UNLV PRESIDENT DR. ROBERT C. MAXSON

President Robert C. Maxson has been the chief executive officer of the University of Nevada, Las Vegas since August 1, 1984.

Prior to assuming his duties here, he served as the Senior Vice President for Academic Affairs at the University of Houston. In that capacity, he was the chief academic officer of an institution of 45,000 students.

President Maxson earned his doctorate from Mississippi State University in 1970; his areas of study and interest have been educational leadership and social psychology. He has been especially interested in the phenomenon of leadership in colleges and universities. He has co-authored two college textbooks that together are used in approximately 100 universities. He has also published numerous articles in professional journals.

Dr. Maxson is married to Sylvia Parrish Maxson. They have two children, Kimberly, a junior at UNR, and Todd, in his third year of medical school at the University of Texas.

The President is a tireless worker in pursuit of his dreams for UNLV. He starts each day 5:30 a.m. with a three mile run and by 7:30 is in his office on the seventh floor of the Humanities Building. It is rare that he is home by 7:30 at night, because his evenings are filled with meetings and other University-related gatherings. His hobby is his work; the success of UNLV is his single-minded passion. That single-mindedness has not only infected his circle of higher administrators, his vice-presidents and deans and other members of his staff, but has also produced significant results.

Significant progress has been made on a wide-scale campus beautification program which will result in more formal entrances to the UNLV campus and extended landscaping around the perimeter of the institution.

New Ph.D. programs in both Sociology and English have been approved by the UNS Board of Regents, programs which will not only provide education and advanced degrees for interested area residents, but which also signal another step in the growth toward maturity of the University of Nevada, Las Vegas.

The most significant change at UNLV since President Maxson's arrival, however, has been in the student body. The Elardi Nevada Scholarships have brought to campus dozens of valedictorians of Nevada high schools. The new Honors Program now boasts its fourth class starting in the fall of 1988. In short, the quality of the student body at UNLV as measured not only by high school class rank, but also as measured by standardized SAT and ACT test scores, is the best ever. More and more, youngsters from all over Nevada are realizing that UNLV is indeed a Center of Excellence for all Nevadans.

Enrollment has not only brought better and better students to the UNLV campus, it has also brought more and more of them. A student body of approximately 15,000 now studies, learns, plays, and works at UNLV.

"There are no great cities in this country that don't have great universities," says Dr. Maxson. "Las Vegas is clearly on its way to becoming a great city, and the University of Nevada, Las Vegas is just as clearly on its way to becoming a great university. With the support of this fine community and with the wonderful faculty scholars and student scholars and staff at UNLV, we simply cannot avoid becoming truly a university of the first class. Neither we at UNLV nor our neighbors in the wider community will settle for less."

Director of the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics DR. BRAD ROTHERMEL

During the past four academic years, the University of Nevada, Las Vegas had each of its 14 intercollegiate athletic programs, with only one exception, represented in post-season, national competition. In addition, most of these teams were ranked nationally in the Top 20 at one time or another. Most of the credit for this outstanding record goes to UNLV's Director of the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics, Dr. Brad Rothermel.

Rothermel, who during the 1988-89 academic year will enter his ninth year as athletic director, has built UNLV athletics to the point where the university is now very competitive at both the conference and national levels.

Rothermel's philosophy while at UNLV has been that the function of the intercollegiate athletic program is to provide for the student-athletes an environment in which those student-athletes are able to pursue excellence in selected extra-curricular educationally related activities. Furthermore, his objective for the programs is to win within the structure of the rules and the budgetary framework provided. The achievement of this goal is demonstrated by successfully competing against national championship caliber competition in all activities sponsored by the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics.

Prior to his appointment at UNLV in 1981, he was Associate Director and Business Manager for the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics at West Virginia University. From 1974 to 1976 he was employed as Assistant Director and Business Manager for the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics at Kansas State University.

Rothermel supervised the intercollegiate programs for men and women while serving as Director of the Health and Physical Education at George Williams College in Downers Grove, Illinois, from 1971 to 1974.

From 1965 to 1967, he served as Supervisor of Counseling and Research Development while functioning in the capacity of Assistant Athletic Director of the University of Illinois Athletic Association. Prior to that position he was an administrative associate and coach for the Chicago National League Baseball Club (Chicago Cubs).

In addition to his above mentioned athletic positions, Rothermel has served

THE ROTHERMEL FAMILY

(From left) Beth, Brad and Suzanne, Christy as an administrator in numerous educational, recreational and financial environments. He also possesses coaching experience and experience as a competitor at all levels from elementary school through the professional ranks.

Rothermel received his Ph.D. in 1965 and a M.S. degree in 1961 from the College of Applied Human Life Sciences at the University of Illinois, Champaign-Urbana. He received his B.S. from Northern Illinois University in 1960.

