THE COLLEGE GAME

BAND NIGHT
TONIGHT'S GAME

UNLV vs
BOISE STATE

By Dominic Clark
UNLV Sports Information Director

Ron Meyer and his dedicated staff believe in emotion and motivation and the Rebels have been energetically motivated to play football this season.

Boise State College, a perennial small college power, represents the stiffest test of the season for the rapidly developing Rebel gridiron program and a victory over the talented Broncos would guarantee a winning season for the budding power in the West. A Rebel win would also bring the most national recognition a UNLV football team has ever received as the Broncos are rated in the top five teams in the nation.

Boise is 4-0 with victories over the University of Idaho, 47-24, Montana State, 27-17, Portland State, 64-7, and Weber State College, 34-7. UNLV counters with a 4-1 record with victories over the state College of Arkansas, 38-6, Cal State, Los Angeles, 42-7, Marshall University, 31-9 and Northeast Louisiana University, 26-0, and the lone loss was a 7-3 heartbreaker to Utah State University.

The Broncos of successful head coach Tony Knap are the most offensive-minded team in the nation, averaging 478 yards per game with a well-balanced rushing and passing attack. Quarterbacks Jim McMillan and Ron Autele alternate to give the Broncos an average of well over 200 yards a game through the air.

McMillan has completed 673 of his passes (37 of 55) for 550 yards and eight touchdowns while Autele is not far behind with a complete rate of .513 (20 of 39) for 265 yards and two touchdowns.

Leading receivers for the Bruising Broncos are Don Hutt (19 catches for 298 yards and five touchdowns) and Dick Donohoe (14 catches for 225 yards and four touchdowns). Marcellus Smith is not far behind with a 128-7.1) and Dick Donohoe also caught one td pass for eight six-pointers for the year.

UNLV's Big Red defense will be put to the most able passing attack it will face this year and key injuries in the defensive secondary will be a factor in tonight's tussle. Starting left cornerback Ronnie Brockman is doubtful with a shoulder injury.

The Rebel defense is giving up only 188.6 yards a game and has allowed four touchdowns to be scored on them for an average opponent scoring average of only 5.8 points per game.

Junior speedster Tailback Mike Thomas continues to assault the UNLV record book as he now has carried 115 times for 637 yards and seven touchdowns. He has also caught one td pass for eight six-pointers for the year.

As someone once said, 'it's games like these that separate the men from the boys.'

HOW FUTURE REBEL GAMES ARE FARED LAST WEEKEND:

* Homecoming

Head Coach: Ronald Meyer (Purdue '63) (702) 739-3400
Athletic Director: Bill Ireland (702) 739-3483

It is unusual to note that throughout the history of motion pictures there never has been a truly great sports picture. It's strange because sports plays such a large part in the lives of most Americans. Why hasn't there, then, been a sports movie that walked off with seven or eight academy awards? Never has any picture about any sport won an academy award, and most sports movies have been just plain bad.

There have been some exceptions of course, but most of us would be hard pressed to come up with a truly memorable picture about say, hockey. There were some fair baseball pictures, such as the Babe Ruth Story with Gary Cooper in the title role. Then there was the Monty Stratton Story with Jimmy Stewart, which is remembered almost as much as Monty Stratton.

In the 30's and 40's there were a rash of movies about boxing. Here again most were pretty unbelievable. The stars were always such athletic giants as Mickey Rooney, Ricardo Montalban, Danny Kaye or Sammy Davis, Jr. Here again there were a few that stood out, with the best being Requiem For A Heavyweight with Anthony Quinn.

At about the same time period the movies were fascinated with horse racing. They turned out about one a week about the unknown horse from Fresmin, Kentucky that emerged to win the Derby. I always wondered what derby. And once again there was Mickey Rooney who had tossed aside his boxing gloves and put on riding silks. Mickey was probably the only person ever to win the Santam weight title and ride a Kentucky Derby winner in the same year.

Football movies used to be popular too, but equally as bland. Burt Lancaster was good as Jim Thorpe as All American. How many remember Governor Ronald Reagan as the "Bipper" of Notre Dame in the film Knute Rockne? Then there was that classic, Crazy Legs, in which the great Ram end played himself. It was to be his only movie role.

But lately, the tide has turned. Some realism, some believability has managed to creep into sports movies. Some of the best are Downhill Racer with Robert Redford and Brian's Song, the made for TV movie that outdid Love Story for most tears shed.

Still, Hollywood can't quite grasp the drama, the humor and the skills of sports. Until that happens there never will be a great sports movie.

