolla.

At the post will be junior returnees CYNTHIA THOMAS (6-4/Rancho Palos Verdes, CA) and CATHY WATTLE (6-4/Arcadia, CA) who both split time last year with Geannine Jordan. Thomas played exceptionally well towards the latter half of last season including a season high 16 points in the PCAA Championship game against '87 Final Four contender Cal State Long Beach. Wattle, a starter in 16 games last season, "exemplifies the model role player on our team," stated Strike Bolla. Both Jordan sisters will battle for time at center, as well. All in all, the Lady Rebels appear very deep heading into the upcoming campaign. Maturity may be key, but with proper leadership and continued improvement from the already talented cast, success and a sixth straight 20-win season are on the horizon.
Jim Bolla & Sheila Strike-Bolla
UNLV Co-Head Coaches

(Re-printed with permission from Southern Howard Collegian, sports section for the Las Vegas Times and Off the glass magazine. The following is an excerpt from Mr. Cooper's 1987 article in Off The Glass.)

Once upon a time, in a land not so far away, there lived a man (Jim Bolla) and a woman (Sheila Strike-Bolla). Both had a strong interest in basketball, and Sheila hired Jim as her assistant coach for the women's team at Nevada, Las Vegas. Turned out they had a pretty strong interest in each other, too, after a while. On April 13, 1982, they were married, and her assistant got signed letters of intent from Kim Crawford, Shari Nellesen and Cheryl Young. The next day, they went to the Little Chapel of the West on the Strip and got married in a quiet ceremony. “And they lived happily ever after,” SheilaStrike-Bolla.

So far, so good. She became Sheila Strike-Bolla, he soon became co-head coach, and the Lady Rebels continued as consistent winners, posting 24-4, 24-7, 26-6, and 22-6 all last four seasons (1984-1986) and making the NCAA playoffs the last three years in a row. A successful team on the court and in courtship.

JIM BOLLA
Entering his seventh season at UNLV and sixth as co-head coach, Jim Bolla continues his quest to make basketball a Nevada state sport and a national power in the world of women’s basketball. For Bolla, though, achieving goals is not a new strategic coaching scheme, it is more of a way of life.

As a prepster, he didn’t pick up a basketball until the age of 15, however he was quickly developed into one of the most highly sought after players in the state of Pennsylvania.

As a collegiate player, Bolla and his freshman teammates vowed to take their team to a tournament in their senior year. They went to the NCAA’s as a junior. As their accomplishments continued to grow for Bolla. Last year, Bolla’s fifth season assuming the duties of co-head coach, he compiled a 25-3 record, led UNLV to the 1986-87 UNLV Co-Head Coaches... Four years later, Bolla re-emerged at UNLV under the recommendation of Girgich in 1981. He worked one season as a Lady Rebel assistant before being promoted to Co-Head Coach in 1982.

A native of Pittsburgh, Bolla earned a Bachelor of Science degree in health and Physical Education from the University of Pittsburgh in 1975. He enjoys working on home improvement projects and devoting time to his Old English sheepdog Affie.

JIM BOLLA

Sheila Strike-Bolla

6-0 freshman, he displayed as much interest in basketball as he did in American diplomatic policies until his hometown he vowed as the basketball coach to teach him how to play the game. Bolla was developed into one of the most highly sought after players in the state of Pennsylvania. He was golden and helped guide his team to the National Tournament.

As a player, Bolla believed in two things: hard work and aggressiveness. He has broken his nose five times and has been taped “from head to toe” at one time or another.

“We never really had any conditioning or weight lifting programs,” Bolla said. “There really was not much sports medicine or physical therapy then, so we had to rehabilitate our injuries on our own. The way we improved was by playing basketball all year-round. We used to get into the Pitt Fieldhouse in the summer at 6:00 p.m. and lock the doors and play for two or three hours.”

After graduation, Bolla stayed with the Pitt basketball program as a volunteer assistant under Pitt Head Coach and current UNLV Assistant Coach Tim O’Neill. He became a graduate assistant for the Panthers in 1977.

Bolla’s indoctrination in the world of women’s basketball began in 1979. Pitt was appointed Pitt’s assistant women’s basketball coach. During his stint with the Lady Panthers, Bolla concentrated primarily on defense and rebounding, helping guide the team to a number three national ranking in rebounding in 1980.

Bolla was dropped from the coaching ranks later in 1980 to work for the Eastern Eight Basketball Conference. He compiled a 25-3 record, led UNLV to the 1986-87 UNLV Co-Head Coaches... Four years later, Bolla re-emerged at UNLV under the recommendation of Girgich in 1981. He worked one season as a Lady Rebel assistant before being promoted to Co-Head Coach in 1982.

The achievements continue to grow for Bolla, he continued as consistent winners, on the court and in courtship.

Sheila Strike-Bolla

The winningest coach in Lady Rebel history, Sheila Strike-Bolla has compiled a 142-62 record over the past seven years however, that has been modest. The Lady Rebels three straight seasons of 24-0, 20 wins or more, and have appeared in four consecutive NCAA Tournament Championships, and three NCAA Tournament.

"Making the squad in 1976 was a major goal," she said. “Competing in the Olympic games in my home country was the epitome of what every amateur athlete strives for. It was just spectacular.”

After receiving her Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of British Columbia, and her teaching certificate from Simon Fraser University in 1977, she began her extensive coaching career. Her first coaching assignment was with the junior varsity team at the University of British Columbia. Her 6-foot and gifted athletic ability soon earned her the respect of her alma mater. Sheila Strike-Bolla was named co-captain of the University of British Columbia women’s basketball team.

In 1978, Strike-Bolla accepted an assistant coaching position at the University of Oregon, where she stayed for two seasons. She then returned to the team as a recruiter and successfully took several Canadian as well as American stars while earning a Master of Science degree in physical education.

When the head coaching position opened at UNLV in 1980, Strike-Bolla applied with no serious intention of being considered as a candidate. However, she was only considered, but offered the position. “Again, I became a head coach was not really one of my goals, it was just something I fell into,” she said modestly. “I am glad I am here however, that I made the move to UNLV.”

She became the third coach in UNLV women’s basketball history opened the doors to UNLV in 1978, and now in 1987, she gears up for her eighth season as head coach, having established a strong foundation for future UNLV women. She has been named First Team All American four times and is the first female athlete to be valedictorian, an honor student of Phi Kappa Phi, a national honor society, the Simon Fraser University, and the Canadian Association for the Advancement of Women in Sport.

Sheila Strike-Bolla is currently enrolled in doctoral studies in Higher Education Administration at Laurentian University. She was honored by Phi Kappa Phi, a national honor society, the Alumni Association, and the Canadian Association for the Advancement of Women in Sport. She is a member of the Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development, Phi Alpha Delta, the Canadian Association for the Advancement of Women in Sport.
Rick Glenn
UNLV Assistant Coach

Rick Glenn, entering his third season as assistant women's basketball coach, has added a dynamic dimension to the Lady Rebels' staff since joining the club in December of 1985. His long hours of hard work have resulted in a pair of the best recruiting classes in history. UNLV's '87 pre-season ranking provides evidence to the fact that despite last year's graduation losses, the Lady Rebels have consistently attracted some of the top players in the nation.

