Get to Know Mission

President Robert C. Maxson has been the chief administrative officer of the University of Nevada, Las Vegas since August 1, 1984.

Prior to assuming his duties here, he served as the Senior Vice President for Academic Affairs at the University of Houston. In that capacity, he was the chief academic officer of an institution of 45,000 students.

Maxson earned his doctorate from Mississippi State University in 1970; his areas of study and interest have been educational leadership and social psychology. He has been especially interested in the phenomenon of leadership in colleges and universities. He has co-authored two college textbooks that together are used in approximately 100 universities. He has also published numerous articles in professional journals.

Maxson is married to Sylvia Parrish Maxson. They have two children, Kimberly, a junior at UNLV, and Todd, in his third year of medical school at the University of Texas. The President is a lifetime worker in pursuit of his dreams for UNLV. He starts each day 5:30 a.m. with a three mile run and by 7:30 a.m. in his office on the seventh floor of the Humanities Building. It is rare that he is home by 7:30 at night, because his evenings are filled with meetings and other University-related gatherings. His hobby is his work; the success of UNLV is his single-minded passion. That single-mindedness has not only infected his circle of higher administrators, his vice-presidents and deans and other members of his staff, but has also produced significant results. Significant program has been made possible by a wide-scale campus beautification program which will result in more formal entrances to the UNLV campus and expanded landscaping around the perimeter of the institution.

Maxson received his Ph.D. in 1965 and a M.S. degree in 1961 from the College of Applied Human Life Sciences at the University of Illinois, Champaign-Urbana. He received his B.S. from Northern Illinois University in 1960.

The Maxson family consist of four: Robert and Suzanne, twenty and Christine (16). Both will attend Kansas State University as they complete their degrees.

Dr. Brad Rothermel

Director of the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics

Dr. Brad Rothermel

During the past four academic years, the University of Nevada, Las Vegas had each of its 14 intercollegiate athletic programs, with only one exception, represented in post-season, national competition. In addition, most of these teams were ranked nationally in the Top 20 at one time or another. Most of the credit for this outstanding record goes to UNLV’s Director of the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics, Dr. Brad Rothermel.

Rothermel, who during the 1968-89 academic year will enter his ninth year as athletic director, has built UNLV athletics to the point where the university is now very competitive at both the conference and national levels.

Rothermel’s philosophy while at UNLV has been that the function of the intercollegiate athletic program is to provide for the student-athletes an environment in which those student-athletes are able to pursue excellence is selected extra-curricular educationally related activities. Furthermore, his objective for the programs is to win within the structures of the rules and the budgetary framework provided. The achievement of this goal is demonstrated by successfully competing against national championship-caliber competition in all activities sponsored by the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics.

Prior to his appointment at UNLV in 1981, he was Assistant Director and Business Manager for the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics at West Virginia University. From 1974 to 1976 he was employed as Assistant Director and Business Manager for the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics at Kansas State University.

Rothermel supervised the intercollegiate programs for men and women while serving as Director of the Health and Physical Education at George Williams College in Downers Grove, Illinois, from 1971 to 1974.

From 1965 to 1967, he served as Supervisor of Counseling and Research Development while functioning in the capacity of Assistant Athletic Director of the University of Illinois Athletics Association.

Prior to that position he was an administrative associate and coach for the Chicago National League Baseball Club (Chicago Cubs).

In addition to his above mentioned athletic positions, Rothermel has served in numerous articles in professional journals.

Maxson is married to Sylvia Parrish Maxson. They have two children, Kimberly, a junior at UNLV, and Todd, in his third year of medical school at the University of Texas. One of America's most successful and most well known college basketball coaches, Jerry Tarkanian, enters his 28th year of college coaching and his 16th at UNLV. For 27 years, he has done one thing...very well. In fact, Jerry Tarkanian has done that one thing — coach — so well that he is the nation's win­ningest active collegiate coach by percentage. Known nationwide for his Colorful personality, "Tark" has molded the Runnin' Rebels into a veritable basketball dynasty. Failing to win 20+ games in a season only once at UNLV, the Tarkanian era at UNLV has become known as the "Dynasty in the desert!"

Since his arrival at UNLV, Tarkanian has always managed to attract only the top prospects, as evidenced by nine NCAA post-season bids including the last six years in a row. He has twice driven his clubs to the NCAA Final Four, including the 1976-77 season when UNLV was 29-3 and eventually finished third, and the 1986-87 version when the Rebels finished with a 37-2 ledger. Tarkanian-led squads at UNLV also have advanced to Nit contention twice, including a Final Four appearance in 1979-80. Overall, Tarkanian has a 22-12 (.647) post-season record (18-9 NCAA, 4-3 NIT).