1. What was Tarzan's real name?
2. What was the name of John Bercut's Tipton's (The Millionaire) Estate?
3. Who starred in the movie, National Velvet?
4. What was the little people in the country of Oz called?
5. What were the names of Donald Duck's nephews?
6. Who lived in the mansion called Xanadu?
7. What was Zorro's father's name?
8. Who played Lois Lane on television's Superman series?
9. Who was Captain Marvel's arch-rival?
10. What did Midnight the Cat say on the old Buster Brown T.V. show?

A Fan's Glossary

BY JOHN MOSER
R-J Sportswriter

Every football program, even though many won't admit it, wants to be rated high in the national wire-service rankings. “They don't mean a damn thing,” Ohio State coach Woody Hayes has said of polls. University of Southern California coach John McKay has offered similar sentiments.

Polls, however, just may be the only way an independent college football program has a way of expressing itself. It certainly is the only way that school may qualify for a post-season game.

The University of Nevada, Las Vegas, has already knocked off a major college (Marshall University) and the 14th ranked small college team in the nation, Northwest Louisiana, en route to a 4-1 record. The Rebels battled another major college foe, Utah State, to the wire before losing 7-3.

Surely this would qualify them to be listed among the top 10 small college teams in the nation. Yet, they aren't.

Why? Because polls are largely popularity contests. Forty-eight sportswriters (none in Nevada) went in the Associated Press small college poll, and have to pick from among some 500 colleges that play small college football. It's a good bet very few of them actually see the teams they pick in the top 10, and therefore make their decisions on hearsay, flak from the schools, and on who's been rated in the past.

Here are some sure-fire methods for the Rebels to get themselves rated among the best:

1. BEAT EVERYBODY 82-0 - This is the simplest and most direct way of attaining those hard-to-come-by national rankings. Poll-voters love to see slaughters, even though fans in the stands have a tendency to fall asleep at halftime. The only problem with this method is that you have to schedule powerhouse foes, like llll, Texas - El Paso, and Vassar.

2. PAD YOUR STATISTICS - Don't be satisfied with a good effort by your running back, make it a great effort when you turn in your post-game stats to the NCAA. If he gains 147 yards, make it 197. If he scores two touchdowns, make it four. The only thing you'll be sacrificing is your credibility.

3. BRIBE YOUR FRIENDLY SPORTS WRITERS - Find out the name of a guy who votes in the polls, and offer him an all-expense paid show at Caesars Palace. If he doesn't come across, pull the plug at the last minute. That'll make him think.

4. PLAY GOOD FOOTBALL AND HOPE FOR THE BEST - Cream has a way of floating to the top. You usually get what you pay for, what you work for, and what you deserve. And nobody has worked harder than Ron Meyer or Dominic Clark.

One of the persons helping to formulate the activities is Fred Albrecht, the university's first Director of Alumni Relations, who accepted the new post just last month. Already he is immersed in the job of updating an alumni mailing list so that he can inform the school's former students about next week's happenings.

“Our graduates are out there,” Albrecht says. “We just have to locate them so we can get them the word on what we're doing.”

Tonight's game against highly-rated Boise State has undoubtedly drawn a few of these “lost” alumni out of hiding. So if you read this and qualify as an ex-athlete, give Fred a call on Monday morning or drop him a note with your address.

The first thing he'll tell you about will be the details of Homecoming '73.

Here is a brief outline:

- M O N D A Y
  - A six-day arts and crafts fair, with hundreds of items on sale to the general public, starts in the Student Union.

- T U E S D A Y
  - A music and comedy show at noon in the Union, and the annual powder puff football games (also worth a few laughs).

- W E D N E S D A Y
  - A barbeque and concert at lunchtime and an 8 p.m. double feature movie (“Lemans” and “Vanishing Point”) all in the Union.

- T H U R S D A Y
  - Dr. S. I. Hayes, general semantics and former president of San Francisco State University, speaks at 8 p.m. in the Union Ballroom.

- F R I D A Y
  - Floats will be on display all day. A pep rally is planned for the noon hour and a semi-formal Homecoming Dance sponsored by GSUN and the Student Hotel Association is open to all students and alumni.

- S A T U R D A Y

NCAA Sponsors 33 National Championships

The 1973-74 intercollegiate athletic season will mark the first time in history that the NCAA will hold national championships in three divisions. In addition to the first-ever championships in National Collegiate Division III, the coming season also marks the 90th anniversary for the National Collegiate Tennis Championship. This is the oldest National Collegiate Championship contested. It was held for the first time in 1883.

Two other firsts will occur in 1973-74. The NCAA will crown its first football champions in Divisions II and III, and lacrosse will be contested for a national championship in Division II for the first time.

The new divisional make-up of the Association, which was established at a Special Convention in August 1979, will increase in number the more than 7,500 student-athletes who now compete annually in NCAA-sponsored events. Through the years, over 6,100 competitors representing 234 institutions have earned the coveted title of “National Champion.”

The new month-by-month schedule of NCAA championships are slated for 1973-74.
