RON MEYER
UNLV COACH

JACK SWARTHOUT
UM COACH

By Dominic Clark
UNLV Sports Information Director

Starting the season off with two road game victories, the University of Nevada, Las Vegas kicks off an attractive nine game home schedule tonight against the Grizzlies from the University of Montana.

The nationally ranked 2-0 Rebels of second-year head coach Ron Meyer will inaugurate this series with coach Jack Swarthout's Montana team by going with the same starting lineup the Rebs have had in their 28-10 victory over Weber State College in Ogden, Utah and 31-14 triumph over Northern Arizona University in Flagstaff, last Saturday afternoon.

Montana enters tonight's game with a veteran team but an 0-2 record with losses to Simon Fraser of Canada (23-14) and to nationally ranked University of South Dakota (24-10).

UNLV has some new faces, blended with several of last year's 8-3 squad, to give the Rebels an even stronger team than 1973. Of course, UNLV's first football All-American (Mike Thomas), is back to lead a bruising ground attack that is averaging 295 yards a game.

Thomas has gained 257 net yards in 39 carries for an average of 6.6 yards per carry and has scored three touchdowns. He has also caught three passes for 52 yards and one touchdown of 20 yards.

Three new faces in the offensive backfield to watch are fullback Keith Beverly, quarterback Glenn Carano and reserve running back K.C. Cole. Beverly, a sophomore, was the offensive player-of-the-week against Weber while Carano, also a sophomore, has completed 11 of 18 passes for 209 yards and two touchdowns. He has also run for 76 net yards and two touchdowns.

Cole, a freshman who was the L.A. City player-of-the-year for Gardena High last year, has run for 141 yards on only 17 carries for an 8.3 per carry average.

Mike Haverty, offensive star against Northern Arizona, has caught four passes for 55 yards and one touchdown of 21 yards.

A great utility man for the Rebels is senior wide receiver Steve Haggerty. Haggerty has caught two passes for 55 yards, returned three punts for 38 yards (a 12.7 yard average) and four kickoffs for 110 yards (a 27.5 yard average).

On defense, returnees Marlon Beavers, Joe Ingersoll, Mike Whitemaine and Scotty Orr are leading the way along with newcomers Mike Otto, freshman Greg Willis and linebacker Tony Sandone.

The Grizzlies would like nothing better than to claw down the Rebels. UNLV would like nothing better than to trap the Grizzlies.

Sit back and enjoy Rebel FOOTBALL . . .

UNLV SCENE

by Mark Hughes
Information Director

One of the Rebels' most faithful fans isn't at the game tonight.

University President Don Baepler is on the other side of the Valley this weekend, lecturing on desert ecology to a group of people assembled at UNLV's 9,000-foot-high field station in the Spring Mountains.

"It breaks my heart to miss the home opener," the president lamented before he left. "This is the first football game I've had to bypass in a long time."

Dr. Baepler, whose academic specialty is biology, is one of two principal instructors this fall in a rather unusual continuing education class called "Living World—Desert Style." He and Joe King, a graduate biology student, are acquainting about 20 local residents with the plants, mammals, birds and reptiles that occupy the arid regions of the Southwest.

So, instead of peering through binoculars at linebackers and split ends this weekend, the chief administrator is focusing his field glasses on chickadees, blue jays and an occasional ground squirrel.

"Too many people think the desert is a dreary, uninteresting place," Dr. Baepler explained. "We want to show them what it's really like—alive with all kinds of activity."

Tomorrow, he will lead a three-mile hike to explore a few ancient Bristlecone pine trees, reportedly the oldest living objects on the face of the earth. Along the route of the nature walk, he will be pointing out some of the dozens of shrubs and plants that are native to the area.

Dr. Baepler opened the first of six classroom lectures on desert life earlier this week on the campus. His slide-illustrated talks will continue through the end of next month when the second field trip is planned—an overnight expedition to the Salton Sea in California.

This means that the class members will investigate the two extremes of desert habitats, from one of the highest mountain tops to the lowest basin in the U.S.

Dr. Baepler has done research on bird life all over the hemisphere, from the cold plains of Alaska to the jungles of Guatemala and Ecuador.

But looking down at the lights of Las Vegas Stadium on Saturday night, he'll probably feel as far away from the home front as ever.

Las Vegas, we've got you going and coming.

Almost forty-nine years ago Western became the first airline to serve Las Vegas.

Today we carry more passengers in and out than any other airline. And we have a great flight schedule to prove it.

For instance, Western offers the most nonstops to Los Angeles and San Francisco.

We also offer nonstops or thru-jets to many cities, including Seattle/Tacoma, Honolulu, and Minneapolis/St. Paul. And good connections system-wide.

All this plus First Class Legspace for every passenger. And Complimentary Champagne for every adult. On all flights from and to Las Vegas.

All good reasons why, if you're headed out of or into Las Vegas, it makes sense to fly Western.

