2-2011

Promoting professionalism in master's level teachers through research based writing

Jesus Garcia

University of Nevada, Las Vegas, jesus.garcia@unlv.edu

P. S. McMillen

University of Nevada, Las Vegas, psmcmillen.phd@gmail.com

David A. Bolin

Western High School, Las Vegas

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digitalscholarship.unlv.edu/libfacpresentation>

Part of the Curriculum and Instruction Commons, Educational Assessment, Evaluation, and Research Commons, Scholarly Communication Commons, Scholarly Publishing Commons, and the Teacher Education and Professional Development Commons

Repository Citation

Garcia, J., McMillen, P. S., Bolin, D. A. (2011, February). Promoting professionalism in master's level teachers through research based writing. Presentation at The International Society for the Social Studies Annual Conference, Orlando, FL.

Available at: <https://digitalscholarship.unlv.edu/libfacpresentation/66>

This Presentation is protected by copyright and/or related rights. It has been brought to you by Digital Scholarship@UNLV with permission from the rights-holder(s). You are free to use this Presentation in any way that is permitted by the copyright and related rights legislation that applies to your use. For other uses you need to obtain permission from the rights-holder(s) directly, unless additional rights are indicated by a Creative Commons license in the record and/or on the work itself.

This Presentation has been accepted for inclusion in Library Faculty Presentations by an authorized administrator of Digital Scholarship@UNLV. For more information, please contact digitalscholarship@unlv.edu.

Promoting Professionalism in Master's Level Teachers through Research Based Writing

International Society for the Social Studies: Orlando, FL 2011

University of Nevada, Las Vegas

Jesus Garcia, Paula S. McMillen, and David A. Bolin

Starting Points

- Social Studies Professor
- Librarian
- Public School Teacher

Course Description

- 2 research-based papers suitable for publication
 - Step by step process
 - Writing “buddy”
 - Frequent instructor feedback
- Guest speakers (educator writers)

Rationale for the Convergence

- Re-emphasize the inquiry process in social studies pedagogy
- Build research skills & knowledge (tools and strategies)
- Counteract the effects of teacher socialization

Evolution of students

- “Re-understanding” the writing process (intrinsic value of the process- vs. product-based approach)
- Sense of self-efficacy as researchers
- Connecting practices and policies in education to research
- Self-evaluation of teaching practices
- Complexity of issues
- Increased professionalism

An Individual's Story

- Going through the motions, why more?
 - Professionalism
 - Gain credibility with
 - Respectful treatment
 - Challenge administrative policies with research evidence

Areas for Improvement

- Capitalize on peer-to-peer coaching
- Increase utilization of library faculty
 - more integration in class
 - establish connections with school librarians
- Greater connection of writing projects to real-world issues
 - Target specific writing audiences
- Sustaining student momentum after completion of course/program
 - Create support or advisory groups

Implications for Teacher Education Programs

- Increase writing requirements at earlier stages of Master's programs
- Increase connections between research and practice
 - Why am I doing what I'm doing in my classroom?
 - Build in robust discussion opportunities throughout Master's program

Questions?

- To read the full article, utilize the doi resolver:
<http://dx.doi.org/> and enter:
doi:10.1016/j.acalib.2010.06.007
- McMillen, P. S., Garcia, J., & Bolin, D. A. (2010). Promoting professionalism in master's level teachers through research based writing. Journal of Academic Librarianship, 36(5), 427-439.