Glenn adds an extensive basketball background to the UNLV staff. As captain of his Huntington Beach High School team, Glenn led his club to consecutive CIF playoff appearances, averaging double figures in scoring. Glenn also participated in volleyball and earned all-county honors.

Glenn moved on to play college basketball at Cal State Stanislaus under head coach Doug Sanderson, who currently serves as UNLV's Director of Athletic Development. At Stanislaus, Glenn's teams dominated the Far West Conference and participated in the NCAA Division III Final Four. In addition to Glenn's athletic participation, he was active in student government and worked as business manager of the campus newspaper.

In 1984, Glenn followed Sanderson to UNLV where he worked for a year-and-a-half as Assistant to the Director of Athletic Development. Glenn's duties in athletic development included formation of the Rebel Athletic Club, assistance with scholarships fundraising, and promotion of all athletic contests and special events.

"I feel fortunate to have had the opportunity to work in athletic development because of the broad-based understanding I gained about the entire athletic operation. Also, many of the skills used in athletic development are applicable to my new role as recruiting coordinator," said Glenn. While working in athletic development, Glenn played an integral role in expansion and development of community support. "I hope our women's basketball program will benefit from the overlapping effect of my move from athletic development. Women's basketball is surely gaining increased support in Las Vegas." Indeed, the Lady Rebel program has already derived benefits from Glenn's experience, as evidenced by rising attendance figures and greater visibility in the community.

Recruiting in his home state, Glenn has managed to attract some of the finest players in California to UNLV. In just two seasons as UNLV's recruiting coordinator, Glenn has persuaded three CIF Players-of-the-Year to join the Lady Rebels, including Geannine and Pauline Jordan (1986 CIF Co-AAA Players-of-the-Year), and Linda Staley (1986 CIF AAA Player-of-the-Year). Also from California is Mandy Hannah (1987-88 redshirt), another highly regarded All-CIF selection who has often been recognized as the top guard in the state last season. "Having grown up in California, I enjoy the challenge of recruiting Californians to come and play in Nevada. I love living in Nevada and feel that UNLV provides wonderful possibilities and opportunities for student-athletes."

Other Lady Rebels lured to UNLV by Glenn include junior college playmaker Denise Ballenger, Indiana scoring champion Vicki Lander, and former Oregon standout Shelly Ray. This talent trio will add considerable depth and versatility to this season's Lady Rebel squad.

Co-Head Coach Jim Bolle has noted the tremendous contribution made by Glenn. "He is one of the most enthusiastic and energetic coaches I have worked with. His commitment to our program is outstanding, as is his loyalty to UNLV."

Glenn earned a B.A. in Business Administration with a concentration in Marketing from Cal State Stanislaus in 1984. He intends to complete UNLV's Masters of Business Administration program by 1989.

True to his California heritage, Glenn is an avid beach goer, and enjoys outdoor volleyball, basketball, body surfing, and fishing. A gourmet cook, Glenn also is an avid Peave player. He was born on January 7, 1961 and is single.

Jaina Preston
Academic Advisor

Jaina Preston, who begins her third year as the academic counselor for the Lady Rebels, brings to the program an outstanding record of success in advising and counseling. She has worked as both counselor and director of counseling in a variety of settings, usually with organizations specializing in treating the problems of adolescents. Prior to joining the staff of the Lady Rebels, she was the office manager and interim director of the local chapter of the National Conference of Christians and Jews. While directing the National Conference she recruited several of the Lady Rebels as counselors for the NCCJ's annual summer camp, an experience that convinced her of the high quality and wide ranging abilities of UNLV's players.

Noted for her concern, forthrightness and direct approach in counseling, Jaina Preston looks forward to her third year. "With the Lady Rebels I am working with individuals who are already achievers," Preston observes. "One of the most satisfying aspects of my job is helping young women develop academic skills and confidence and seeing them realize that their intellectual abilities respond to the same inputs as their athletic abilities. The harder they work the better they get. It is fun to see them really know that they can achieve in class as well as on the court. In my two years with the program six of the Lady Rebels have graduated, one of them as a two-time Academic All-American. It is very rewarding to see such achievement. Much of the academic success of our program stems from the standards and commitment of the head coaches. Sheila and Jim are always very supportive of my work and are deeply committed to academic as well as to athletic excellence. They are convinced that academic achievement and excellence is of ultimate importance for the women who play basketball for UNLV."

As the Lady Rebels Academic Counselor, Preston is responsible for evaluating transcripts and records of recruits, making certain every player is progressing toward their degree, making certain each player satisfies both University and major degree requirements and overseeing each player's eligibility status. She organizes and monitors tutorial assistance, supervises class progress and supervises the daily study hall. "I find my work both enjoyable and satisfying and I am proud that we have the only women's program in the country with its own academic counselor for student-athletes," Preston commented.

Jaina Preston is a 1977 graduate of Antioch where she received her B.A. in Psychology and is currently working on her M.A. in counseling at UNLV. She has three children — Erin (4), Sean (6), Eric (19). Her husband, Fred, is the Co-Director of the Center for Survey Research and chairs the Department of Sociology at UNLV.
LAURA CLONTZ/Consulting Family Therapist

For the past two seasons the Lady Rebels have enjoyed the consulting services of family therapist Laura Clontz. Clontz’ extensive international athletic career combined with her education and training in counseling make her uniquely qualified to work with female athletes. Clontz captained her collegiate swimming teams at the University of Santa Clara and San Jose State where she was a three-time intercollegiate national champion in freestyle sprints. She was on a world record setting freestyle relay team, participated in the Olympic Trials for swimming in 1968 and 1972, and represented the United States in the World University Games in Turin, Italy in 1970.

A graduate of Clark High School in Las Vegas, Clontz earned a B.A. in Education from San Jose State and a M.S. in Education/Marriage and Family Counseling from UNLV. A former Miss Nevada, Clontz currently divides her time between her private counseling practice and part-time modeling assignments. Clontz is married to local gaming and corporate attorney, Jeffrey Clontz.

KATHY SMITH/Management Assistant

Beginning her second season with the Lady Rebels, Kathy Smith brings to UNLV a background rich in competitive sports participation and sports journalism. From 1979-81, Smith toured the nation as a member of the Ladies Professional Bowlers Tour, during which she earned recognition as one of the Top Ten female bowlers in the country. Smith won numerous championships, including the Western Regional title at the Showboat Lanes in Las Vegas. She also was a member of the California team that set a state women’s team record which still stands today.

In 1981, Smith began a five-year stint with the LAS VEGAS SUN where she covered the LPGA, the Professional Bowlers Tour, the National Finals Rodeo, professional tennis, and the Caesars Palace Grand Prix, along with UNLV assignments including football, volleyball, softball, soccer, and women’s basketball.

KEVIN MESSENGER/Assistant Sports Information Director

Kevin Messenger begins his first year on the UNLV staff after receiving a B.A. in Communications/Public Relations from the University of the Pacific last spring. Primarily responsible for women’s basketball and baseball, Messenger also assists with Rebel football and men’s basketball after serving four years in a similar capacity at Pacific.