A Storybook Season
One of Tarkanian's most remarkable seasons was just two years ago in 1986-87 when the Scarlet and Gray reached storybook heights in Las Vegas. Anymore masterpiece for the Rem­brandt of collegiate coaches, the Re­bels finished the season with a record 37 wins against just two losses, landing at the NCAA Final Four. With a WAC title, regional championship and a semifinal loss to eventual national champion Indiana, the Rebels captured the hearts and imaginations of new fans nationwide. UNLV won a fifth consecutive NCAA regular season title along the way with an unprecedented 18-0 record, and claimed their fourth NCAA post-season tournament title in five straight majors.

Owning the Big West
If his success at the national level can be considered commendable, his success at the conference level can be looked upon as nothing short of astounding! Under Tarkanian's reign, UNLV has claimed six consecutive NCAA regular season championships, including an unprecedented, undefeated campaign record of 18-0 in 1986-87, and a six­year conference mark of 97-9. In short, Tarkanian has owned the Big West.

Tarkanian trademark — Tark's Towel. The towel dates back to Jerry Tarkanian's coaching days at Redlands High School in 1959 when, during a league championship game against Ramona High School, Coach sought a simple way to keep his shirt dry. Actually, this was not only continue walking to the fountain at the end of the court. Tarkanian soaked a towel with water and chewed on it whenever he needed a drink. Needless to say, he continued chewing as the game went overtime, and a tradition had been established. Tarkanian soaked a towel with water and chewed on it whenever he needed a drink. Needless to say, he continued chewing as the game went overtime, and a tradition had been established.

Despite all his achievements on the basketball court, Tarkanian is often over-looked in basketball history. The nation's winningest active coach by percentage at a major college level with a percentage of .825 (501-132), Tarkanian is just percentage points behind Clair Bee as the all-time winningest active coach. Tarkanian ended his tenure at Long Island Univer­sity and Rider College with an .856 percentage (286-59). In June 1995, Tarkanian's .825. Tarkanian honored above Bee's mark for three months last season before losing to UC Irvine in the NCAA Tournament.

Tarkanian has compiled a .825 winning percentage at the major college level, and is considered by many to be one of the best collegiate coaches ever.

And rightly so. Tarkanian actually became college basketball's all-time winningest coach for a three-month peri­od this season (December 8 through March 10) after the Rebels defeated Nevada-Reno, and his winning per­centage rose above that of the legendary Clair Bee. Bee, a former coach at Long Island University and Rider College, maintains the winningest college coach of all-time, ending his career at 410-86 (.617).

TOURNAMENT HISTORY: Now in its 13th year, the Rebel Round-Up championship has been captured by only three teams. The host Rebels have won the title ten times (1976-78, 1979-80, and 1982-87), while Colorado (1981) and Texas A&M (1979) have won the other championships.

FIRST ROUND SUCCESS: The Rebels are a perfect 12-0 in first round play. UNLV is 22-2 in the past three tournaments (1982-87).

GREG ANTHONY: UNLV's point guard enjoys his finest all-around performance against UC Irvine, scoring 14 points, grabbing five rebounds, dishing off six assists and coming up with five steals. In 13th year, the Rebels are the best in the Big West.

REBELS CAPTURE 7TH STRAIGHT SUCCESS: UNLV moved its record to 3-0 on the young season with a 100-85 victory over UC Irvine on December 15. It was the first Big West game of the season for the Runnin' Rebels as well as their first home game. David Butler led the Rebs in both scoring and rebounding with 19 points and 10 boards. With the score tied at 35 with 2:54 left in the first half, UNLV went on a 13-1 run breaking open a close game.

THE SERIES: Rhode Island and UNLV have met once before, with UNLV taking a 94-80 decision in 1974. The game, played at the Las Vegas Convention Center, came during Jerry Tarkanian's second campaign at UNLV Texas A&M and the Rebels have met four times, with the Aggies holding a 3-1 series lead. A MESSAGE FROM UNLV PRESIDENT DR. ROBERT C. MAXSON

Dear Friends of UNLV:

Once again I'd like to welcome you to the Thomas and Mack Center for an exciting season of college basketball.

Coach Tarkanian and his men have prepared for another season of the run-and-gun play that has become the hallmark of the Rebels for many seasons now. And, as the quality and expectations of play have increased in the thirty years of Rebel basketball, so have the quality and expectations of the academic side of our institution.