Your Travel Agent knows—just say you want to fly Western. Or call us at 739-5011; visit our ticket offices in the Las Vegas Hilton, MGM Grand, Riviera or Sahara Hotels.

THE BEST OF TRIVIA

And so begins our third year of nostalgia and non-sense. It is interesting to note that the popularity of trivia and nostalgia have grown over these years and now seems to be at an all time high.

Psychologists tell us that nostalgia, that yen for the "good ole" days is most prominent during hard times. The last great period of such wistfulness was before and during the Great Depression.

It is also true that during that same time span, sports was experiencing what is now called it's "Golden Age". It now seems ironic to look back on those particular "good ole days" and fondly recall the exploits of Ruth, Red Grange, Joe Louis, and others. Perhaps sports is the ultimate escape during hard times, helping people forget their every day troubles, and as such are always remembered with great fondness.

It is interesting to speculate that perhaps some future generation will look back to these times and nostalgically recall Hank Aaron, Jack Nicklaus, Billie Jean King, Muhammed Ali, Lou Brock, O.J. Simpson and speak of these days as the "Platinum Age" of sports.

Now try your hand at these trivia teasers:

1. Name the Pro football player who holds the record for most points scored in one game.
2. Who played the part of Grover Cleveland Alexander in the movie version of the great pitcher's life?
3. Name the only player ever to pinch hit for Ted Williams.

4. Has any movie, actor or actress ever won an oscar for a performance based on a sports picture?
5. What was the first sports attraction ever broadcast on television?
6. In the late 1950's Dr. Joyce Brothers won $64,000 on that popular game show for her knowledge of what sport?
7. In what year did TV begin it's coverage of the World Series?
8. Although Lou Brock recently broke the single season base stealing record, Ty Cobb still holds two records for thefts. What are they?
9. What fighter held the heavyweight crown for the shortest period of time?
10. Who was the first UNLV football player ever drafted by the pros?

PLAY TO WIN

SINCE 1950

1975. NOVA'S ALWAYS BEEN GOOD. NOW IT'S BEAUTIFUL.

Economy has taken a turn for the better.

The compact '75 Nova has been emphatically refined along the lines of elegant European sedans. Yet it's more than ever a strong reflection of the Chevrolet engineering tradition.

ANNOUNCING THE LN.

Nova's newfound beauty is ably represented by a whole new kind of Nova, one that just might be precisely right for the times.

You're looking at the 1975 Nova LN—the most luxurious compact in Chevrolet history. The wide-back reclining front seats look and feel like big, soft lounge chairs. The front seat backs adjust to give you the right slant on comfort. And the matching

'75 Nova LN.
To sit in one is to settle on one.

materials and fabrics throughout the car are a classic example of beauty in color coordination. There's also an electric clock and much more that says Nova LN.

ANNOUNCING ALL THE OTHER '75 NOVAS.

The basic '75 Nova, Nova Custom and Nova SS have many things in common with the LN. Styling, comfort, sensible size and sensible prices, to name a few. Thick carpeting, front disc brakes and GM-Specification steel-belted radial ply tires, to name a few more.

Obviously, the beautiful new '75 Nova—with its new front suspension system, trusty six-cylinder engine and new double-panel roof construction—is still a supremely practical Nova.

NOVA'S LOOKING BETTER ALL THE TIME.

We think beauty and practicality go together exceedingly well. And you're cordially invited to make the same conclusion—at your nearest Chevrolet dealer's.

Underdog Role Leaves President Undaunted

EDITOR'S NOTE: President Gerald R. Ford, a center-linebacker on the 1932-33-34 football teams at the University of Michigan, often has drawn parallels between politics and athletics. As a freshman congressman, House Minority Leader and now President, he has maintained, "Thanks to my football experience, I know the value of team play. It is, I believe, one of the most important lessons to be learned and practiced in our lives."

Gerald Ford knew he faced a challenge. The scouting reports by the Michigan coaches left little doubt that Minnesota would be the finest team the Wolverines would meet all season. And the Gophers were a running team, a fact that particularly concerned him.

Six-foot-two and a deceptive 198 pounds, Ford was Michigan's linebacker and center. His prime assignment that Saturday against Minnesota would be to help contain the running of all-America Pug Lund and Stan Kostka, a sophomore sensation at fullback.

Ford had played on Michigan's two national championship teams of 1932 and 1933, but now in his senior year the Wolverines were struggling with just one victory in four games. The Gophers, headed directly for the Big Ten title, were four to five touchdown favorites.

The unbeaten Gophers had not defeated the Wolverines in Minneapolis in 41 years, and the Twin Cities were alive with a week-long battle cry of "Mangle Michigan." A record 60,000 fans turned out to watch their Gophers end that long era of frustration.

Michigan's Blitz

Michigan's defense, however, with Ford and his linebacking mate Cefric Sweet playing inspired football, continually stopped the Minnesota attack by using the new technique of blitzing. Surprisingly, the half ended in a scoreless tie.