Rothermel and his wife, Suzanne, a first grade teacher in the Clark County School District, have two daughters: Beth (20) and Christine (16). Beth will attend Kansas State University as a sophomore this fall.

THE SERIES WITH THE OWLS: The Rebels are 2-1 lifetime against Temple. Last year, UNLV center Anthony Todd drilled a 10-foot jump shot at the buzzer leading the Rebels to 59-58 win over the previously undefeated and No. 1 ranked Owls at the Thomas & Mack Center. Ironically, last year's game was also televised nationally by ABC.

THE SERIES WITH THE 49ERS: The Rebels are 19-6 lifetime against the 49ers. In a January 3rd meeting between the two schools in Long Beach, UNLV emerged a 97-76 winner as freshman Anderson Hunt came off the bench to score 21 points. Last year the 49ers posted a 79-77 upset over UNLV at the Thomas & Mack Center.

Little Rebel fan Justine King enjoys the game while her grandpa coaches and grandmother Lois Tarkanian provides "support!"

NATIONAL TELEVISION: The Temple game will be televised live to a national audience by ABC-TV. Gary Bender calls the play-by-play while former Kentucky head coach Joe B. Hall adds color commentary.

The Long Beach State game will be televised live nationally by the ESPN cable network as the third game of its Big Monday triple-header.

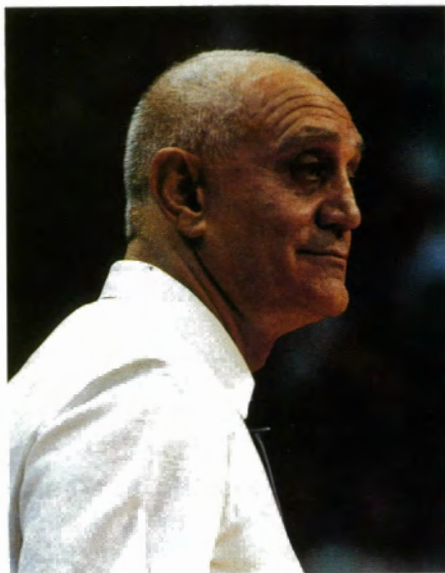

OPPONENT RECORDS: Temple University is currently 13-8 overall with a game against Rhode Island scheduled for Thursday night. They are 11-2 in the Atlantic-10 conference and most recently defeated Duquesne last Sunday.

Long Beach State is currently 11-11 overall and 8-5 in the Big West and will host New Mexico State next Saturday before coming to Las Vegas. Most recently they defeated Fresno State last Saturday.

HEAD COACH and SENIOR ASSISTANT ATHLETIC DIRECTOR for COMMUNITY RELATIONS JERRY TARKANIAN

- ★ The nation's winningest active collegiate basketball coach (by percentage)!
- ★ Five-time PCAA Coach of the Year!

all-time, ending his career at 410-86 (.8266).

In his 16th season at UNLV, Tarkanian has molded the Runnin' Rebels into a veritable basketball dynasty. Failing to win 20+ games in a season only once at UNLV, the Tarkanian era at UNLV has become known as the "Dynasty in the Desert."

Since his arrival at UNLV, Tarkanian has always managed to attract only the top prospects, as evidenced by nine NCAA postseason bids including the last six years in a row. He has twice driven his clubs to the NCAA Final Four, including the 1976-77 edition when UNLV was 29-3 and eventually finished third, and the 1986-87 version when the Rebels finished with a 37-2 ledger. Tarkanian-led squads at UNLV also have advanced to NIT contention twice including a Final Four appearance in 1979-80. Overall, Tarkanian has a 22-12 (.647) postseason record (18-9 NCAA, 4-3 NIT).

A Storybook Season

One of Tarkanian's most remarkable seasons was just two years ago in 1986-87 when the Scarlet and Gray reached storybook heights in Las Vegas. Another masterpiece for the Rembrandt of collegiate coaches, the Rebels finished the season with a record 37 wins against just two losses, landing at the NCAA Final Four. With a Western Regional championship and a semifinal loss to eventual national champion Indiana, the Rebels captured the hearts and imaginations of new fans nationwide. UNLV won a fifth consecutive PCAA regular season title along the way with an unprecedented 18-0 record, and claimed their fourth PCAA postseason tournament title in five seasons.