We enrolled almost 15,000 students this fall, which set another attendance record for UNLV. Not only are our numbers growing, but the quality of our students is increasing as well. We have now enrolled over 140 valedictorians from Nevada's high schools over the past four years, and can boast of over 140 in our distinguished Honors Program. All of this growth will serve to enhance the high level of learning that takes place daily on our campus. As a major Ph.D. granting university, we have now taken our place alongside the premier academic institutions in the nation.

UNLV is indeed young, proud, and growing. It is also a university that will settle for being nothing less than first rate. We appreciate the support you have given us in our quest.

Have a good year!

Sincerely,

Robert C. Maxson

He had two national championship teams in 1973 and 1974 and was named national junior college coach of the year three times, and was twice runner-up. He coached junior college player of the year Bob Scovil (who went on to Pepperdine) and 1972 player of the year Melvin Williamson (who then played at Boston College) and 1973 player of the year Connie White (Cal). In 1975 Landa coached in Italy in the Class A league and in 1976 in the Eastern Pro League, where he was named coach of the year. In 1982 he coached the New Jersey Gems of the women's pro league, with Ann Meyers.

PERSONAL INFORMATION: Landa is a 1955 graduate of Labarum Valley College (Philadelphia area). His wife, Darlene, is a schoolteacher, and they have two daughters, Robin (24) and Davida (20). He is a major speaker for Nike and is one of Nike's most popular speakers.
ATHLETIC-ACADEMIC SUPPORT

Runnin' Rebels academic progress is monitored by a fine staff of academic counselors. The basketball unit is headed by athletic academic consultant Mike Alsup, who is assisted by Shelley Fischer. The Rebels were very proud to welcome back former Runnin' Rebel Sidney Green of the New York Knicks, who completed his degree requirements during the off-season and graduated this past spring (photo, top left). Current Rebel Travis Bice (top right) receives an award as one of UNLV's top student athletes at the annual Awards Luncheon in May. Another Rebel success story was Armon Gilliam (left), now of the Phoenix Suns, who graduated with his class in 1987.
Coach Jerry Tarkanian shared his birthday this past summer with some 1,500 children from the City of Las Vegas at a giant birthday party held at Wet 'N Wild, a local water park. The children, who presented Tarkanian with giant hand-made birthday cards, were treated to a massive birthday cake designed by The Caterers of Las Vegas and each received a "Happy Birthday Tark" t-shirt compliments of UNLV and NIKE, as well as a Tarkanian poster designed in cooperation with Lerezia, Lewis Advertising. For those interested in numerology, Tarkanian was 58 years of age on August 8th (8-8-88). In the photos (top left) Tark greets a young fan; (bottom right) there was enough cake to feed all of Las Vegas; (top left) Coach and master of ceremonies Steve Fox accept a giant card; (bottom left) the UNLV cheerleaders lead the singing of "Happy Birthday."

Still Going Strong
From his passion with pressure defenses to his obsession with towel-chewing, Jerry Tarkanian has indeed compiled remarkable statistics in his lengthy tenure as a college head coach. Twenty-seven years is a very long time to do one thing, let alone do it well. Needless to say, Jerry Tarkanian has done it.

THE NEXT GENERATION — The year was 1964 (above left) back in the Riverside City College days. Coach Tarkanian sits with Danny (then two old years old) and George (seven months) while Lois is with Pamela (six) and Jodie (four). Today (right) the Tarkanian family welcomed the first grandchild, Justin Rose King, born August 24, 1988. The Tarkanian children (left to right) Danny, Jodie, Pamela (Mrs. Erik King) and George have varied careers. Pamela has a master's degree and is a teacher in a counseling based program for emotionally disturbed children in the Clark County School District; Jodie is an intensive care nurse; George is in a doctoral program in political science; and Danny recently graduated magna cum laude from San Diego Law School and is practicing law in Las Vegas.

On July 1, 1988, the Pacific Coast Athletic Association marked the beginning of the league’s twentieth year by changing its name to the Big West Conference. The new name is seen as a simpler, more accurate description of the league’s 12 member institutions (Cal State Fullerton, Fresno State, Long Beach State, New Mexico State, San Diego State, San Jose State, UC Irvine, UC Santa Barbara, University of Hawaii, UNLV, Pacific and Utah State).

When the league was first formed in 1969, it consisted of seven charter members, all of which were located in the state of California. In its 19 years of existence, however, the conference has expanded to include universities from states which are not on or near the Pacific Coast (Utah, Nevada and New Mexico). Because of this expansion, the new name will serve to better identify all of the conference’s member institutions.