While at Pacific, Messenger helped coordinate the 1986 NCAA Women’s Volleyball Final Four and was responsible for covering Pacific’s national championship volleyball team, women’s basketball, baseball, and several non-revenue sports teams. He worked closely with several conference and regional events and initiated a daily sports report on five Stockton radio stations.

In addition to his duties at Pacific, Messenger was an administrative assistant, official scorer, and PA Announcer for the Stockton Ports Baseball Club, the Milwaukee Brewers’ Class A affiliate in Stockton. He was a 1983 graduate of Mullen High School in Denver, Colorado.

ELLEN SMILOWITZ/Women’s Basketball Trainer

A 1987 graduate of Penn State, Ellen Smilowitz begins her first year as a graduate assistant on the UNLV athletic training staff. Her duties at UNLV include responsibilities with women’s basketball and track, and general assistance with all other facets of UNLV athletic training.

A native of Boalsburg, Pennsylvania, Smilowitz attended State College Area High School where she lettered in track and soccer. She also is an accomplished bicyclist and triathlete. Smilowitz completed her studies at Penn State with a B.S. in Health Education.

RHONDA HICKMAN/Women’s Basketball Manager

A UNLV sophomore and native of Las Vegas, Rhonda Hickman begins her second season with the Lady Rebels. Hickman was a 1986 graduate of E.W. Clark High School in Las Vegas, and currently sports a 3.39 GPA in finance courses at UNLV. Through four years in high school, Hickman compiled 11 athletic letters between basketball, golf, and softball. She continues active participation in softball, volleyball, and racquetball.

7. To build an affiliation with our community to foster a mutual sense of pride and respect.

DeNise Ballenger correlated to UNLV as a very highly recruited point guard who transferred to the Lady Rebels this season out of Angelina Junior College (coach Dwan Coleman) in Lufkin, Texas. She will be looked upon to share ball handling duties with Karen Hall. Ballenger attended Northeast Louisiana University out of high school until the school went on probation. While at Northeast Louisiana she appeared in 22 games as a freshman, averaging 2.5 points. During her stay at the Division I powerhouse, Ballenger played against a number of 1987-88 UNLV opponents including San Diego State, Louisiana State, Louisiana Tech, and participated in the 1986 Northern Lights Invitational. Her season high against Division I opposition was a nine-point effort against McNeese State in which she shot 3-for-3 from the field and 3-for-4 from the charity stripe. Her Northeast Louisiana squad took championship honors at the '86 Northern Lights Invitational with a 70-68 win over the Cherry Miller-led USC Trojans. Ballenger led her Angelina JC team to the playoffs last season and within reach of the national tournament with a team leading 24-3 scoring average and six assists per game. She shot 46% from the floor and 72% from the line en route to All-Conference honors and 15 games with 20 points or more. Her collegiate scoring high was a 40-point outburst against Western Texas.

Ballenger prepped at Nacogdoches High School (coach Gordon Fountain) where she capped All District first team honors for four years and was named the District MVP her senior season. She also played volleyball in high school and was chosen All-State and All-Region, and selected a member of the Texas Top Ten in volleyball. She participated in her state’s all-star game for volleyball.

• She is a real solid defensive player. What I like most about her is her capacity to motivate the people who play with her to play at a higher level. She has a leadership type of personality that is really important for someone playing the point guard position. We anticipate her seeing a lot of playing time. She and Karen Hall will be vying for playing time and perhaps even playing together,” said UNLV co-coach Sheila Strike-Bollas.

Kim Crawford begins her third season with the Lady Rebels after starting 29 of 35 games last season. She averaged 6.3 points and 4.3 rebounds in 86-87 including a career high 18 points three times against SMU, California, and Northern Arizona. She scored in double figures on 11 occasions last season, leading the team in scoring at California and Cal State Fullerton. Crawford started in three games and appeared in 29 as a freshman, averaging 2.6 points and 1.6 rebounds per game. She hit for a freshman season high 12 points (6-4-7) against Pacific and hit a career high 10 rebounds last season against Stephen F. Austin in the Spuds MacKenzie Bud Light Tournament championship. She was an All-Tournament selection in last year's UNLV/7-Up Desert Classic. She traveled to Hong Kong in 1985 with the U.S.A. Sports Development International Tour. Her biggest athletic thrill was defeating highly-touted Cal State Long Beach in the 1986 PCAA Tournament Championship.

Crawford pored at San Luis High School (coach Harry Bottorff) where she lettered three years in basketball and once in track and field. She earned All-CIF and All-Conference honors, and was twice named Conference Player of the Year. She earned Student of the Month honors twice and Soroptimist Girl of the Month. Last season she was a PCAA Scholar Athlete.

Kim is an extremely dedicated, hard-working, and directed young female student-athlete. She has demonstrated a real commitment to becoming a fine basketball player along with a wonderful strength of character that adds much to our team and a great sense of humor that keeps us all in good spirits. This will be Kim's junior year, and every year she has progressed; she has gotten better every year. After a period of adjustment coming out of high school where she literally double-terenced team in scoring at UNLV in 1985 with the U.S.A. Sports Development International Tour. Her biggest athletic thrill was defeating highly-touted Cal State Long Beach in the 1986 PCAA Tournament Championship.

Kim Crawford, with Dr. Darlene Unrue and Dr. John Unrue. Darlene is a Professor of English and John is the Vice President for Academic Affairs and Provost.
Rene Czerwinski enters her second season as a Lady Rebel in 1987-88. She played in 10 games last year, sporting a 2.2 scoring average. She scored a season high six points against Mississippi State at the Spuds MacKenzie Bud Light Tournament. Czerwinski hauled down four rebounds in 16 minutes of action against Southern Utah State. Considered a threat from the newly added three-point range this season, Rene became the third Canadian to join the Lady Rebel program last season, following the likes of standout players Misty Thomas and Shauna Crawley. She was the premiere player in the province of British Columbia in 1985, and dreams of one day becoming a member of the Canadian Olympic Team. She spent the summer of 1986 with the Canadian Junior team in 1985 and 1986, and received Player of the Year honors in '86. She earned MVP at the 1986 All-Star game, and has twice been invited to Canadian Junior National Team tryouts.

"Rene is a talented, goal-oriented young woman. She has earned a fine reputation in British Columbia for her offensive abilities and will no doubt continue to refine those skills playing at UNLV. We hope that after a year of adjustment she will be more able to perform in a much larger capacity this year. She is a talented, gifted shooter, and we're trying to work with her to enhance the other aspects of her game. She's a really pure, natural shooter, and one of the most purely talented shooters we've ever had. Rene is the kind of player that in drills she doesn't really stand out, but when you scrimmage she does things you just don't teach. She'll hang in the air and then bang in four or five. She's a legitimate three-point threat. She's got a year under her belt and she knows what we're going to expect out of her. We see brighter things for her. Ideally we'd like to see her in the "2" guard spot or small forward position," said UNLV coach Jim Bolla.