"I knew how good they were," recalled Bennie Oosterbaan, Michigan's assistant coach who had scouted the Gophers. "They were heavy favorites and when I walked into the dressing room at halftime, I had tears in my eyes I was so proud of them. Ford and Sweet played their hearts out. They were everywhere on defense."

Minnesota eventually won that game, 34-0, and went on to the national championship, but that cold November afternoon in Memorial Stadium has remained very special for Ford.

"During 25 years in the rough-and-tumble world of politics, I often thought of the experiences before, during and after that game in 1934," Ford says. "Remembering them has helped me many times to face a tough situation, take action and make every effort possible despite adverse odds."

President Gerald R. Ford

"I remember how Michigan students and people in Ann Arbor met us at the train station that Sunday. There was a rousing parade and this was a meaningful tribute to the fight the Wolverines had put up against Minnesota."

His teammates also paid Ford a meaningful tribute that season. Michigan won just one game, but Ford was voted the Wolverines most valuable player. As Francis Wistert, an all-America who played with Ford on two championship teams, later was to observe, "They felt Jerry was one guy who would stay and fight in a losing cause."

Rich Blood

Michigan coach Harry Kipke recruited Ford with the promise of a job. He waited on tables and cleaned up dishes at the University Hospital, washed dishes at his fraternity house and later became manager of the DEKE House. "I also was able to sell blood at $25 a bottle twice a month and that money came in mighty handy," said Ford of those depression years.

Ford played in the East-West Shrine and College All-Star games and received offers from two professional football teams. The young economics major, however, decided to study law, and Kipke helped him obtain a coaching job on the Yale football staff.

"I was an assistant line coach and also head coach of the junior varsity," Ford offered. "And we had some pretty fine young men on that JV team, too. Bob Taft and Bill Proxmire, both now U.S. Senators, played on my JV team and later on the Yale varsity."

President Ford received a law degree at Yale in 1941, served four years in the Navy, then in 1948 started his political career by upsetting the incumbent Republican representative in Michigan's Fifth Congressional District. Again, he had faced long odds against success, but as his teammates knew years before, Jerry Ford was never intimidated by a challenge.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

Sunday morning, cool and breezy, is ideal for sleeping late — as reflected by the number of porches on which newspapers still repose at 9 o'clock.

But a couple of strollers discover there is no sacked-in holiday luxury for some members of the University of Nevada, Las Vegas football team.

The gridders are kicking up divots and bumping pads with impressive zeal.

More important, the sight is a reminder the Rebels just do not have time to bask in the glory of two straight triumphs. There are still some acid assignments ahead.

That sight, however, is a small mark of the enthusiasm displayed on the UNLV campus this autumn. And, students are actually starting to buzz about the football team.

In fact, second-year head coach Ron Meyer, a dedicated staff and a young and ambitious squad have generated a lot of excitement throughout the community this year.

Interestingly, early after the dapper Meyer arrived on the Rebel grid scene the new pigskin boss said his reconstruction program would be aimed at playing football — "The Las Vegas Way."

Meyer was rapped across the knuckles by some for not thinking in the terms of "USC" or "Texas" or "Nebraska."

Frankly, "The Las Vegas Way" has been entertaining, impressive, a delightful change. To be sure, there's a long ways to go. But, Meyer and his aides, as well as their proteges, realize there is no "easy way" to the top. Yet, the Rebels have every intention of making progress, game by game, to better the victory output of an 8-3 finish in 1973.

Now the question, has UNLV football come of age?

Certainly, an 8-3 effort a year ago and a 2-0 start in 1974 would signal some type of surge.

One of the main concerns now is to continue to lure more fans to Las Vegas Stadium. Grid buffs started to flock to Rebel games in mid-season a year ago. Hopefully, that situation will prevail throughout the 1974 campaign.

From the sports reporter's standpoint, new coaches are fun. They give a fresh breath of air to the scene. They are enthusiastic about their program — which they must be.

Meyer, young and ambitious, is more than that. He's determined, dedicated. He has new philosophies and recruited new, but raw talent. And, he's a winner.

The coach has displayed a great talent for organization, discipline and "concern" in just over a year on the Rebel campus. In his initial season he guided the Rebels from football oblivion to national rankings and a near-shot at post-season competition. Two of the three losses last year were by a total of a meager six points.

Meyer refuses to get involved in what he calls a "numbers game," but he does admit he and his assistants are thinking in the terms of a 14-game season this time around.

UNLV's regular season slate is 11 games — including tonight's joust against University of Montana and eight straight struggles on the same AstroTurf through Nov. 23. Thus, an additional three games would involve a pair of playoff battles leading to a berth in the coveted Camellia Bowl.

Yes, football has come of age at UNLV. The stage has been set. Keep thinking football: "The Las Vegas Way."
