UNLV TRAINING ROOM

Providing care and attempting diligently to prevent all athletic injuries for the UNLV Rebels is the school’s fine training room under the capable direction of Rodney Poinexter, beginning his fourth year with the program after graduating from North Carolina State University in 1971.

Quickly becoming one of the most valuable persons on the UNLV athletic staff, Poinexter has developed an extremely efficient operation enhanced as the "Nice Guy" award winners for 1975 by the co-operation of local physicians. The Rebel athletic program over the years has been Dr. Theodore Jacobs, who with Dr. Armour, was honored this past July for his less hours of his time and ability to help the Rebel athletic program.

Dr. Thomas Armour, Mike Sacca, Paul Lenae and Ron Nold. Nold, who is also the student-trainer for Las Vegas, is in his second year with the Rebel athletic program.

Also assisting greatly in the Rebel athletic program over the years has been Dr. Thomas Armour who has donated countless hours of his time and ability to help the Rebel athletic program.

Joan Gillette is beginning her first full year as the UNLV trainer for Women's Athletics. Helping Poindexter in the university's new training room complex at the Paul McDermott Physical Education Center are student assistants Mike Bernstein, Mike Baca, Paul Lenae and Ron Nold. Nold, who is also the student-trainer for Valley High in Las Vegas, is in his second year with the Rebel training room, while the other three are all rookies.

Miss Joan Gillette is beginning her first full year as the UNLV trainer for Women's Athletics. She is a very qualified trainer from the State of Texas and will handle the four Women's intercollegiate sports as well as the training room for women students and faculty at UNLV.

By Dominic Clark
UNLV Sports Information Director

them 29-14, and they lost to the University of Montana, 14-3, last weekend, making 10 tumbles during the game.

The Idaho tie was an impressive one. It was a 31-31 game against the powerful Boise State Broncos. In that game, the Vandals had two second-half leads of 14 points, but UNLV knew how tough the Broncos can be.

UNLV’s freshman wide receiver Henry Vereen has already placed his name in the Rebel record book as he has returned 23 kickoffs for a school record 502 yards for an average return of 21.8 yards per return. His marks are for the most kickoff return yardage in a single season and a career. For all the up-to-date Rebel stats, see page 25 of tonight’s program.

Athlete, Coach—James A. Van Fleet

by STEVE WELLER, Buffalo Evening News
President Football Writers Association of America

The pay for coaching football at the University of Florida in the early 1950s would not propel a man into an early and plush retirement. But the fringe benefits were excellent.

"If you can coach a football squad and command an ROTC battalion you can command an Army. That was my training for command."

So says Gen. James A. Van Fleet who, in a distinguished military and athletic career that began more than 60 years ago, has done all three of those jobs and just about everything in between.

Gen. Van Fleet, whose classmates at West Point included Dwight D. Eisenhower and Omar Bradley, was a major serving as military advisor to the ROJC unit at Florida in 1921 when then head coach W. G. Kline asked if he’d help tutor the Gators.

"I agreed," says Gen. Van Fleet. "I do not recall that I received any pay at all."

Two years later Van Fleet was the head man, making $500 a year for bringing the university its first national football recognition.

Turned Tide on Alabama

Much of that recognition came at the expense of Alabama, which was headed for the Southern Championship before losing, 16-6, to the visiting Gators on a rain-soaked field in 1923.

The Crimson Tide led, 6-0, at halftime when Van Fleet assessed the situation and began practicing the art of command.

"We had on those old ribbed stockings," he says, "and they were carrying a couple of pounds of mud each. I had my boys take off their stockings and the regulars changed uniforms with the ones not playing."

"I waited until the last minute to take the team back out into the rain. Alabama’s coach Wallace Wade, was so mad he never spoke to me again. But, as I remember, he had his boys play barelegged in the future in bad weather."

Some two decades later when Allied forces began the invasion of France, Van Fleet was a colonel commanding the Eighth infantry Regiment that led the Fourth Division assault on Utah Beach in Normandy. Within six months he was a Major General and Corps commander.

Pericles Revisited

In 1948, with Greece under heavy pressure from the Communists, Gen. Van Fleet was dispatched to that country to help bolster government resistance. His work with the Greek military led to defeat of the Communists he proudly recalls, "without the use of one American soldier."

Home from that assignment just three months, Gen. Van Fleet was sent to Korea to command the U.S. Eighth Army.