Opening her senior season with the Lady Rebels, Karen Hall enters the year as a certain candidate for pre-season honors. A second team All-PCAA pick in 1986-87, Hall ranked seventh in the PCAA in assists and third in steals while leading UNLV to their fourth straight PCAA Tournament Championship appearance. After establishing herself as the Lady Rebels’ "floor leader" a year ago, Hall hopes to continue her great progress witnessed by Rebel coaches during last season’s stretch drive. Hall averaged a career-high 9.0 points on the year, but scored a whopping 17.7 over the club’s last 12 games. She scored in double figures in 10 of UNLV’s final 12 games, including a career-high 20 vs. Fresno State at the PCAA Tournament. Within one three-game span, she established a new career high 10 points, rebounding 10 (vs. Cal State Fullerton at the PCAA Tournament), and assists 9 (vs. Pacific in the final game of the regular season). Just one week earlier, the nifty playmaker earned PCAA Player of the Week honors. Hall paced the club with 79 steals in 39 games (tied season and 85 steals in 30 games in 1985-86. She averaged 8.2 points and 4.3 rebounds per game while starting 24 games as a sophomore. She recorded 87 assists as a sophomore.

A 1984 graduate of Mount Alvernia High School in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, Hall was one of the most prominent basketball players in the state. Karen won numerous awards during her prep career including the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette’s Fabulous Five, Pittsburgh’s Finest Five, and three consecutive All-State honors. Through her sophomore, junior, and senior seasons, she was named SAC Defensive Player of the Year, All-Sction, and AAU All-America (in struct, Louisiana, and New Mexico). She led her team to a 1983 Pennsylvania State Championship and a 113-0 career record in four years at Mount Alvernia. She accumulated 1,504 points (16.2 average) and 575 steals. Her ’83 team as a junior put together a 34-0 season, culminating in the state title and setting the most thrilling athletic moment in her life. She was instrumental in leading her team to a pair of AAU National Championships in 1985, and was named an alternate to the United States Sports Festival: the same summer.

Karen is the Sports Editor of the UNLV campus newspaper, the ‘Yellin’ Rebel, and plans a career in broadcasting. She worked with all-star basketball camps in Georgia and Pennsylvania, and worked as a sports commentator for men’s adult summer leagues last summer. She also is a member of the Alpia Kappa Alpha sorori­ ty on campus. Her nickname is “Power Forward” and her idol in the world of sports is the legendary assist leader of the NBA, Earvin “Magic” Johnson. (see picture on p. 68.)

Karen Hall has just gotten better every year she’s been here when we were struggling early as a team last year. Karen started to throw some leadership qualities and I think as the season went on, Karen said took charge. As the team got better, Karen got better. She is 5’4”, but she doesn’t play 5’4”. She works hard, handles the ball real well, and plays great defense. Her strengths lie in her good ball handling skills, determination, work ethic, speed, and strength-mindedness. Karen is a two-sport competitor who will be looked upon to set the pace in games since countless situations. She has learned to pass her score into a great assist. Her talents exemplify the notion that “Good things come in small packages.” (said UNLV co-jim coach Yellin’)

Karen is in the consummate guard because she does all the things you would want a guard to do. She’s intelligent, coachable, and has leadership qualities, along with great athletic ability. She has a vast desire to win and play defense. That’s a key to any great player. Most people love to play offense but won’t or don’t play defense. That’s what sets Karen apart from most players. If I had been the coach at Pittsburgh when Karen was a senior in high school, I would have done everything in my power to try and convince her to come and play for me. (Liverpool University head coach Terry Bruce)
A second-year Rebel who earned PCAA All-Freshman honors last season, Geannine Jordan returns as the club's top returning scorer and rebounder. Geannine appeared in all 30 games last season with 15 starts including the last 13 games. She averaged 9.1 points and 5.5 rebounds per game, and led the Lady Rebels with a 52.2% shooting percentage from the floor. She hit for a season high 22 points off the bench at Pacific, and a season high 11 rebounds in PCAA Tournament play against Cal State Fullerton. Interestingly, her previous season high was a 10-rebound effort also against Cal State Fullerton. One of UNLV's most productive additions a year ago, Geannine will team with sister Pauline in 1987-88. Both are considered definite candidates for post-season honors, although just sophomores.

Geannine came to the Lady Rebels last season as one of the most dynamic tandems ever to play basketball in southern California. As a prepster at John Muir High School (coach Archie Newton) in Pasadena with her twin sister, her high school team compiled a 114-4 record over four seasons including a record 40 consecutive league wins. John Muir enjoyed the nation's number one ranking among high school girl's basketball teams in 1985-86, led by Geannine and Pauline who finished the year as CIF AAAA Players of the Year. Geannine concluded her senior year with a 17.5 scoring average and 11 rebounds per game. She was All-CIF for three seasons and named her league's Co-Captain of the Year three times. She was named to numerous all-tournament teams and received several Tournament MVP awards, as John Muir swept every tournament they ever played in during the Jordan twins' reign. Geannine was named an Olympic Girls Development League All-American in 1985. Her and Pauline's soccer team won 11 consecutive division championships under the direction of their mother and coach, Mrs. Carrie Jordan. She attends UNLV with sister Pauline and family friend and Runnin' Rebel basketball player Stacey Augmon.

Geannine Jordan stands with Dr. Patricia Geuder on the campus lawn between the Moyer Student Union and Flora Dungan Humanities Building. Dr. Geuder is an Associate Professor of English.
A redshirt sophomore this season, Pauline Jordan steps into the Lady Rebel program to join sister Geannine. Although entering her first season of play, Pauline joins Geannine and Karen Hall on the Lady Rebel list of post-season honors candidates. Pauline was the driving force behind the West Team’s gold medal at last summer’s Olympic Sports Festival at Chapel Hill, North Carolina. Pauline averaged a team high 12.3 points over four games including a game high 16 points and 12 rebounds in the gold medal victory over the South. She led her team in scoring and rebounds in both games of the medal round and added three blocked shots as well during the final game. She was a Parade All-American two seasons ago at John Muir High School (coach Archie Newton) in Pasadena where she and sister Geannine led their team to unprecedented 40 consecutive league victories, and a 114-6 record over their four-year prep career. She averaged 24.2 points and 12 rebounds per game while earning All-CIF AAAA first team honors four straight years. She capped CIF, San Gabriel Valley, and Pacific League Co-Player of the Year honors with sister Geannine as a senior. She was named the Pacific League Co-Player of the Year as a junior and was an Olympic Girls Development League All-American in 1985. Her high school team won every tournament they ever participated in.

Additionally, her and Geannine’s soccer team won their division championship for 11 straight years under the direction of their mother and coach, Mrs. Carrie Jordan. She attends UNLV with twin sister Geannine and Runnin’ Rebel basketball player Stacey Augmon, also of Pasadena and John Muir High School.

Pauline made the best of her first year by working hard in the classroom and making good grades. She directed herself toward her own conditioning program and went out this spring without playing or practicing all year and made the Sports Festival West Team. In fact, she was one of the more dominating players on the court. We are anxious to see her on the court.

She is extremely dedicated to the game, and has very lofty goals for herself. She continues to progress and to work as hard as she did without us coaching her, than she will have a great future,” said UNLV co-coach Sheila Striker-Bolla.

Pauline’s consistency and level of performance has much as anything to do with us winning the gold medal. She played at such a high level for ten days, it was incredible. She’s a player, a real winner,” — St. Joseph’s University head coach Jimmy Foster (assistant coach, Olympic Sports Festival West Team).