Through 19 years of existence, the Big West Conference has made numerous positive strides in intercollegiate athletics. Recent highlights of the league’s success include the 1987 NCAA basketball championships, when, for the first time ever, the conference had a representative in both the men’s (UNLV) and the women’s (Long Beach State Final Four). Last season, three of the league’s men’s basketball teams (UNLV, Utah State and UC Santa Barbara) were invited to the NCAA Regionals - the most ever for the conference.

Another first occurred in the spring of 1988, when three conference baseball teams (Cal State Fullerton, Fresno State and UNLV) received bids to the NCAA Regionals, with Cal State Fullerton and

“Even when I’m off the court, I’m still in the game.”

“Because with a Cellular One phone in my hand, I can make the play no matter where I am. Even when facing a full-court press. It really helps me get a jump on things. That’s why I count on Cellular One and my cellular phone to rack up the score.”

Maybe it’s time you got in the game, too. Call Cellular One at 732-4545, and sign on with the #1 team in cellular communication.

Voted "Best of Las Vegas" – Las Vegas Review Journal
THE UNIVERSITY OF NEVADA, LAS VEGAS

The University of Nevada, Las Vegas, is a young, growing institution that is making significant progress toward its goal of becoming one of the nation's leading urban universities. With a faculty of approximately 400, some 75 percent of whom hold doctorates, UNLV offers 64 undergraduate and 50 graduate degree programs to a student population that in the fall of 1988 reached almost 15,000, a record enrollment.

UNLV's 33-acre campus is located in the metropolitan area south of the City of Las Vegas. Its academic colleges include Arts and Letters; Business and Economics; Education; Health Sciences, Hotel Administration; Science and Mathematics, and Engineering. The School of Health, Physical Education and Recreation is housed in the school of education.

Although the University is only now three decades old, it has maintained a healthy rate of growth, both in programs and physical plant. In 1985 the Nevada Legislature appropriated $14.7 million for construction of the 101,000-square-foot Thomas T. Beam Engineering Complex, named for one of UNLV's most generous donors. When the new complex opens in 1998, it will house the Engineering College, which was formed in 1987 as a means of strengthening the engineering and computer science programs. The college and the engineering complex are major steps forward in the University's effort to provide strong programs in the technological higher education.

Four new dormitories, a student-life building, a Student Health Service Building, and a new Public Safety Building were all constructed in 1988. In addition to its regular academic programs, UNLV offers more than 600 classes through its Division of Continuing Education, which enrolls 16,000 students annually.

The University operates an on-campus Center for Business and Economic Research, Center for Economic Education, Center for Applied Computer Science, Environmental Research Center (in cooperation with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency),

With its Performing Arts Center, the campus is the cultural hub of Southern Nevada. The Master Series of concerts by world-class orchestras and soloists, Nevada Dance Theatre and Contemporary Dance Theatre, and the Department of Theatre Arts combine with other University and community arts organizations to provide a broad selection of concerts and stage productions. The Barrick Lecture Series and several campus groups bring noted speakers to the University, and local and visiting artists show their works in Donna Beam Fine Arts Gallery.

The university has excellent sports facilities that are open to students and the general public. The Paul C. McDermott Physical Education Center has lighted tennis courts, playing fields, a 50-meter Olympic swimming pool, two gymnasiaums, handball/racquetball courts, dance studios, gymnastics and weight-training rooms, and a full-size track.

Other points of interest on campus include:

- Museum of Natural History — Permanent and traveling exhibits illustrate the biology, geology, and archaeology of the Southwest. Open daily, free admission. Call 739-3381.
- Donna Beam Fine Arts Gallery — Exhibits by faculty and invited artists, with an emphasis on modern art. Located in Alta Ham Fine Arts Building. Open weekdays, free.
- James R. Dickinson Library — Total holdings of 1.4 million items, including more than 485 books and bound journals. The Special Collections Department contains a world-renowned collection of gaming materials.
- The Flashlight — A 38-foot-tall, 74,000-pound steel sculpture by internationally known artist Claes Oldenburg stands on the plaza between Artemus W. Ham Concert Hall and Judy Bayley Theater, at the north end of the campus's Academic Mall.
- Atrium and Aviary — A lush garden and bird sanctuary in the lobby of Juanita Greer White Life Sciences Building, open weekdays.
- Thomas and Mack Center — The 18,500-seat sports arena and special events facility, home of the UNLV Runnin' Rebels.
- UNLV operates on a semester system and is a member of the American Association of State Colleges and Universities, the Council of Graduate Schools in the United States, the Western Association of Graduate Schools, the American Council on Education, and the Western College Association. All of the University's academic programs are fully accredited by the Northwest Association of Schools and Colleges, and many programs have received further accreditation from independent national accrediting bodies.