His work there led President Eisenhower to ask him to tour the Far East as his special representative in 1954. Gen. Van Fleet’s own football playing career was brief but satisfying. He did not go out for the sport until his final year at West Point, but quickly became a regular and played 60 minutes of a fullback-linebacker in the Cadets’ 20-0 victory over Navy in 1914.

"Football plays an important role in the collegiate structure," he says. "Whether it is an afternoon of entertainment for students, faculty and fans, a unifying force and spirit builder on the campus or the teacher of some of life’s important lessons to those who play the game, it is an integral part of the academic atmosphere."

The words carry added weight when spoken by a man whose pay stubs prove he coached for the love of the game.

THE REBELS HAVE GONE COLONIAL!

The new symbol of the Rebel of 1776 has been officially adopted as a mascot by the Consolidated Student Senate, belatedly replacing Beauregard the Wolf who was voted out some years ago.

"The country's first rebels fought in the American Revolution," commented George Stamos, the newly-appointed CSUN press secretary who first thought of the idea of a new mascot. "The time was right for a change."

Stamos, a senior history major, said the Colonial image is a more wholesome one than that of the Confederacy, particularly to some of the black students. And, he added, the Revolutionary theme is especially appropriate during the nation's Bicentennial celebration.

"It's a handsome new symbol that everyone can be proud of," Stamos said. "All of the people I've shown it to like the idea. We want to use it on everything."

"ONE MAN'S OPINION"

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Ron Amos is Director of Public Relations at Caesars Palace. He is a former sports editor of both the Las Vegas SUN and Las Vegas Review-Journal, and also served as a special assignment sports correspondent for The Associated Press in Nevada.)

BY RON AMOS

It seems like only yesterday that the University of Nevada, Las Vegas, dedicated its first building on the Maryland Parkway campus. It was Nevada Southern University in those days and that "big" university in Reno never paid much attention to the ghost town.

In fact, the citizens of Reno were doing their very best to dispel the rumor that Las Vegas even existed. It was like the story of the guy who had just been admitted to heaven and was accompanying St. Peter on a guided tour of all the great cities. Part way through, the guy looked down and noticed a little community tucked away from the rest.

"Who are they?" he inquired of St. Peter.

"The answer," answered St. Peter, putting his finger over his mouth, "That's Reno. They think they're the only ones up here!"

Well, UNLV has come a long way, baby. In all areas of education, activities and sport. And the whole world knows about it. In sport, it all started with Chuck Grablek, a notorious optimist and the first confident follower. The troubles with you is that you get carried away by my enthusiasm.

Chuck's enthusiasm, followed by that of Horace-Todd, John Breyer and Jerry Tarkanian in basketball and Bill Richardson in football, backed by a strong boosters club, alumni and a lot of other people who care, has parlayed UNLV into a national institution.

It's reached the point, in fact, that many young athletic prospects are looking up UNLV just like the other top universities with character and tradition.

It's reached the point, in fact, that many young athletic prospects are looking up UNLV just like the other top universities with character and tradition.

The story goes that a boy not long ago came to see head football coach Ron Meyer. Meyer, being a man of wisdom and a fair judge of talent, found time to visit with the boy. The conversation went something like this:

Meyer --- "Well, son, I'd say you're about 6-3 and 235."
Prospect --- "That's pretty close, sir. I'm 6-4 and 240."
Meyer --- "And you played a pretty good tackle, I'll bet."
Prospect --- "No, sir, I was a halfback.
Meyer --- "A halfback? At 6-4 and 240? Did you have a good year?"
Prospect --- "Well, yes, sir. I did. I passed and ran for 50 touchowns. It was a state record. We didn't have to punt very often, and when we did I averaged 45 yards. I made 43 out of 44 extra point kicks, too. One was blocked."
Meyer --- "Are you pretty fast?"

Prospect --- "I was a sprinter, coach. I got down to 9.6, also a state record, but then I ran the 100-yard dash only on days of the meets. The rest of the time I played baseball. Actually, that's my best sport." Meyer --- "Baseball, too? What position did you play?"
Prospect --- "I was an outfielder when I wasn't pitching. But my hitting dropped to .556 when I worked so much on the mound. I had three no-hitters and two one-hitters."

Meyer --- "So how were your studies? Did participating in four sports cause you to drop a letter?"