If we needed a rebound Pauline got it done. If we needed points inside, Pauline was there for us. She’s such a powerful player we totally relied on her for ‘X’ number of points each game. “Pauline was in foul trouble.

Pauline was a major impact player on our team. It was evident that when she wasn’t in the game we struggled. The only game we lost, in fact, was when Pauline was in foul trouble. She has tremendous ability to score inside. She’s one of the best inside players I’ve ever coached. There is no doubt in my mind she will be one of the most talented players in college this year. If we needed a rebound Pauline got it done. If we needed points inside, Pauline was there for us. She’s such a powerful player we totally relied on her for %X number of points each game.” — University of Virginia head coach Debbie Ryan (head coach, Olympic Sports Festival West Team).
Sporting a 31.1 scoring average and the distinction as the scoring champion in the state of Indiana, Vicki Lander brings to the Lady Rebels a bonafide scoring threat. Lander’s scoring prowess enabled her to lead the state in scoring as a senior and finish second as a junior with a 26.1 clip. Through her four-year career at John Bosse High School (coach Jerry Canterbury), she emerged as the second leading scorer in the history of the state with 1,843 points. She earned Converse and USA Today All-America honors last season in addition to first team All-State honors as selected by Hoosier Basketball Magazine. She was voted second team All-State as a junior and third team as a sophomore. Lander was named to the First Five All-City Team in Evansville in each of her final three seasons, and was a second team All-City selection as a freshman. During her prep career, she led her Lady Bulldogs to two City and SIAC Championships as well as a pair of sectional and regional titles.

Her sister Cassandra played basketball at Arizona State.

"Vicki was the leading scorer in Indiana, and we think she’s going to be a fine player. Her sister played at Arizona State and was a great player. Vicki does things similar to her sister; she is very quick and handles the ball well. When you’re the leading scorer in the state of Indiana, that’s saying something. She was very highly recruited, and we see her as a good all-around player. She is very solid," said UNLV co-coach Jim Bolla.

"Vicki possesses all the skills to be an outstanding Division I basketball player. She can shoot better off the dribble than any girl I have seen," — John Bosse High School Varsity Boys Basketball Coach, Joe Mullan.

"I have coached basketball at Bosse High School for 26 years and Vicki Lander is the most prolific scorer I have seen. She has averaged over 20 points a game in her four years at Bosse. As a junior, she was the second leading scorer in the state with an average of 26.1 points. As a senior, she was the state’s leading scorer with an average of 31.1, for a total of 592 points." — John Bosse High School Varsity Girls Basketball Coach, Jerry Canterbury.

"Vicki was the most impressive leading scorer that has come to the Top 40 Camp in its five year existence. I was most impressed with her ability as well as her willingness to give up the ball. She demonstrated that she is a complete player that can do a great deal more than score." — Garry Donna (Publisher of Hoosier Basketball Magazine).
Shari Netzel returns for her third season as a Lady Rebel, averaging 1.5 points and 0.9 rebounds per game last season. Appearing in 24 games a year ago, Netzel shot 50% from the floor (15-30) and scored a season high six points against Cal State Long Beach. A versatile athlete, Netzel will be looked upon in 47.68% to continue her steady improvement and provide the Lady Rebels with added defensive support off the bench. She appeared in 20 games as a freshman and averaged 1.1 points and 1.0 rebounds. Her four rebounds against South Carolina in 1985 remain her career high.

As a prepper at Culver City High School (coach Warren Flanagan), Netzel collected nine varsity letters including four in volleyball, three in basketball, and two in track. She amassed a long list of high school honors including four consecutive years on the All-Ocean League team. She captured first team honors her final three seasons and was named her league's MVP as a senior. She received All-CIF honors each of her final three years at Culver City, being named to the third team as a sophomore, the second team as a junior, and the first team as a senior. She was named to numerous all-tournament teams and was chosen the tournament MVP at the Beverly Hills Tournament (twice) and South Torrance Tournament. She was an Athlete of the Week as selected by the Daily Breeze, an Athlete of the Month by the Culver City Exchange Club, and the Athlete of the Year by the Culver City Elks Club.

Shari is a good athlete. She possesses good quickness and basic fundamentals, and with her versatility she has the potential to play three positions for us. She is the most agile defensive player of all our big people. That is certainly one of her strengths and we don't hesitate to put her into more of a solidified position this season. Shari has continued improvement from her, said UNLV co-coach Jim Bolla.

Shelly Ray transfers to UNLV this season from Walla Walla Junior College in Washington after beginning her college career at the University of Oregon. She played her freshman season and began last season at Walla Walla before transferring mid-season to Walla Walla where she did not play. She had averaged 6.8 points and 9.2 rebounds with the Ducks through six games last season. Ray was thrust into the Oregon starting lineup as a freshman and finished her first year leading the team in field goal accuracy (.557) and third in scoring with an 8.9 per game scoring average. She quickly grew accustomed to the collegiate game, averaging double figures in scoring through the first 12 games before a back injury slowed her pace. She scored a career high 19 points against Western Illinois in the fourth game of her career. She proved just as effective against national caliber competition, recording 15 points and 11 rebounds vs. fourth ranked Cal State Long Beach. She scored in double figures in 11 of 27 games as a frosh, and brought down ten or more rebounds four times including twice as a sophomore. She led her team in rebounds four times during her freshman season and was third on the club in field goals made (97) despite averaging just over 21 minutes a game. Linda Staley returns for her second season in a Lady Rebel uniform after appearing in all 32 games a year ago with nine starts. She posted a 4.2 scoring average with 1.8 rebounds per game, and recorded season highs with 12 points at Pacific and seven rebounds at Fresno State. Labeled by Lady Rebel coaches as "Ms. Consistency," Staley will be looked upon this season as one of four guards to handle the ball. A three-game road trip to northern California last season produced some of Linda's finest performances. At San Jose State, she shot 5-for-5 from the field, scored 11 points, and added a season high four assists and four steals. At Pacific two nights later, Staley saw court time for a season high 35 minutes, scored a season high 12 points, and added four rebounds and four assists. Still two nights later at Fresno, she scored four points and grabbed seven rebounds in 32 minutes.

Staley came to UNLV a year ago with the most impressive list of credentials of any athlete to come out of Palmdale, California. She is regarded as having one of the finest jump shots from California's 1986 recruiting crop, and is the only player in Palmdale High School history to have her jersey retired. She finished as Palmdale's (coach George Corisis) career scoring leader with 1,539 points and led her team to an 88-15 record over four seasons. Palmdale's best team during Staley's tenure finished 38-2 on the year. She averaged 24 points, 11 rebounds, seven steals, and six assists during her senior campaign. Her outstanding shooting touch was demonstrated by her 86% free throw accuracy. A four-time letter-winner in basketball, she also lettered one year each in volleyball and swimming. She was chosen to high school All-American teams by Street & Smith, McGregor, and Gatorade. She was a member of the Gatorade Circle of Champions and named the Golden League Player of the Year. Staley was a three-time All-CIF recipient and All-Golden League. She was voted the CIF Junior of the Year in 1985, and the CIF AAA Player of the Year in 1986. Following her junior season, she was voted the USA Developmental Summer League Player of the Year.