Owning the Big West

If his success at the national level can be considered commendable, his success at the conference level can be looked upon as nothing short of astounding! Under Tarkanian's reign, UNLV has won six consecutive PCAA regular season championships, including an unprecedented, undefeated campaign (18-0) in 1986-87, and a six-year conference mark of 97-9. In short,

WHAT THEY ASK US ABOUT THE MOST

Tarkanian trademark — Tark's Towel. The towel dates back to Jerry Tarkanian's coaching days at Redlands High School in 1960 when, during a league championship game against Ramona High School, Coach sought a simpler way to quench his thirst. Rather than continue walking to the fountain at the end of the court, Tarkanian soaked a towel with water and chewed on it whenever he needed a drink. Needless to say, he continued chewing as the game went to overtime, and a tradition had been established.

"I just got sick and tired of running to and from the drinking fountain in the middle of the game, so I grabbed a towel, soaked it in water, and carried it back to the bench. We won the game and the championship, and since I'm not one to change when something works, I've stuck with the towel ever since. I guess I believe in lucky charms."

Actually, there are two towels now. The one on top is soaked in nothing more than tap water, and a dry one on the bottom is used simply to keep the top one from sitting on the floor. The towel is wetted and folded (into 16ths, by the way), by a designated student-manager who has learned the folding technique from a predecessor. The towels are handed to Coach Tarkanian as he enters the court at pre-game.

NATIONALLY PROMINENT

• He is the nation's winningest active coach by percentage at the major college level with a percentage of .825 (501-106). He is followed by Temple's John Chaney who boasts a .796 percentage (379-97) in 16 seasons.

• Tarkanian is just percentage points behind Clair Bee as the all-time winningest coach in college history. Bee ended his tenure at Long Island University and Rider College with an .8266 percentage, just ahead of Tarkanian's .8254. Tarkanian hovered above Bee's mark for three months last season before losing to UC Irvine in the PCAA Tournament.

• He enters the '88-89 campaign as the seventh winningest active college coach in terms of most wins with 501.

• He has taken his major college teams to NCAA postseason play 13 times in 20 years, including the last six in a row and two Final Four appearances.

• His 13 NCAA appearances are tied for the sixth most in NCAA history with legendary DePaul coach Ray Meyer. Tarkanian's current line of six straight NCAA Tournaments is tied for sixth best among current streaks, and his 24 NCAA Tournament wins is ranked seventh among all-time coaches.

• After 27 years at the college level, Tarkanian has won 713 games, an average of 26.4 wins per season.

• Tarkanian's winning percentage for his 27-year career is an amazing .844 (713-132).

• He has failed to win 20+ games in a season only twice in 27 years. And only three times have Tarkanian-led teams lost 10 or more games.

King of the Big West

• Tarkanian is the winningest coach in conference history with a ten-year regular season conference record of 136-13. He was 40-4 in four seasons at Long Beach State, and 97-9 after six seasons at UNLV.

• Tarkanian is three wins shy of becoming the first coach in conference history to record 100 league victories at the same school.

• He has won ten regular season conference championships in ten seasons as a PCAA coach.

• He recorded a conference record of 25 consecutive PCAA wins at Long Beach State (1969-72).

• Tarkanian won three consecutive PCAA Coach of the Year awards at UNLV (1982-85) and five overall (1987-88).

• He owns a six-year conference tournament record of 12-2.

Tark Wears More Than One Hat...

Tarkanian has literally owned the PCAA (now Big West).

In the Beginning

Prior to his successful career at UNLV, Tarkanian put Long Beach State basketball on the map and began his terror against Big West opponents. In five seasons with the 49ers, he compiled a 116-17 (.872) record and made four trips to the NCAA Tournament. Beginning with the 1968-69 season and ending with his final campaign in '72-73, Tarkanian never lost a home game while at the Beach, winning a remarkable 65 games without a loss. He also earned accolades as Professor of the Year and Salesman of the Year for his efforts in promoting the university. He was recently elected to the Long Beach State Athletic Hall of Fame.

His initial days of coaching began humbly enough at San Joaquin Memorial High School in Fresno in 1956. He moved onward to Antelope Valley High School (Lancaster, Calif.) in 1958 before making subsequent moves to Redlands High School (Redlands, Calif.) in 1959 and Riverside City College in 1961.

Tarkanian's collegiate coaching odyssey began in 1961-62 at Riverside City College. His first season ended with an undistinguished 14-13 mark but things soon changed as he led Riverside to four straight 30+ win seasons and four consecutive California JC championships. He recorded a perfect season in 1963-64, 35-0, and tallied a 145-22 (.868) overall mark in five years at Riverside.

He moved to Pasadena City College for two seasons beginning in 1966-67, compiling a 67-4 (.944) two-year mark and still another California JC crown. He then ventured to Long Beach State in the fall of '68 to begin his present tenure as a major college coach.

Other Tarkanian coaching posts include national and international assignments. He coached in Ecuador for the People-to-People Sports Committee in April and May of 1968. He coached the Junior College Olympic Team the same year.