Meyer --- "Yes, sir, that's right. My senior year a cheerleader stepped in, (the was a cheerleader and I was salutatorian.)"
Meyer --- "Son, you have a fine record and we would be proud to have you at UNLV. But I'm a little puzzled. Don't you have any faults at all?"

Prospect --- "Well, I do have one fault, sir."
Meyer --- "What's that, son?"

Prospect --- "Well, sir, I lie a lot."

A GROWING UNIVERSITY

The 1974-75 academic year has been one of continued achievement at the University of Nevada, Las Vegas. Here is a glimpse at the highlights:

Enrollment: There are now more than 7,000 students enrolled at UNLV, and the rate is still climbing at about 10 per cent a year—many times the national average. Students come from every state of the nation and more than three dozen foreign countries.

Instruction: Presently, students may enroll in any of 65 degree programs at the bachelor's and master's level offered by UNLV's 32 academic departments. This summer, the school's first doctoral program got under way in the College of Education as a joint effort between UNLV and the University of Nevada, Reno.

The university conducted its second successful "Mini Term" in January. The innovative program gave students two weeks of intensive study into topics of wide ranging and timely concern. Some students worked in local businesses or government offices, while others traveled out of state to investigate everything from plant ecology to mountain resorts.

More than 4,000 persons attended the university's two summer sessions, and 10,000 adults enrolled in the many classes, institutes, workshops and seminars conducted for community residents.

New Construction: One of the country's finest physical education centers opened its doors this spring. The $6 million facility, containing two gymnasiums, a 50-meter indoor swimming pool, handball courts, training and equipment rooms, will not only provide space for physical education instruction, but will become a center for the entire community, since numerous classes for every age level are being organized by the school's Division of Continuing Education. The complex has been named the Paul McDermott Physical Education Center in memory of the long-time Las Vegas business and civic leader, friend and regent of UNLV. Two major facilities now under construction include the 2,000-seat Artemus Ham Concert Hall, scheduled for completion early next year, and a $5 million Life Science Building, set to open during the summer of 1976.

National Honors: The theatre arts department's production of "The House of Bernarda Alba" was selected in the American College Theatre Festival as one of the nation's top ten plays for 1974 out of 335 colleges and universities which competed for the distinction. The play was performed last spring at the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts in Washington, D.C., with all expenses paid by the festival.

In athletics, the Rebel football team carried a perfect 11-0 season into the national Division II regional finals where it advanced to the Grantland Rice Bowl in Baton Rouge, La., and a nationwide television audience. The nationally 16th-rated basketball team completed its regular season with a 22-4 record, won its first West Coast Athletic Conference crown, and advanced to NCAA Division I playoff games in Tempe, Arizona and Portland, Oregon.

Summing Up: In just 18 years, UNLV has blossomed from a single small building beside a dirt road into a beautiful 300-acre campus. It has attracted a well-qualified faculty of some 325 professors who are not only devoted to good teaching, but who are earning reputations for their research work and community service endeavors. Overall, the economic contribution of UNLV to the city has been significant, with millions of dollars brought into the area through student and faculty expenditures, capital construction, endowments and grants. The university is a resource that all in Las Vegas are proud to support.

REBELS CLUB

Certainly one of the finest in the nation, the University Rebels Club is the driving force behind booster support for the UNLV athletic program. With continued active member participation, the URC is growing even stronger.

This past year the URC had its greatest fundraising drive ever, raising nearly $450,000 for the support of the grant-in-aid program for Rebel athletics. This total is also one of the top five in the nation, and, to think UNLV has had only just over a decade of graduating classes, so the alumni roster isn’t very long.

The honorary list of alumni at UNLV is one of the largest as the record drive would indicate all the thousands of Rebel boosters there are in the community. URC co-ordinator is Davey Pearl and the director of athletic fund-raising for the university is Dr. Wayne Pearson. These two men have become living legends among booster groups across the nation.

The new officers of the URC, for the 1975-76 academic year are: President, William “Wildcat” Morris; Vice-President, Eddie LaBaron; third Vice-President, Chuck Wenner; and Secretary-Treasurer, Doug Crosby. This is a repeat performance for Morris at the top, as the former University of Nevada Regent, has given years of service to Rebel athletics.

On July 10, 1975, Caesars Palace Hotel hosted the grandest URC “Thank You” Banquet of all as nearly 2,500 Rebel boosters were honored by one of the all-time greats — Mr. Frank Sinatra.