Linda Staley is the university's Assistant Director of Admissions.
Cynthia Thomas

Cynthia Thomas returns to UNLV in 1987-88 after coming into her own late last season at the PCAA Tournament. Thomas struck for a season and career high 16 points in the PCAA title game against Cal State Long Beach. She averaged 7.1 points and 4.8 rebounds last season, trampling only Angela Christian with 5.0 rebounds per game in PCAA conference play. Thomas appeared in 24 of 30 games last season with three starts, and is expected to make major contributions toward strengthening the Lady Rebels' inside game this season. She pulled down 14 rebounds against Fresno State and blocked seven shots against UC Santa Barbara. Cynthia averaged 36 points and 16 rebounds at Rolling Hills High School where she earned Street & Smith second team All-America honors in 1983 and 1984, and Parade third team honors in '84. She was an All-CIF first team selection as a senior, and chosen the 1983 and 1984 USA Development League Co-Player of the Year. She lettered three years in basketball, two in volleyball, and one year in track. She received honorable mention All-CIF accolades in volleyball. She participated in the 1983 U.S. Sports Festival in Colorado Springs and the 1985 Festival in Baton Rouge, Louisiana. Thomas was invited to the U.S. National Team trials last summer in Colorado Springs and the Olympic Team trials in 1985.

Cynthia is one of the most agile, mobile, and skilled athletes that we have had in our program. She is capable of playing with the best in the game, and with increased maturity she now is cognizant of her potential. She is very talented and can run "well for her size. She has the potential at times to dominate the game. All she needs is more game time. She played real well through the last two-thirds of last season, particularly at Fresno State and the remainder of the schedule. She was one of our finer players at the end of last season despite sitting out for a year-and-a-half. She went to the national team trials in Colorado Springs and looked very good despite not making the team. She's a legitimate 6-4, she's quick, and very coordinated. She's a real gifted kid, and we think she's going to be a super player, said UNLV coach Sheila Strike-Bolla.

CATHY WATLET

Returning for her third season, Cathy will once again be looked to for defensive strength and stability in the Appar. In 28 of 30 games last season, she averaged 3.1 points and 2.2 rebounds including a season high 11 points against Northern Arizona. Watlet pulled down nine rebounds in the team's season opener against Southern Methodist in the 7-Up Desert Classic. She appeared in 25 games as a freshman, averaging 1.7 points and 1.7 rebounds per game. She hit a remarkable 83.0% from the charity stripe as a freshman.

Watlet prepped at San Gabriel High School (coach Bob Stand) where she lettered four years in basketball. She earned first team All-CIF honors as a junior and senior, and was named to the Los Angeles Times All-Star team. She was also named San Gabriel Valley and Foothill League Player of the Year as a senior, averaging 20 points and 11 rebounds. She was a member of the honor society and California Scholarship Federation with a 3.4 grade point average.

* Cathy is a classic case of a high school center who went unchallenged during most of her high school career. I think she really came into her own when she began her college career and enjoyed a couple of years adjusting to the differences of the college game. We expect Cathy to be a consistent factor for the Lady Rebels both on the court and off, as she has become the epitome of the ultimate team player. She is very strong and possesses all the natural attributes to develop into a very fine college center. She has a good shooting touch and is one of our team's most accurate free throw shooters. Cathy has good skills around the hoop and has developed a more sophisticated inside game. She also has become a team leader and has adjusted to virtually every role we have ever asked her to play,* said UNLV co-coach Sheila Strike-Bolla.

THE UNIVERSITY OF NEVADA, LAS VEGAS

The University of Nevada, Las Vegas, is a young, growing institution that is making significant progress toward its goal of becoming one of the nation’s leading urban universities. With a faculty of more than 370, some 75 percent of whom hold doctorates, UNLV offers 50 undergraduate and 30 graduate degree programs to a student population that in fall 1986 reached 14,000, a record enrollment.

UNLV’s 335-acre campus is nestled in the metropolitan area south of the City of Las Vegas. Its academic colleges include Arts and Letters, Business and Economics, Education, Fine Arts, Health Sciences, Hospitality Administration; and Science, Mathematics and Engineering. Two schools exist within the college: the School of Health, Physical Education, Recreation and Dance, and the Howard R. Hughes School of Engineering.

Although the university is now only three decades old, it has maintained a healthy rate of growth, both in programs and physical plant. In 1985 the Nevada Legislature appropriated $14.7 million for construction of the university’s Walter P. Rea Building. The university’s growth rate of $50 million each year, which was formed in 1984 as a means of strengthening the university is now showing signs of slowing. Prior to this point, the university had been experiencing rapid growth in programs in technological higher education.

The recently established Honors Program and the Margaret Elardi Nevada Scholars Program have helped the university attract many academically outstanding new students. Thanks to substantial donations from the late Mrs. Margaret Elardi, the Nevada Scholars Program offers scholarships for valedictorians to enroll at UNLV.

In addition to its regular courses, UNLV offers more than 600 courses through its Division of Continuing Education, which enrolls 16,000 students annually. The university operates an on-campus Center for Business and Economic Research, Center for Economic Education, Center for Applied Computer Science, Environmental Research Center (in cooperation with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency), Desert Biology Research Center, Center for Survey Research, and other research and public-service centers.

UNLV President Dr. Robert C. Maxson

Dr. Robert C. Maxson became president of the University of Nevada, Las Vegas, on August 1, 1984. Before that, he served as the Senior Vice President for Academic Affairs at the University of Houston. In that capacity, he was the chief academic officer of the 45,000-student university.

Maxson earned his doctorate from Mississippi State University in 1970. His major areas of study and interest have been higher education administration and public policy. He has been particularly interested in the phenomenon of leadership in institutions of higher education. He has also written numerous articles which have appeared in a variety of scholarly journals.

Presidents Maxson and his wife, the former Sylvia Parrish, live in the Presidential Home in Las Vegas. Their daughter, Kelly (15) is a sophomore at the University of Nevada, Reno, and their son Todd is in his second year at the University of Texas Medical School in Galveston, Texas.

When President Maxson joined UNLV he said, “My primary goal is to enhance the academic reputation of this institution. To do that, we must recruit the best student scholars and faculty scholars we can find to join the excellent college of Intercollegiate Athletics

Director of the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics Dr. Brad Rothermel

During the past three academic years, the University of Nevada, Las Vegas had each of its 14 intercollegiate athletic programs, with only one exception, represented in post-season, national competition.

In addition, most of these teams were ranked nationally in the Top 20 at one time or another. Much of the credit for this achievement goes to the American Council on Education, and the Western College Association.

The University of Nevada, Las Vegas offers 55 undergraduate and 30 graduate degree programs to a student population that in fall 1986 reached 14,000, a record enrollment. The university’s growth rate of $50 million each year, which was formed in 1984 as a means of strengthening the university’s efforts to provide outstanding new students.

Prior to his appointment at UNLV in 1981, he was Associate Director and Business Manager for the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics at West Virginia University. From 1974 to 1976 he was employed as Assistant Director and Business Manager for the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics at Kansas State University.