Runnin' Rebel Family

Tarkanian makes his home on the basketball court. He is both father and teacher to the members of his prestigious household, preaching virtues such as hard work, loyalty and discipline. His wife, Dr. Lois Tarkanian, has been instrumental in maintaining his basketball household. She has been a consistent contributor in establishing an academic support system for Rebel basketball that is among the finest and most progressive in the nation. Son Danny, a recent graduate of San Diego Law School, is now practicing law in Las Vegas.

What is most remarkable about this UNLV family is that in a city of bright lights and big name stars, the hometown Runnin' Rebels shine brightest.

A Community Figure

Despite all his achievements on the basketball court, Tarkanian is often over-

BIG WEST BASKETBALL NOTES

by Jody McRoberts
Asst. to the Commissioner, Big West Conference

BUTLER PACES REBELS

UNLV junior David Butler was the main reason the Rebels defeated 17th-ranked N.C. State Sunday in Raleigh, but Sunday wasn't the only day the 6-10 center has shined recently. At N.C. State, Butler hit nine of 13 from the floor and totalled 21 points and seven rebounds. He also led the Rebels in scoring against Cal State Fullerton (eight for 11 from the floor, 21 points) and UC Santa Barbara (nine for 12, 26 points, 11 boards).

CSF SNAPPING COLD SPELLS

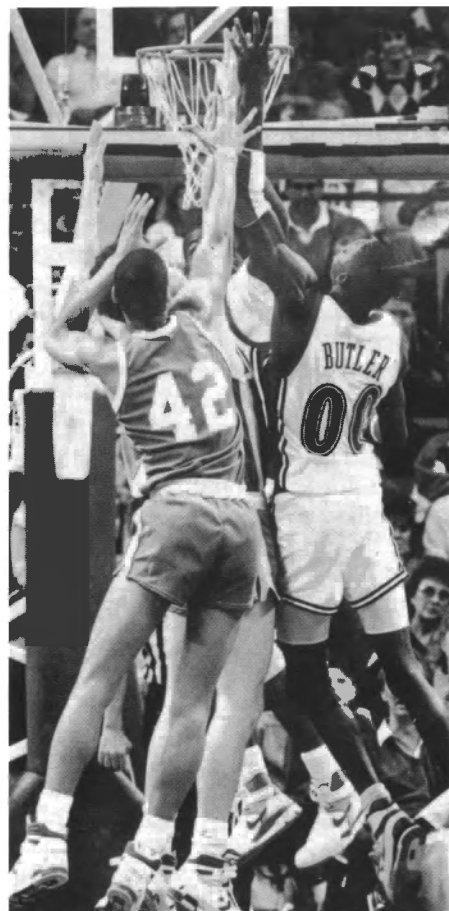

At 11-10, Cal State Fullerton is only one victory shy of last year's total (12-17) with at least seven games still to play. The Titans' current three-game winning streak has snapped some cold spells against their victims . . . CSF's win over UC Santa Barbara on Feb. 4 broke a five-game losing streak vs. the Gauchos, and Thursday's victory over UNLV snapped a 15-game losing streak vs. the Titans and were trying to complete a third consecutive season sweep of the regular season matchups. Fullerton's win over UNLV was the first in six years against the Rebels and the victory at Irvine was the Titans' first in the Bren Center.

HERDMAN & DOKTORCZYK TOP NATION

In last week's NCAA statistics, UC Irvine's Jeff Herdman and Mike Doktorczyk were 1-2 in three-point field goal percentage. Entering this week, the 6-7 Herdman is shooting 60.3 percent (35-58) and the 6-9 Doktorczyk 56.9 percent (33-58). As a team, the Anteaters have hit 34 of 55 (61.8 percent) three pointers in their last four games.

BUTLER COMES ALIVE

UC Irvine sophomore forward Ricky Butler has scored 101 points (20.2 average) and grabbed 44 rebounds (8.8) in the Anteaters' last five games. He is 33 of 52 from the field in those five games for 63.5 percent.

David Butler

ANTEATER STREAKS

As the UC Irvine Anteaters bus to Northern California this weekend, two opposite streaks are on the line. Since Bill Mulligan became UCI's head coach in 1980, the Anteaters are 8-0 in Stockton and 0-8 in Fresno. In fact, UCI has never won in Fresno, going 0-12 at Selland Arena.

BUZZER BEATER

Cal State Fullerton guard Mark Hill has nicknamed teammate Wayne Williams "buzzer beater" after his exploits in the last three games. Against UC Santa Barbara on Feb. 4, Williams hit a 35-footer at the halftime buzzer for a seven-point CSF lead. Against UNLV on Feb. 9, he hit a 25-footer to win the game at the overtime buzzer, and against UC Irvine on Feb. 11, he hit a 25-footer at the halftime buzzer to give CSF a 39-38 lead at the intermission.