The URC office is open daily on the UNLV campus. All Rebel boosters and friends are urged to contact Davey or Wayne at 739-3614.

RON MEYER
Head Coach

The suave, dynamic head football coach for the UNLV Rebels, Ron Meyer is ever-so-quickly building a high-powered, well-organized, progressive and productive product for the department, university and entire State of Nevada. Football is an extensive and expensive sport, and the Meyer-men have responded with back-to-back nationally ranked 8-3 and 11-0 seasons, two All-Americans and money in the bank. Football is definitely paying its way at UNLV.

The Rebels advanced to the Division II semi-finals last season after the brilliant undefeated regular season and next season promises more of the same. A total of 49 returning lettermen, including 17 returning regulars, will attest to that.

Meyer is well-educated. He won the Noble Kizer award for athletic/academic prowess at Purdue University in 1963, graduating in 1965 with a 5.2 grade point average out of a possible 6.0. He earned his Master’s degree in science there in 1965 and was on the Boilermaker football coaching staff for six years, working with both offensive and defensive backfields. In his only head coaching job before UNLV, he led Penn High School in Indiana to a 5-4-1 record in 1964.

His six seasons on the Purdue staff followed, then his overall personality rose to the forefront. He went to the Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League as one of their four talent scouts and was part of the organization that won Super Bowl VI.

With the defection of a Minnesota Fats and the approach of a combination Henry Kissinger/Charles Finley, he has diplomatically - yet - straightforwardly brought to Las Vegas a keen and active devotion to Rebel football. The Titanic UNLV-Boise State football game last October is a living example of the involvement Meyer’s Magic has brought the Rebel gridiron program. A total of 18,631 people crowded into the 16,100-seat Las Vegas Stadium to see the Rebels defeat the Broncos, 37-35. It is the largest crowd ever to witness a sporting event in the State of Nevada.

Meyer appears to have the markings of one of the all-time great pigskin coaches, but time and fate will dictate much of his future. If ever there was a man who could change fate, however, it may just be this one. His highly-organized, well-disciplined, “equal opportunity for all, special privileges for none” LAS VEGAS WAY program is an eloquent example of the great accomplishments of athletics.

Coaches develop and cultivate All-Americans. At Purdue, he guided several supers in Bob Griese, Leroy Keyes and Mike Phipps. At UNLV there have been Mike Thomas and Joe Finley, diplomatically directing a team that has re-written the school record book.

An active member in both the American Football Coaches Association and the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, Meyer and his wife Cindy have a very lovely family.

Meyer is dedicated to the pursuit of excellence, and his goals and ideals will settle for nothing less. He is a shining leader in the UNLV athletic program.
Sitting like an oasis in the desert, the sparkling Las Vegas Stadium provides the location for UNLV's seven home football games this year. Built by the Las Vegas Convention Authority at a cost of $3.5 million, it has 15,000 permanent seats and 1,100 bleacher seats that have been added to the existing facility to bring its current seating capacity to 16,100.

The newest Astro-Turf facility in the United States, seven light standards provide enough brightness to broadcast color TV at night and the palatial facility, truly built in Las Vegas Style, has a fine press box and complete dressing room facilities for both the Rebels and their opponents.

STADIUM GLITTERS IN THE DESERT

Designed with the future in mind, ultimate expansion as needed calls for 60,000 seats and a triple-decked press box.

The stadium is located in East Las Vegas, approximately seven miles from the UNLV campus. In pre-season and spring practice, the Rebels hold Saturday scrimmages at the stadium, otherwise practicing at an on-campus site.

Opened for the first time when the Rebels lost to Weber State College, 30-17 on October 23, 1971, the official stadium dedication ceremonies were held during the halftime of the UNLV-Western Illinois game on September 9, 1972. Western Illinois won a good game, 35-28, before 8,800 fans.

During the 1974 undefeated Rebel season, the stadium was twice sold out. On October 19, UNLV defeated Boise State University, 37-35, before 18,831-standing-room-only fans—the largest crowd in the history of the State of Nevada to ever witness a sporting event. Then again, on November 16, the sixth-annual Big Game was played at the facility, and the Rebels beat the University of Nevada, Reno, before another oversold house of 17,119 fans.

Everyone who has seen the stadium agrees that it is definitely another showplace in the entertainment capital of the world.