In his new position, Rothermel supervised the intercollegiate athletic programs for men and women while serving as Director of the University of Nevada, Las Vegas

Health and Physical Education at George Williams College in Downers Grove, Illinois, from 1971 to 1974. From 1965 to 1967, he served as Supervisor of Counseling and Research Development at New Mexico State University.

In addition to his above mentioned athletic positions, Rothermel has served as an administrator in numerous educational, recreational and financial environments. He also possesses a strong background in research and experience as a competitor at all levels from elementary school through the professional ranks.

Rothermel received his B.A. in 1965 and a M.S. degree in 1961 from the College of Applied Human Science at the University of Illinois, Champaign-Urbana. He received his B.S. from Northern Illinois University in 1960.

Rothermel and his wife, Suzanne, a first-grade teacher in the Clark County School District, have two daughters: Beth (19) and Christine (15).

THE '86-87 season saw the Runnin' Rebels steamroll to a 37-2 record and a perfect 18-0 mark in the PCAA. The team flirted with a nation-wide #1 ranking throughout the season and finished the year in the PCAA Championship for the fourth straight season.

Several other Rebel teams also received national attention last season including women's basketball, track and field, swimming, and tennis.

The Lady Rebel basketball team flirted with national rankings on several occasions and finished the year in the PCAA Championship for the fourth straight season. It also was the fifth straight campaign with 20 or more wins for the Lady Rebels.

Junior Trece Hall captured a National Indoor Track Championship and the Lady Rebels finished 12th overall as a team. Hall set three NCAA indoor records with a time of 2:41.08 in the 1,500 meters and earned All-America honors with sophomore teammate Prudence Jackson who finished sixth nationally in the 55 meter hurdles.

Junior Sally Fleisher and Wendy Hoffman-Meyers each qualified for the NCAA Swimming Championships and received All-America accolades. Fleisher also was named the PCAA Female Swimmer of the Year while senior Don Wilhelm was named the PCAA Male Swimmer of the Year and qualified for the NCAA Championships in diving competition. Head Coach Jim Reitz was named the PCAA Men's Coach of the Year.

Senior tennis player Scott Warner was named PCAA Tennis Player of the Year for the second consecutive season. He earned All-America honors and qualified for the NCAA Championships for the second year before being defeated in the quarter-finals.

Sophomore softball star Tammy Bahde was named a GTE/COSIDA Academic All-America. Overall, Rebel sports combined for an overall record of 771-174-7 (.592) in 1986-87 with a 67-60 record (.528) in PCAA competition.
UNLV RETIRED JERSEYS
Misty Thomas Among Five Rebel Athletes
With Retired Jerseys

Since the formation of the University of Nevada, Las Vegas, 30 years ago in 1985, Rebel athletes have become widely recognized and respected both locally and nationally. It is rare though that a single athlete produces such an impact so as to be remembered as a fixture in his or her program's rise to national prominence. UNLV has been fortunate to have several of its 14 intercollegiate sports rise to the upper echelon of NCAA competition, and according- ly, UNLV has been fortunate to have had the services of David Cohen, Randall Cunningham, Sidney Green, Robbie Ryerson, and Misty Thomas.

These five distinguished Rebel athletes helped carry the proud UNLV athletic tradition both on and off the playing field, and four of them have continued into national prominence.

ALL-AMERICAN (1974 and 1985), he became UNLV's first soccer player chosen in the first round of the MLS draft when the San Diego Sockers moved him the 13th player selected overall. Ryaner currently plays for the Burntore Blast.

FOOTBALL: #12, Randall Cunningham brought the to the Las Vegas campus the school's first All-American quarterback. Cunningham, also an All-American punter, broke 14 UNLV total offense, passing, and punting records during his senior season, and current- ly plays for the Pittsburgh Steelers. Cunningham re- mains the Rebels' career leader in total offense, punting, and virtually all passing categories.

BASKETBALL: #21. A two-time All-American and first round draft pick of the Chicago Bulls in '83, Sidney Green established himself as one of the premier Rebels of all-time during his playing days from 1979-83. Green led the Rebels in scoring and rebounding during each of his final two seasons, and currently ranks atop the UNLV career rebounding list. He is second in the career scoring chart. A native New Yorker, Green was chosen the 1982-83 PCAA Player of the Year as he led the Rebels to a dynamic 28-3 record, which is rare though only once during the regular season, and again in the NCAA Final Four, to eventu- nal national champion Indiana. The Rebels once again claimed "Best in the West" honors, bestowed to an undefeated PCAA regular season champion (UNLV's fifth consecutive title) as well as a PCAA Tour- nament championship. Along the way, the conference and UNLV records fell, a pre-season NIT championship was claimed and three Rebels were drafted by the NBA. Armon Gilliam was the se- cond player in the draft to be selected. Of all accomplishments the one which the Rebels may claim most pride is the fact that five of six Rebel seniors graduated and the sixth will graduate in the fall.

RUNNIN' REBELS IN FINAL FOUR

Capping off a season which had the entire country feeling "Gotta Love the Runnin' Rebels," Coach Jerry Tarka- niand his UNLV basketball squad compiled a 37-2 record, losing only once during the regular season, and again in the NCAA Final Four, to eventu- nal national champion Indiana. The Rebels once again claimed "Best in the West" honors, bestowed to an undefeated PCAA regular season champion (UNLV's fifth consecutive title) as well as a PCAA Tour- nament championship. BAC-
The city of Las Vegas, Nevada is a thriving metropolitan area nestled in a desert valley near the southernmost tip of the state. Most people know Las Vegas as the Entertainment Capital of the World. But the city has many other attractions. Like other large cities, Las Vegas has fine libraries, museums, community theatres, art galleries, and parks which are enjoyed and supported by more than 450,000 local residents. As one of the fastest-growing areas in the United States, Southern Nevada is an example of modern urban living for families and individuals. Mild desert temperatures make outdoor recreation possible throughout the year in Southern Nevada. Within a half-hour’s drive from the city lie the shores of Lake Mead, the largest man-made lake in the United States. Local residents enjoy year ‘round sailing, water skiing, swimming, and fishing. Massive Hoover Dam and the entire Colorado River recreation area have become a mecca for tourists, boaters, windsurfers, and fishermen. A short drive north of Las Vegas are the snow-skiing and hiking trails of 12,000-foot Mount Charleston. Year ‘round the mountain’s cool temperatures, tall pines, ski area, picnicking and camping grounds, and trails are popular with UNLV students, local residents, and visitors. Other nearby sights abound. Valley of Fire State Park offers a beautiful view of deep red sandstone cliffs, Indian petroglyphs, and desert wildflowers. Red Rock Canyon is a popular hiking spot and scenic drive. Within a few hours’ drive will find Grand Canyon; Death Valley; Zion, Bryce Canyon, and Cedar Breaks national parks; Brianhead and Mount Holly ski resorts; the beaches and amusement parks of Southern California; and the art galleries of Phoenix. Las Vegas enjoys a mild yearly climate, yet there are noticeable seasonal differences. The annual average temperature is 79 degrees, but it is not unusual for the mercury to hit the 110 degree mark during summer and dip into the 30s in the winter. Annual rainfall amounts to only 3.5 inches, much of it falling in the winter when it is snowing in the nearby mountains.
The University of Nevada, Las Vegas has been chosen as one of just 16 universities around the country to host the international basketball teams of the Soviet Union this November. UNLV and the University of North Carolina are the only institutions to host both the Soviet men's and women's squads.