FULLERTON'S WILLIAMS NAMED BIG WEST PLAYER OF THE WEEK

Cal State Fullerton point guard Wayne Williams, who scored the winning baskets in the Titans' victories over UNLV and UC Irvine last week, has been selected as the Big West Conference Player of the Week.

Williams, a 6-0, 165-pound freshman from Los Angeles, hit a 25-foot three-pointer at the buzzer for a 93-92 overtime win over UNLV Thursday night (Feb. 9) in the Titan Gym. Williams had 12 points and four assists and only two turnovers in 41 minutes vs. the aggressive UNLV defense. At UC Irvine Saturday night, Williams converted a pair of one-and-one free throw opportunities in the final 27 seconds for the difference in a 78-75 Fullerton win. The Titan rookie had a career-high 20 points, including four-for-four from the three-point line. He played 40 minutes and committed zero turnovers.

For the week, Williams hit 10 of 18 shots, including six of seven three-point tries, and six of eight free throws while contributing eight assists and committing only two turnovers in 81 minutes.

A MESSAGE FROM UNLV PRESIDENT DR. ROBERT C. MAXSON

OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

UNLV PRESIDENT
DR. ROBERT C. MAXSON

Dear Friends of UNLV:
Once again I'd like to welcome you to the Thomas and Mack Center for an exciting season of college basketball.

Coach Tarkanian and his men have prepared for another season of the run-and-gun play that has become the hallmark of the Rebels for many seasons now. And, as the quality and expectations of play have increased in the thirty years of Rebel basketball, so have the quality and expectations of the academic side of our institution.

We enrolled almost 15,000 students this fall, which set another attendance record for UNLV. Not only are our numbers growing, but the quality of our students is increasing as well. We have now enrolled over 100 valedictorians from Nevada's high schools over the past four years, and can boast of over 140 in our distinguished Honors Program. All of this growth will bring us another bumper crop of professors over the next biennium. Their presence, along with the extraordinary faculty we can already boast of, will serve to enhance the high level of learning that takes place daily on our campus. As a major Ph.D. granting university, we have now taken our place alongside the premier academic institutions in the nation.

UNLV is indeed young, proud, and growing. It is also a university that will settle for being nothing less than first rate. We appreciate the support you have given us in our quest.

Have a good year!

Sincerely,

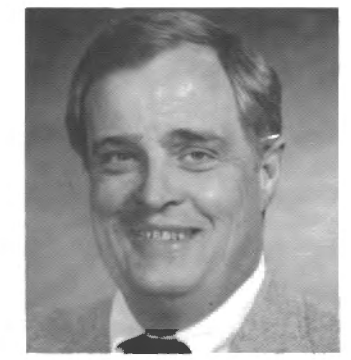

Robert C. Maxson

THE RUNNIN' REBEL COACHING STAFF

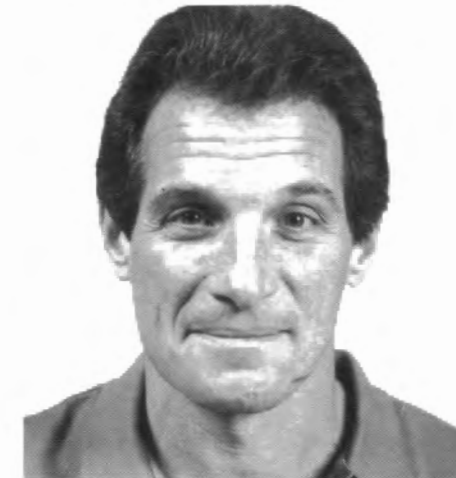

TIM GRGURICH
Assistant Coach

Tim Grgurich begins his ninth season with the Runnin' Rebels coaching staff. As Tarkanian's right-hand man, Grgurich adds a tremendous amount of coaching expertise to the Runnin' Rebel program.

A graduate of Central Catholic High School in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, Grgurich earned three letters in both basketball and baseball. He then attended the University of Pittsburgh and was a three-year letter-winner in both basketball and baseball. While playing for Pitt, the Panthers appeared in one NCAA tournament and one NIT tournament, reaching the quarter-finals each time.

COACHING EXPERIENCE: Grgurich began his collegiate coaching career as an assistant coach at his Alma Mater, the University of Pittsburgh. Serving as the assistant coach for the Panthers for 11 seasons, Grgurich also coached Pitt's freshman basketball team and tallied an impressive 99-33 record. He was appointed head coach of the Panthers in 1975 and tallied a five-year record of 71-70. Grgurich compiled a 52-30 mark his last three seasons at Pitt. As head coach, he guided the Panthers to two NIT tournament appearances. He also recruited and coached All-America Billy Knight, recently retired following a long NBA career. Grgurich earned numerous coaching awards at Pitt, including Pittsburgh Basketball Writers Coach of the Year in 1975-76, 1977-78 and 1978-79.

