

Editor's Note

Journal of Health Disparities Research and Practice

Volume 1 | Issue 1

Article 1

© Center for Health Disparities Research, School of Public Health, University of Nevada, Las Vegas

2007

Editor's Note

Melva Thompson-Robinson , melva.thompson-robinson@unlv.edu

Michelle Chino

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digitalscholarship.unlv.edu/jhdrp>

Part of the Public Health Commons

Recommended Citation

Thompson-Robinson, Melva and Chino, Michelle (2007) "Editor's Note," Journal of Health Disparities Research and Practice: Vol. 1: Iss. 1, Article 1.

Available at: <https://digitalscholarship.unlv.edu/jhdrp/vol1/iss1/1>

This Article is protected by copyright and/or related rights. It has been brought to you by Digital Scholarship@UNLV with permission from the rights-holder(s). You are free to use this Article in any way that is permitted by the copyright and related rights legislation that applies to your use. For other uses you need to obtain permission from the rights-holder(s) directly, unless additional rights are indicated by a Creative Commons license in the record and/or on the work itself.

This Article has been accepted for inclusion in Journal of Health Disparities Research and Practice by an authorized administrator of Digital Scholarship@UNLV. For more information, please contact digitalscholarship@unlv.edu.

Editor's Note

Editor's Note

As the United States becomes increasingly diverse, the health status of various populations relative to others has come under scrutiny. The extent of health disparities in the United States is well known and does not need to be highlighted here. Rather, numerous professionals in a variety of different fields have dedicated their lives to understanding and eliminating these health disparities. The work of these professionals must be shared with others in order to build a congruent knowledge base from which new insights can be gained.

The Journal of Health Disparities Research and Practice is the culmination of a dream of many people who work in the area of health disparities. As editors, we hope that this provides a consistent forum for discussions about disparities and provides avenues that lead to the elimination of disparities. While we look forward to fostering this forum, in some ways, we hope that this journal is not needed long because of the elimination of disparities.

Sincerely,

Melva Thompson-Robinson and Michelle Chino
Founding Co-Editors

