Metrics illustrate service to the community through the number of students who graduate annually with health-related degrees and are ready to enter the workforce, contributing to health care in Nevada and other states. Health-related degrees are those offered by Allied Health Sciences, School of Nursing, School of Public Health, and School of Dental Medicine. The first class from the School of Medicine will graduate in 2021.

Diverse and specialized faculty and staff promote community well-being and health through development of a practice-ready workforce and collaboration with community agencies. In addition, the contributions of the Academic Health Center connect to other Top Tier goal areas such as student achievement, research, and community partnerships.