PERSONAL INFORMATION: Date of birth is 6-11-44. Alma Mater is the University of Pittsburgh, 1966. Grgurich also earned a masters degree from the University of Pittsburgh in 1966. He is married to the former Kathy Kinley and has two children, Jennifer (14) and Suzanne (10).

RON GANULIN
Assistant Coach

Ron Ganulin joined the UNLV staff last year after a successful coaching tour of duty on the east coast. Ganulin's contributions are on both the offensive and defensive sides of the ball, as well as coordinating the recruiting program.

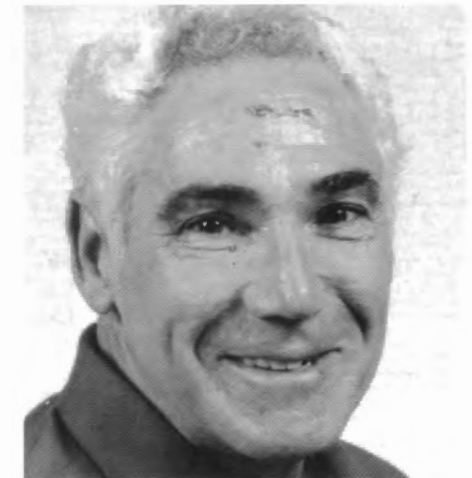

A graduate of Erasmus Hall High School in Brooklyn, NY, Ganulin attended Long Island University where he earned a bachelor of science degree in health and physical education. At LIU he helped the Blackbirds to three straight NCAA Division II tournaments. His 1967 club lost in the semi-finals to eventual national champion Winston-Salem, which was led by Earl Monroe.

COACHING EXPERIENCE: Ganulin served two years as an assistant coach at Old Dominion University before coming to UNLV. Prior to his term at ODU, Ganulin served on Bob Dukiet's highly successful staff at St. Peter's College in New Jersey for three years.

The Queens, NY, native was the head coach at New York Tech from 1979-81. In 1980 Ganulin's team reached the NCAA Division II finals, losing to Virginia Union 80-74. That year NYT was 26-3, led by ECAC Player of the Year Kevin Hicks. Ganulin was 40-15 in two seasons at Tech.

Ganulin also assisted at C.W. Post during the 1977-78 and 1978-79 seasons. Prior to working at C.W. Post, he coached the Gan Schmucl team in Israel for three seasons.

PERSONAL INFORMATION: Alma Mater is Long Island University, 1967. Ganulin is single and resides in Las Vegas.

HOWIE LANDA
Part-Time Assistant Coach

Howie Landa joins the UNLV Runnin' Rebel coaching staff for his first season.

Landa was the head coach at Mercer City College (in Trenton, New Jersey) for twenty years, encompassing a 25-year span. At Mercer CC he had two national championship teams in 1973 and 1974 and was named national junior college coach of the year three times.

In college, Landa was an All-American basketball player and was on the NCAA All-Star team in 1952. He played professional basketball for both Sunbury and Hazelton of the Eastern Pro League for six years.

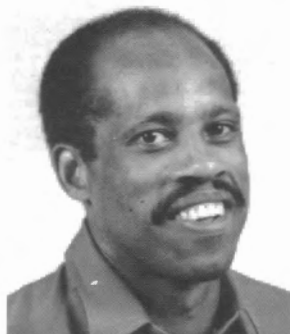

COACHING EXPERIENCE: Landa served as head coach at Mercer City College for twenty years, encompassing a 25-year span. At Mercer City he compiled a 494-162 win/loss record. He had two national championship teams in 1973 and 1974 and was named national junior college coach of the year three times, and was twice runner-up. He coached junior college player of the year Bob Sands (who went on to Pepperdine) and 1972 player of the year Melvin Weldon (who then played at Boston College) and 1973 player of the year Connie White (Cal).

In 1975 Landa coached in Italy in the Class A league and in 1975 in the Eastern Pro League, where he was named coach of the year.

In 1982 he coached the New Jersey Gems of the women's pro league, with Ann Meyers.

PERSONAL INFORMATION: Landa is a 1955 graduate of Leabon Valley College (Philadelphia area). His wife, Darlene, is a schoolteacher, and they have two daughters, Robin (24) and Davida (20). He is a major speaker for Nike and is one of Nike's most popular speakers.

