

4-27-2018

Youth Activism: How a Country Wide High School Competition Can Lead to the Change of Tomorrow

Carlos Mejia Castillo

University of Nevada, Las Vegas, mejiacas@unlv.nevada.edu

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalscholarship.unlv.edu/educ_sys_202

Part of the Education Commons, and the Service Learning Commons

Recommended Citation

Mejia Castillo, Carlos, "Youth Activism: How a Country Wide High School Competition Can Lead to the Change of Tomorrow" (2018). Second-Year Seminar Posters (COE 202). 47.

https://digitalscholarship.unlv.edu/educ_sys_202/47

This Book is protected by copyright and/or related rights. It has been brought to you by Digital Scholarship@UNLV with permission from the rights-holder(s). You are free to use this Book in any way that is permitted by the copyright and related rights legislation that applies to your use. For other uses you need to obtain permission from the rights-holder(s) directly, unless additional rights are indicated by a Creative Commons license in the record and/or on the work itself.

This Book has been accepted for inclusion in Second-Year Seminar Posters (COE 202) by an authorized administrator of Digital Scholarship@UNLV. For more information, please contact digitalscholarship@unlv.edu.

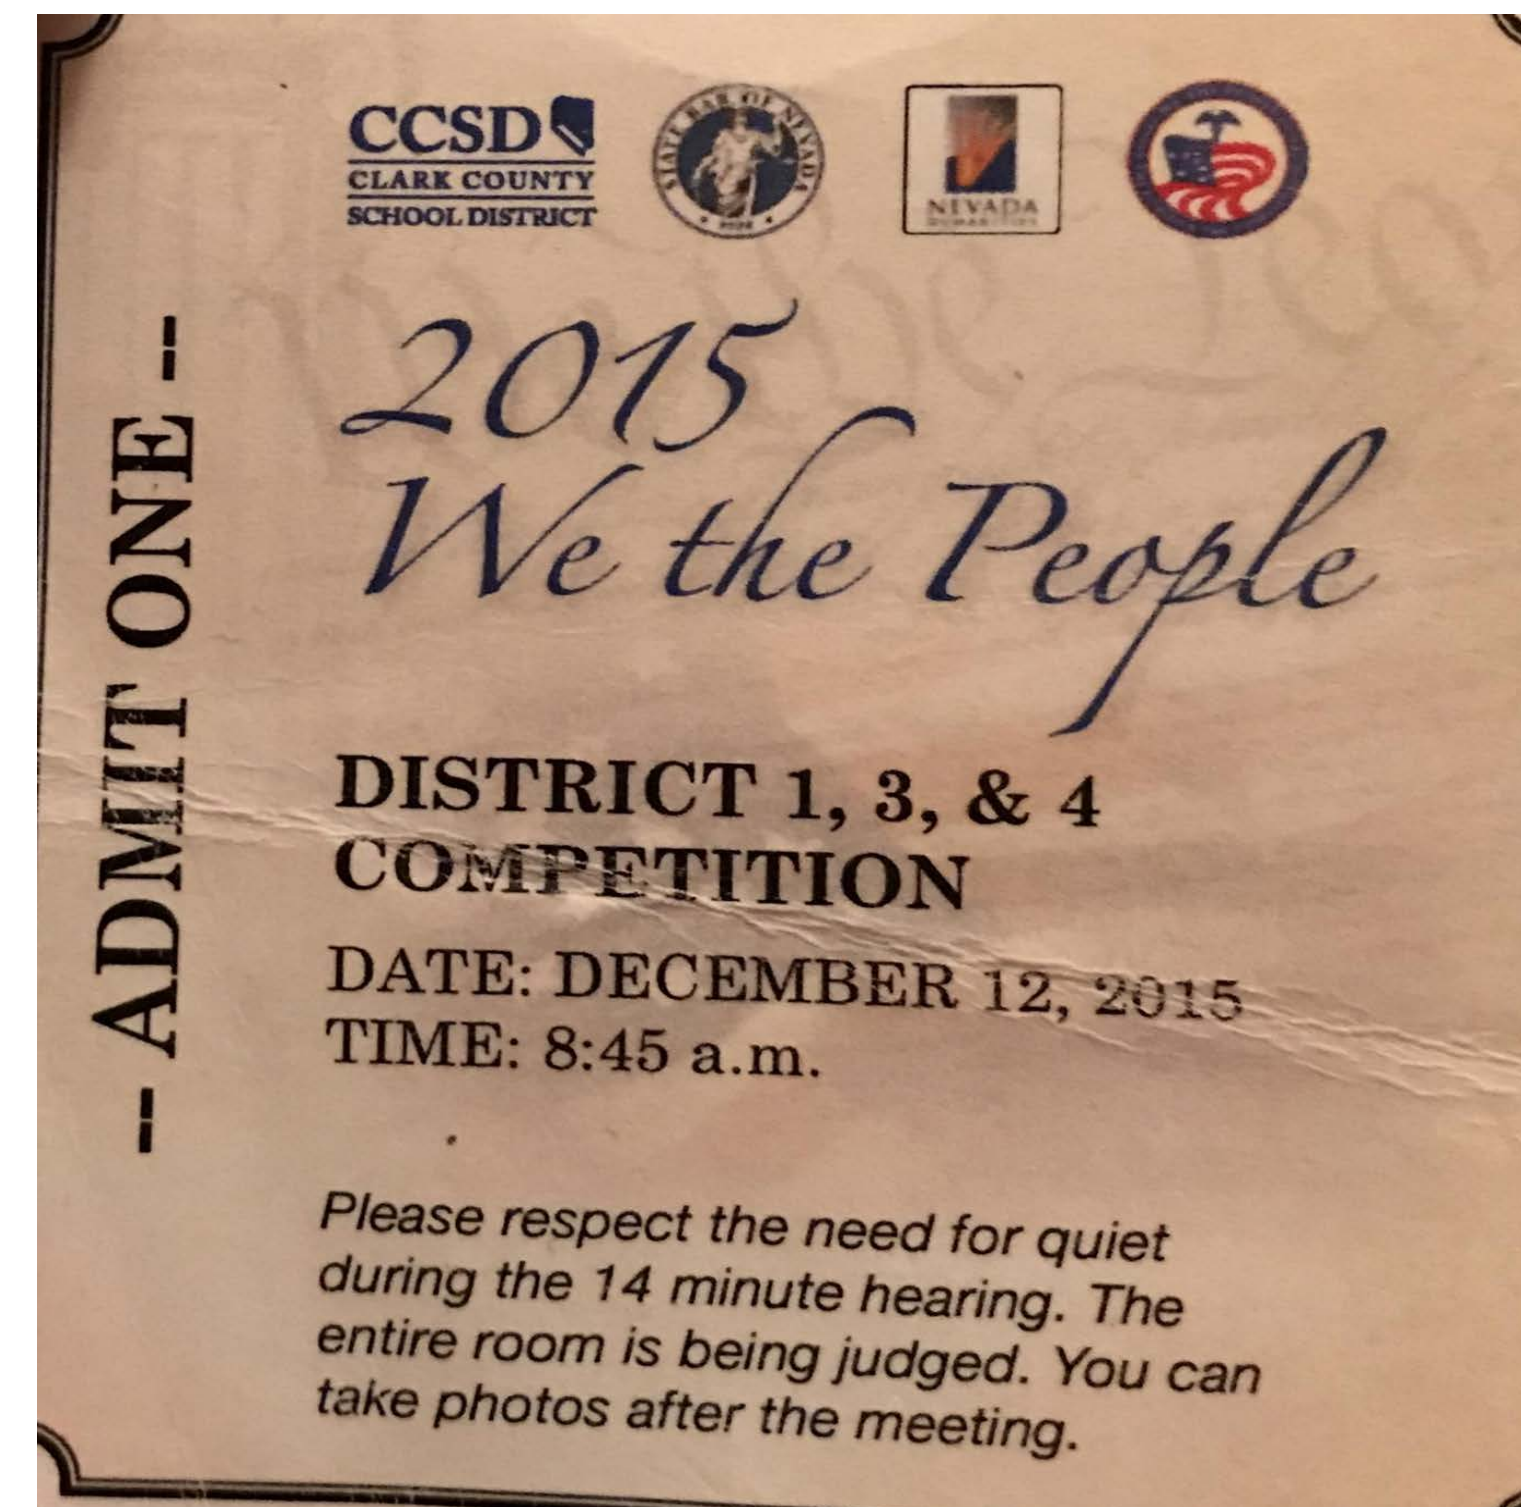

Youth Activism: How a country wide high school competition can lead to the change of tomorrow

SOCIAL ISSUE

- Youth Activism comes from the passion and motivation to create the change you want for the future.
- An increase in youth activism is important in order to establish the laws and economic stability that will be beneficial for us in the long term.

Carlos Mejia Castillo
University of Nevada, Las Vegas

Service Learning Experience

Inspiring Social Change

- A competition designed to educate the youth about how the government works and the role/rights we as citizens have will inspire some to begin the changes they want to see for the future.
- The current youth will hold the burden of the current decisions that are made, so it is the youth's responsibility to begin the changes they see necessary for the future.

- Observed the class and analyzed the questions that are asked in the competition.
- Analyzed the perspective that students had in current social issues.

