NEVADA CAMPAIGN FINANCING: U.S. HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, 2020

Elections & Governance Fact Sheet No. 2 | October 2021

Prepared by: Kristian Thymianos, Olivia K. Cheche, and William E. Brown, Jr.

PURPOSE:

In the 2020 election cycle, Nevada's U.S. House of Representatives delegation fundraised a combined total of $9,994,636. This fact sheet summarizes the campaign donations and expenditures of these representatives. The data are collected from the Open Secrets website.¹

ABOUT THE DATA:

The Open Secrets website reports current and historical campaign finance summaries for all congressional representatives (United States Senate and House of Representatives) across the United States. These campaign finance summaries include data on the funds raised by representatives during each election cycle, the geographic and demographic characteristics of contributors, campaign expenditures, legislation, news, and organizations' political action committee (PAC) and individual contributions.

Nevada has four representatives in the United States House of Representatives: Representative Dina Titus, District 1;² Representative Mark Amodei, District 2;³ Representative Susie Lee, District 3;⁴ and Representative Steven Horsford, District 4.⁵

KEY FINDINGS:

1. Representative Lee (District 3) raised the largest amount of money: $4,748,018, and Representative Titus (District 1) raised the smallest amount of money, $701,332.
2. Nevada's three Democratic representatives (Titus in District 1, Lee in District 3, and Horsford in District 4) spent a portion of their funds on salaries, while Republican Representative Amodei (District 2) did not.
3. Votesane PAC accumulated the highest individual contributions at $77,275.
4. District 4 had the highest top five contributions totaling $207,210 and District 2 compiled the lowest total, $55,950.
5. Two organizations⁶ appeared in the top five contributors list for multiple districts: MGM Resorts International appears in the top contributor lists for Districts 1, 3, and 4, and United for A Strong America appears in the top contributor lists for Districts 3 and 4.

Figure 2 displays the proportion of campaign expenditures allocated for media, fundraising, administrative procedures, salaries, and all other purchases during the 2020 election cycle for each member of Nevada’s U.S. House of Representatives delegation. Examples of “other” expenditures include strategy and research, contributions to other candidates, and unclassifiable purchases. Representative Lee (District 3) and Representative Horsford (District 4) spent most of their funds on media promotions. Nevada’s three Democratic representatives (Titus in District 1, Lee in District 3, and Horsford in District 4) spent a portion of their funds on salaries, while Representative Amodei (District 2) did not.

Table 1 shows the top five campaign contributors for each congressional district in Nevada. This table includes the organization name, the contributions to a PAC, the individual contributions, the total organization contributions, and the total contributions of the top five organizations in each district. Note, the organizations themselves did not donate, rather the money came from the organizations' PACs, their individual members or employees or owners, and those individuals' immediate families. Organization totals include subsidiaries and affiliates⁷. For Individual Contributions and Organization totals, there is a color scale to compare contribution sizes.