ATHLETIC-ACADEMIC SUPPORT

Runnin' Rebels academic progress is monitored by a fine staff of academic counselors. The basketball unit is headed by athletic academic consultant Mike Alsup, who is assisted by Shelley Fischer. The Rebels were very proud to welcome back former Runnin' Rebel Sidney Green of the New York Knicks, who completed his degree requirements during the off-season and graduated this past spring (photo, top left). Current Rebel Travis Bice (top right) receives an award as one of UNLV's top student athletes at the annual Awards Luncheon in May. Another Rebel success story was Armon Gilliam (left), now of the Phoenix Suns, who graduated with his class in 1987.

THE SHARK IN THE PARK — HAPPY BIRTHDAY TARK!

Coach Jerry Tarkanian shared his birthday this past summer with some 1,500 children from the City of Las Vegas at a giant birthday party held at Wet 'N Wild, a local water park. The children, who presented Tarkanian with giant hand-made birthday cards, were treated to a massive birthday cake designed by The Caterers of Las Vegas and each received a "Happy Birthday Tark" t-shirt compliments of UNLV and NIKE, as well as a Tarkanian poster designed in cooperation with Letezia, Lewis Advertising. For those interested in numerology, Tarkanian was 58 years of age on August 8th (8-8-88). In the photos (top left) Tark greets a young fan; (bottom right) there was enough cake to feed all of Las Vegas; (top left) Coach and master of ceremonies Steve Fox accept a giant card; (bottom left) the UNLV cheerleaders lead the singing of "Happy Birthday."

 looked for what he does off the court in the Las Vegas community. A very popular figure, sports or otherwise, he spends many hours of his time involved with community-related functions and charities. He has been honored by the Las Vegas Kidney Foundation as Man of the Year for his efforts on behalf of the organization. He also runs basketball camps for youngsters of all ages, as well as being an active member of various charitable organizations.

Tarkanian has been recognized by the university for his community efforts, being named Assistant Athletic Director with designated duties as Director of Community Relations in 1982. He was promoted during the summer of 1988 to his post as Senior Assistant Athletic Director.

Born, Raised and Educated

A native of Euclid, Ohio, Jerry Tarkanian attended Pasadena City College before graduating from Fresno State University in 1955. He proceeded to earn his master's degree with honors in educational management from Redlands University.

Tarkanian and his wife, Lois, have four children: Pamela (King), Jodie, Danny and George. Tarkanian's first grandchild, Justin Rose King, was born 8/24/88.

Still Going Strong

From his passion with pressure defenses to his obsession with towel-chewing, Jerry Tarkanian has indeed compiled remarkable statistics in his lengthy tenure as a college head coach. Twenty-seven years is a very long time to do one thing, let alone do it well. Needless to say, Jerry Tarkanian has done it.

THE NEXT GENERATION — The year was 1964 (above left) back in the Riverside City College days. Coach Tarkanian sits with Danny (then two old years old) and George (seven months) while Lois is with Pamela (six) and Jodie (four). Today (right) the Tarkanian family welcomed the first grandchild, Justine Rose King, born August 24, 1988. The Tarkanian children (left to right) Danny, Jodie, Pamela (Mrs. Erik King) and George have varied careers. Pamela has a master's degree and is a teacher in a counseling based program for emotionally disturbed children in the Clark County School District; Jodie is an intensive care nurse; George is in a doctoral program in political science; and Danny recently graduated magna cum laude from San Diego Law School and is practicing law in Las Vegas.

Automobile dealers in Las Vegas are contributing a large measure of help to the UNLV Athletic Program with membership in the UNLV C.A.R.S. (Courtesy Auto Resource System) Ltd., program — the loan of the courtesy cars. Like other programs which are a part of Rebel booster activities, this project enables the UNLV Athletic Department to make greater use of its funds. These sports-minded dealers have earned a debt of gratitude from the Rebel Athletic Department. They are an important part of the "Team" that helps make UNLV athletics so successful.

REBELS ON THE RADIO

Rebel Radio Sports, of Roughrider Broadcast Associates will once again produce Rebel basketball on the radio. The Rebels will be heard on KDWN Radio, 720 AM. The 50,000 watts of power brings Rebel basketball to fans throughout 11 western states and parts of British Columbia and Mexico. Calling the action for the Rebels is nationally acclaimed announcer, Ross Porter, who is also a voice of the World Champion Los Angeles Dodgers.

Denny Hovanec, former Rebel assistant coach and current assistant coach for the World Basketball League Champions Las Vegas Silver Streaks is in his third season as Rebel color analyst.

Rebel broadcasts are a five-hour package with the game preceeded by "Rebel Basketball Talk" a 1½ hour show hosted by Lee Pete and Mark Warkentien. Rebel Talk will be broadcast live from the Thomas and Mack prior to home games and from KDWN studios will feature call-in lines for Rebel fans to call in with questions.