Athletes command a unique position in American society and in societies throughout the world. Many view the athlete as a hero who strives for perfection. The public expects excellence, and to achieve these high standards and thereby maintain public favor, the athlete must maintain peak alertness, responsiveness, efficiency and coordination.

A small segment of the athlete population has resorted to the use of drugs (e.g., anabolic steroids, amphetamines and various "street drugs") purported to improve physical performance. The decision to use drugs to improve physical performance, for the most part, has not been based on sound information and could have dire physical consequences for involved individuals. Further, such usage violates NCAA ethical principles. The ethics of sport need to be emphasized, particularly in that taking drugs to improve performance constitutes cheating. There is need to reemphasize the fact that the important thing in sport is to compete honorably; to win at all costs is a contradiction to the meaning of sport.

Athletes should not carry all the blame for the situation. Coaches, trainers and the medical profession need to share some of this burden, as does the public, for expecting and frequently demanding a winning effort every time. Society has placed a number of demands upon the athlete. If one believes that athletes and the general public will make sound judgments most of the time when provided with the necessary information, educating athletes and others about drug effects, appropriate drug use and the skills needed to cope with such problems could have substantial benefits to the individual and to society.

The NCAA has produced a pamphlet entitled "Drugs and the Athlete... a losing combination," which includes the latest and best information available on the problem of solving drugs in sports. To order ten $3 for 12 copies to: NCAA Publishing, P.O. Box 1906, Mission, Kansas 66201.

Giving ourselves enthusiastically is our trademark. In a phrase, we try harder. It’s this code of ethics that winning teams are made of. But we’re not telling you Rebels anything you don’t know.

What you may not know about is our low weekend rates (so low, in fact, they make Avis something of a rebel of rent-a-cars). They’re yours for the asking at any four convenient Avis locations: the Las Vegas International Airport, Caesars Palace, Las Vegas Hilton and Bally’s Grand Hotel. Or call us locally at (702) 739-5595, or toll free from Southern California and out-of-state at (800) 331-2123.

It’s just one more way trying harder makes it easier on you.

DAVID BUTLER: For the second consecutive game, Butler led the team in both scoring and rebounding against Irvine. The Sporting News JC Player of the Year last season, he has emerged as the top front line player for UNLV. He leads the team in rebounding (7.2 rpg) and is tied for the lead in scoring (13.6 ppg). He has scored in double figures in four of the Rebels' first five games.

BE PROUD, GET LOUD: At every home game, if the crowd meter hits the 110 decible level, all Rebel fans are eligible for a drawing of catamaran at Las Vegas Marine Supply. The promotion, which runs the length of the season, is sponsored by Las Vegas Marine Supply and radio station KKLZ 96.3 FM.

AGGIES TAKE '79 TITLE: Texas A&M is a perfect 2-0 in Round-Up play as they defeated North Texas State (97-77) and UNLV (77-73) in the 1979 championship game. The Aggies were led by all-tournament performances by David Britton (MVP) and Vernon Smith.

MOSES SCURRY: The rebound specialist enjoyed his best game of the season against UC Irvine. Scurry came off the bench to score a career-high 15 points and added eight rebounds in just 14 minutes of action. For the year, he is fifth in scoring (6.8 ppg.) and tied for second in rebounding (6.8 rpg) on the team.

ANDERSON HUNT: The freshman from Detroit, MI, came off the bench to chip in 16 points against the Anteaters. He also dished off a team-high seven assists. On the year, Hunt is third in scoring (13.6 ppg) and second in assists (4.0 apg). He is the team's top three-point threat, with seven trifectas on the season.

UNLV Student Rhodes Scholar Finalist

A 21-year-old senior at the University of Nevada, Las Vegas was a finalist in the competition for the 1988 Rhodes scholarship.

Noelle Dela Rosa of Fallon, a political science major, was one of two finalists picked to represent the state by the Nevada Rhodes Selection Committee at Reno.

Dela Rosa was among a group of 14 finalists from seven Western states who appeared before a nine-member district selection committee at the University of California-Berkeley recently. She was not one of the two recipients.