The women's team makes their first trek to the United States since 1976 while the Soviet men's team returns after an American tour just two years ago. Las Vegas marks the sixth stop on an eight city tour for the women's team on the evening of Sunday, November 15th at the Thomas & Mack Center.

Tickets for the women's game are priced at $5, $4, $3, and $2. Ticket prices for the men's game are priced at $10, $7, $5, and $3.

Tickets may be purchased at the Thomas & Mack Center Box Office or by calling (702) 739-3207.

1987 SCHEDULE
Friday, November 27

Saturday, November 28
1:30 & 3:00 p.m.

The UNLV women's basketball program kicks off the 8th Annual 7-Up Desert Classic this season with three new teams added to the tournament field. Team champions and tournament host UNLV should attract a fourth team in 1987 after falling to Stanford in last year's championship.

Excitement and a fresh cast should highlight the 8th annual event as all three visiting opponents are new to the UNLV schedule, each coming to Las Vegas for the first time ever.

Osting back to the school's infant stage in women's basketball in 1978-80, the Desert Classic has created six different champions in its eight years including the eventual NCAA champion in 1980, the University of Texas. A total of 20 teams have graced the floor during the Desert Classic with opponents ranging from all regions of the United States.

The Spuds Mackenzie Bud Light Women's Basketball Tournament returns to UNLV for 1987 with a lineup of returning champions and a national powerhouse field. UNLV has won the prestigious title five years since its inception in 1982-83, but it has been five years since the Lady Rebels last championed in 1986-87.

The tournament originated as the Las Vegas Round Robin Tournament and has evolved during its nine-year history into the Las Vegas Basketball Tournament, and now incorporates a Desert Classic.

After a six-team format for the first two years, the "round robin" schedule was dropped in favor of a four-team, two-day championship tournament in 1984-85. Six different champions have been crowned over the years. Any returning team must have qualified for the NCAA tournament in order to compete.

This year's participating teams include Arizona State, Arkansas, Texas A&M, Penn State, Oregon, Stephen F. Austin, and Western Kentucky.

THE RECORD BOOK

1987-88
A Look Back at 1986-87

"Another 20-Win Season"

Following a sluggish 6-6 start, UNLV’s 1986-87 Lady Rebel basketball team posted an outstanding 15-3 mark over the season’s final eighteen games to finish 21-9 overall and 13-5 in the Pacific Coast Athletic Association. With at least 20 wins under their belts for a fifth straight season, the Lady Rebels joined PCAA Champ and Final Four participant Cal State Long Beach, perennial power Fresno State, and upstart Hawaii as fellow conference schools to topple the 20-win plateau.

A back-and-forth beginning was earmarked by second place finishes in both the UNLV/7-Up Desert Classic and UNLV/Spuds Mackenzie Bud Light Tournament. And the club’s 1-3 record after four PCAA games was certainly uncharacteristic of Rebel expectations, as well.

However, road wins at Pacific and San Jose State opened new light as the Lady Rebs would stumble once in Fresno before reeling off eight straight wins. UNLV finished the season with 13 wins in the last 15 games with both losses coming at the hands of eventual Western Regional Champion Cal State Long Beach. The Lady Rebels advanced to the PCAA title game for the fourth straight season although this time were denied the tournament crown for the first time.

The 1986-87 Lady Rebels were a young team comprised of just one senior, two juniors, and four sophomores and freshmen. Lone senior Angela Christian turned in outstanding performances all season long. She led the Lady Rebels in nine PCAA games in nine PCAA games and nine statistical categories including 619 total points (20.6) as she became the second leading scorer in Lady Rebel history with 1,631 points. She also broke records for most career games played with 123 and most blocked shots in a season with 58. She earned first team All-PCAA honors with teammates Karen Hall (second team) and Geannine Jordan (PCAA All-Freshman Team). UNLV rebounded in 23 games with a 10.3 average.

Lady Rebel Co-Head Coaches Jim Bolla and Sheila Strike-Bolla concluded another exciting season in their young careers. Jim Bolla’s career record now stands at 117-34 (.775) after five seasons, while Sheila Strike-Bolla’s career mark rose to 142-62 (.692) over seven years.

1987-88 Rule Changes

Three-Point Field Goal Among ’87-’88 Rule Revisions

The Women’s Basketball Rules Committee adopted the three-point field goal from a distance of 19 feet nine inches from the center of the basket. The rule was used experimentally at 38 conferences in 1986-87. The conferences indicated that the rule added excitement to the game and provided teams an opportunity to come from behind.

Use of the airbone shooter rule with nulify the basket if an airbone shooter commits a player-control foul before returning to the floor.

The penalty for an intentional foul on the shooter when the shot is missed was changed to two free throws and possession of the ball.

A player who calls the ball dead upon possession of the ball will no longer have three additional seconds to hold the ball.

During a free-throw attempt, only the four marked lane spaces may be occupied.

All other players must be outside the three-point arc and behind the free-throw line.

All alternating possession throw-in will be designated on the sideline and not longer than the free throw line.

Helen J. Stewart School: The Turtles

The Lady Rebel basketball team has enjoyed a warm and continuing friendship with the students at Helen J. Stewart School in Las Vegas and with their no-educational basketball team, THE TURTLES. Each year, the Lady Rebels put on a clinic for the children at Helen J. Stewart and take on the challenge of a scrimmage against the Turtles. To date, it's the Turtles 3, Lady Rebels 0! Look out for the Turtles at halftime of several Lady Rebel games this season.

The Pacific Coast Athletic Association

The desire to form a Division I football conference was the catalyst that led to the birth of the Pacific Coast Athletic Association in 1969. Now in its 19th season of existence, the PCAA men’s conference consists of ten members, five of which were there in the league’s beginnings.

Charter members California State University, Long Beach; Fresno State University; San Jose State University; University of California, Santa Barbara; and University of the Pacific are now joined by California State University Fullerton; New Mexico State University; University of California, Irvine; Utah State University and The University of Nevada, Las Vegas.

The PCAA currently conducts championships in ten men’s sports, and in the last five years has expanded to include eight women’s championships. The PCAA women’s conference includes all men’s members except for New Mexico State and Utah State. The University of Hawaii and San Diego State University are also members of the PCAA women’s conference.

Heading up the conference office staff is tenth-year Commissioner Lewis A. Cryer, who has overseen the expansion of the conference from a strictly statewide affiliation to a regional conference which is recognized nationally. Cryer is joined in the conference office by Assistant Commissioner Jack O’Cain, Assistant to the Commissioner Jody McRoberts, Assistant Director of Information Andy Geerken, Supervisor of Football Officials Jack O’Cain, Supervisor of Basketball Officials John Daniels, and Administrative Assistants Patricia Sampson and Charmaine Carlson.

The PCAA office is located at 1700 East Dyer Road, Suite 140, Santa Ana, CA 92705. The PCAA phone number is (714) 261-2525.