"We are thrilled that Noelle came so close to winning this prestigious academic award," said UNLV President Robert C. Maxson. "She was one of the first students recruited into our Elardi scholarship program, and she has been one of our brightest young scholars since she came to UNLV as a freshman in 1985."

Dela Rosa was valedictorian of Churchill County High School in 1985. She was among the first class of top students from around the state to enroll at UNLV under the Elardi Nevada Scholars program.

The program, created with a $1 million gift from hotel/casino owner Margaret Elardi in 1984, offers $10,000 scholarships to the valedictorians of Nevada's 53 high schools.

Dela Rosa is also a member of UNLV's Honors Program for academically outstanding students and is one of the Student Ambassadors, a group that helps recruit other students to the university, leads campus tours, and performs other functions.

As a political science major, she served as an intern in Sen. Chic Hecht's Washington, D.C., office. Dela Rosa plans to begin her master's degree study in political science after her graduation from UNLV.

KREL turns its mike - and language - over to Lady Rebels

by Rick Chinn
Las Vegas Review Journal

Regardless of the language, the linguistics of basketball remain the same on KREL-AM (1280), where UNLV Lady Rebel basketball broadcasts are the only break in the Spanish-speaking station's format.

For the first time in nine years, the Lady Rebels have a full-season package on an AM station thanks to Bob Blum, KREL's president and general manager, who donated air time to the program.

Last season, 10 Lady Rebel games were broadcast on KLAV radio. Before that KJUN, the campus radio station, would pick and choose a few games each season.

But the last time UNLV had a full-season broadcast package was in 1979-80 when Blum, then associated with KORR-AM, hooked up with the Lady Rebels during Coach Dan Ayalas last season.

Blum, who also owns a minority share of KREL, teams the home broadcasts with Kevin Messenger, a UNLV sports information assistant. Blum does the road broadcasts solo which provides an interesting sidebar: KREL has yet to sell any advertising time for the broadcasts and the announcers must fill two or more hours with solid banter.

"It's quite unbelievable," Messenger said. "From the opening tip through the final buzzer, we talk the entire time. We get interviews from time to time, but mostly we talk basketball."

In English, of course.

"We went ahead at the beginning of the season," Blum said, "and spoke with Brad (Rothenberg, UNLV athletic director), Joyce Aschenbrenner, sports information director and Jim (Bolla, women's coach). They were interested in getting the games on radio and we told them we'd commit, with or without advertising.

"As of now, we haven't sold any advertising as such."

That means a lot of idle chatter, but then again, maybe none of the Spanish-speaking listeners will understand anyway.

Five years brings "Something for Everyone"

It's difficult to imagine a Runnin' Rebel game with a sell-out attendance of little over 6,000 cheering fans, but only six years ago that was the case for the UNLV team on their home court at the Las Vegas Convention Center.

Back then there were thousands of unfortunate Runnin' Rebel fans who would have given their first born for a ticket to a home game. The cries for a new home court grew louder as the city and the university grew.

The cries were answered when two prominent Nevada bankers, E. Parry Thomas and Jerome Mack set up the foundation and donated the $6,000,000 originally held in the Mack Center. In an exhibition contest at a new Tropicana and Tarkanian was happy and satisfied.

The National Finals Rodeo (formerly held in Oklahoma City) has found a new home at the Center. Known as the "Super Bowl of Rodeo," this annual event has spurred a great boost to the once-sagging December Las Vegas economy.

The cries were answered when two prominent Nevada bankers, E. Parry Thomas and Jerome Mack set up the foundation and donated the first one-half million dollars for the initial architectural studies for the new and bigger home court. The Center is centered around one type of event that now bears the mac's name.

THE UNLV REBEL ATHLETIC CLUB

What is the RAC?
The UNLV Rebel Athletic Club is a gift club established at The University of Nevada, Las Vegas to provide support for the athletic program in areas other than athletic scholarships. The Rebel Athletic Club provides support in areas which include: academic support services, recruiting, awards, banquets and equipment.

How Do You Benefit?
As a Rebel Athletic Club member, the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics provides numerous benefits and privileges in accordance with the different membership contributions levels. These benefits include a media guide; Rebel Athletic Club em-broidered shirt, sweater, jacket and blazer; Rebel Athletic Club clock; Redd Room/Stadium Club privileges; Big West Basketball Tournament priority seating; free VIP parking; and trips to selected football and basketball games.

Established to Perpetuate Academic and Athletic Excellence at UNLV

The University of Nevada, Las Vegas Department of Intercollegiate Athletics fields fourteen men and women athletic programs that compete at the NCAA Division I level. It is our goal to produce national contenders in every one of these programs. In intercollegiate athletics, there is a high correlation between winning and budgetary expenditures. In order to reach our goal of academic and athletic excellence, it is necessary to generate sufficient revenue to provide and maintain these high caliber programs.

The UNLV Scholarship Donor Fund (currently including over 2,000 individuals and corporations) provides a major portion of the scholarship and recruiting budgets of athletic programs at the University. This financial base provides deserving student-athletes with the opportunity to develop and grow through intercollegiate competition at the highest level. It is necessary, though, to generate additional revenue through the UNLV Rebel Athletic Club in order to supplement the UNLV Scholarship Donor Fund.

Rebel Athletics Enjoy Another Banner Year 1987-88

Speareheaded once again by the tremendous success of the Runnin' Rebel basketball team, UNLV athletics prospered in 1987-88 season with seven of fourteen sports being represented in national post-season championships.

The 1987-88 basketball season saw the Runnin' Rebels claim their sixth NCAA Championship in the eight years UNLV had been in the conference. UNLV posted victories over the Soviet National Team, then unbeat music and eventual national one-ranked Temple, Louisiana State, and Michigan while climbing as high as number 2 on the Associated Press Writers Poll. The Rebels ran to a 26-4 regular season record, 15-3 in the PCAA. They advanced to the second round of both the NCA and NCAA tournaments, Jarvis Basnight (All-District 8 and All-PCAA first team), Stacey Augmon (PCAA Freshman of the Year), Gerald Paddio (All-District 8 and All-PCAA second team) and Jerry Tarkanian (PCAA Coach of the Year) were among the Rebels honored in 1987-88.

The Rebel soccer team rolled to its fourth PCAA championship in the five years the league has existed with an 8-2-3 league record, 14-5-0 overall. The team was ranked as high as eighth in the Soccer Magazine poll where it opened round game of the NCAA Soccer Championship tournament. Eddie Athbal, Shawn Ritchie, and Jeff Wale all earned All-PCAA first team honors. Wale was also chosen PCAA Rookie of the Year and All-PCAA honorable mention. Under the guidance of first year head coach Barry Barto was selected PCAA Coach of the Year. Junior Simon Keith was honored with the Stan Gilbertson "True Grit" Award by the Dapper Dan Club of Pittsburgh, PA, as the nation’s most courageous athlete.

UNLV’s Lady Rebel basketball team continued their season with a 25-9 mark and third fifth consecutive appearance in the PCAA Tournament Championship. The Lady Rebels, 14-4 in conference play, finished second in the PCAA behind Final Four participant Long Beach State, and were selected the No. 1 seed in the Women’s National Invitational Tournament. UNLV established a national identity early in the season with a key road victory at Louisiana State which propelled the Lady Rebels to No. 13 national ranking. Pauline Jordan was named a first team All-PCAA selection while senior captain Karen Hall received honorable mention honors.

The Rebel Swimming contingent sent three swimmers to NCAA competition resulting in three All-Americans and the highest finish ever by a Rebel men’s swimmer. Sophomore Ben Pippen now set new standards for Rebel swimming, placing his name among the national elite in the 100 and 200 Butterfly. Pippen led the nation early in the year in the 200 Fly and finished fourth for All-American honors at the NCAA Championships. Wendy Meyers captured a fifth place NCAA finish in the 400 Individual Medley while Sally Fincher garnered honorable mention All-America accolades with a 16-place finish in the 100

Braunstrause. Rebel men’s and women’s squads each finished second in the PCAA and 7th and 8th respectively, nationally. Pippen and Meyers were each named PCAA Swimmer of the Year.

The Hustler Rebel baseball team returned to NCAA post-season play for the first time since 1984, finishing the season with a 40-22 record and won over nationally ranked foes Georgia Tech, Oklahoma, Wichita State, Oklahoma State, Cal State Fullerton, Fresno State, and UCLA. The Rebels captured national attention as the only team to defeat them-No. I ranked Oklahoma State through the first two months of the season, and later established itself as the only team’s club to play three “number ones,” lending credit to their claim as one of the strongest schedules in the nation. Head Coach Fred Dallimore eclipsed a coaching milestones with his career victory and six players were named to PCAA all-conference teams. Dave Sourdies and Scott Lewis were drafted by the California Angels. Layne Lambert and Donovan Osborne were named to the Baseball America Freshman All-America team.

Rounding out the Rebel sports season was the women’s track program which sent four athletes to NCAA competition. The Lady Rebels’ 440 Relay Team consisting of Tanya Davis, Gretchen Jim, Carrie Franklin, and Cheryl Cheeks earned All-America honors by finishing fifth in the NCAA Final. They are the fourth UNLV relay team to earn All-America status since 1971.

Other Rebel highlights from the 1987-88 athletic year: The Rebel football team brought prestige to the UNLV name. Elbert “Jidek” Woods became the first UNLV and PCAA runningback to lead his team in Division I rushing. Woods brought national exposure to the Rebel football program as he scrambled his way to the NCAA rushing title with 1,599 yards. The standout runningback with the three consecutive 200-yard games and three games of 100 yards or more. Woods became the Rebels’ highest drafted football player in the history, chosen the NFL’s 31st pick overall—the 3rd pick in the second round—by the Cincinnati Bengals.

Lady Rebel tennis player Jolene Watanabe, a sophomore from LaPampa, CA, finished the year ranked 69th in the nation for singles while teammate Tami Agassi, a freshman from Las Vegas, was ranked 94th. UNLV peaked in the PCAA Championships, finishing a strong second as a team.

The men’s tennis team tied the foundation for the future in 1988. With no seniors on the squad, UNLV is poised to improve dramatically in 1988 on their seventh place finish in the PCAA Championships.

The Swingin’ Rebel Golf team, under the guidance of first year head coach Dwayne Knight, improved steadily throughout the year. Senior Kevin Pedigo reached a three-way playoff in the NCAA Championship tournament. The team finished second in the U.S. International University Tournament, its best finish in recent memory.

Lady Rebel softball player Mary Gentner, a senior from Hays, KS, earned All-West Region First Team and All-PCAA First Team honors after leading the team in hits, runs scored, and times hit by pitch. Carey Lynne Embry, a junior from Mesa, AZ, also earned All-PCAA First Team honors while Tammy Bolle, a junior from Boulder City, NV, earned All-PCAA Second Team and All-West Region Second Team honors.

UNLV To Host Annual Radioactive Waste Management Conference

Beginning in April 1990, the Howard R. Hughes College of Engineering at the University of Nevada, Las Vegas will host an annual international conference on high-level radioactive waste management, according to Dean William R. Wells of the college. Wells' announcement came after the Dec. 9 meeting at UNLV of the conference steering committee, which he chairs.

"This conference will provide a unique opportunity for the presentation and exchange of scientific and technical information related to the management of high-level radioactive waste," Wells said. "The interdisciplinary character of this gathering, and the fact that it will bring together leading experts from around the nation and around the world, will enable us to greatly expand our knowledge in this important area." Wells noted that it is appropriate that the Howard R. Hughes College of Engineering at UNLV be designated the permanent host of the conference, because Yucca Mt. in southern Nevada is the only site under consideration for construction of a national high-level nuclear waste repository."

"The conferences will be co-sponsored by the professional scientific and engineering societies, who will play a major role in the steering and planning of each year's event," Wells said. The first conference, set for April 9-12, 1990, will be managed by the American Society of Civil Engineers. The American Nuclear Society will be responsible for coordinating the technical program. Wells said conference organizers will be soliciting scientific and technical papers on all aspects of high-level radioactive waste management for presentation at the conference.

Senior Citizens Ticket Discount

The UNLV Performing Arts Center will offer a new discount to senior citizens on tickets for the Charles Vanda Master Series. For each concert, 10 half-price tickets will be available to senior citizens on a first-come, first-served basis. These tickets will cost $8, which is half the regular price for senior citizen tickets. They will be available only on the night of the performance, beginning at 7 p.m.

Also, any season tickets that are returned to the box office the night of the performance will be given away to senior citizens free of charge on a first-come, first-served basis. These tickets are also available on the night of the performance only.

For more information, call the Performing Arts Center at 739-3801.

Telecommunication Device For Deaf

Hearing impaired members of the Las Vegas community can now order tickets to many UNLV cultural events with the help of a new telecommunication device obtained by UNLV's Performing Arts Center. According to Performing Arts Center Director Rick Romito, the new device allows box office staff to respond to their inquiry with ticket information.

The device utilizes regular phone lines, but messages are typewritten instead of spoken, Romito said. In order to use this system, the hearing impaired individual ordering tickets must also use this type of device. "This is part of our ongoing effort to make the Performing Arts Center more accessible to the handicapped," Romito said. The center obtained this device as a result of working with the local chapter of "SHHH" — Self-Help for Hard of Hearing (People). Hearing impaired individuals wishing to use this system can access it by calling the regular box office number, 739-3801.