The Rebel pre-game show features Ross Porter one-half hour prior to tip-off. Following the game will be a half-hour post-game show.

JAMES HANEY
Commissioner

On July 1, 1988, the Pacific Coast Athletic Association marked the beginning of the league's twentieth year by changing its name to the Big West Conference. The new name is seen as a simpler, more accurate description of the league's 12 member institutions (Cal State Fullerton, Fresno State, Long Beach State, New Mexico State, San Diego State, San Jose State, UC Irvine, UC Santa Barbara, University of Hawaii, UNLV, Pacific and Utah State).

When the league was first formed in 1969, it consisted of seven charter members, all of which were located in the state of California. In its 19 years of existence, however, the conference has expanded to include universities from states which are not on or near the Pacific Coast (Utah, Nevada and New Mexico). Because of this expansion, the new name will serve to better identify all of the conference's member institutions.

Through 19 years of existence, the Big West Conference has made numerous positive strides in intercollegiate athletics. Recent highlights of the league's success include the 1987 NCAA basketball championships, when, for the first time ever, the conference had a representative in both the men's (UNLV) and the women's (Long Beach State) Final Four. Last season, three of the league's men's basketball teams (UNLV, Utah State and UC Santa Barbara) were invited to the NCAA Regionals - the most ever for the conference.

Another first occurred in the spring of 1988, when three conference baseball teams (Cal State Fullerton, Fresno State and UNLV) received bids to the NCAA Regionals, with Cal State Fullerton and

BIG WEST CONFERENCE
1700 East Dyer Road, Suite 140
Santa Ana, CA 92705
(714) 261-2525

Fresno State both advancing to the College World Series.

Six conference teams were invited to the NCAA women's volleyball championship last fall, and conference member Hawaii won the national title, making it the third straight national volleyball championship for the league (Pacific won in 1985 and 1986).

Four conference teams received bids to the NCAA Softball Regionals last spring (Fresno State, Long Beach State, Cal State Fullerton and associate member Cal Poly Pomona), and two of them — Fresno State and Cal Poly Pomona — participated in the College World Series. Fresno State wound up as the No. 2 team in the nation.

The Big West Conference office is headed by James Haney, who was hired as the league's commissioner last spring. Only the third commissioner in the history of the conference, Haney succeeded Lewis Cryer, who guided the conference through 10 years of expansion and development.

The University Library Society Invites You To Support Academics & Athletics During Love Your University Library Month - February 1989

The James R. Dickinson Library is situated in the center of the Academic Mall and houses a collection of over a million research items which includes a half million books. It serves not only the campus, but also the Las Vegas community by providing the quality academic collections essential for the diverse activities of a vital, growing urban region. A public library card can be used to borrow items from UNLV's Library.

The University Library Society is the support group which is helping to build the research collection into the intellectual resource needed to sustain a major urban university. Its current project is a twenty thousand dollar yearly gift to build the backfile collection of research journals in all academic fields. The Society has designated February as a time to assist the university library in its growth toward excellence. Library friends will host and sponsor a variety of activities throughout the month in an effort to raise funds and memberships. In addition, the Society sponsors a weekly book sale during the academic year. Call 739-3286 if you have books to donate. Please join with the University Library Society to help create another acclaimed Southern Nevada resource.

Marta Sorkin, Library Staff member, Stacey Augmon, Rebel Basketball player and Shirley Hurt, ULS member are looking forward to the Love Your Library Month and the upcoming reception.

Voted "Best of Las Vegas" - Las Vegas Review Journal

THE UNIVERSITY OF NEVADA, LAS VEGAS

The University of Nevada, Las Vegas, is a young, growing institution that is making significant progress toward its goal of becoming one of the nation's leading urban universities. With a faculty of approximately 400, some 75 percent of whom hold doctorates, UNLV offers 64 undergraduate and 50 graduate degree programs to a student population that in the fall of 1988 reached almost 15,000, a record enrollment.

UNLV's 335-acre campus is located in the metropolitan area south of the City of Las Vegas. Its academic colleges include Arts and Letters; Business and Economics; Education; Health Sciences, Hotel Administration; Science and Mathematics, and Engineering. The School of Health, Physical Education and Recreation is housed in the school of education.

Although the University is now only three decades old, it has maintained a healthy rate of growth, both in programs and physical plant. In 1985 the Nevada Legislature appropriated $14.7 million for construction of the 101,000-square-foot Thomas T. Beam Engineering Complex, named for one of UNLV's most generous donors. When the new complex opens in 1988, it will house the Engineering College, which was formed in 1987 as a means of strengthening the engineering and computer science programs. The college and the engineering complex are major steps forward in the University's effort to provide strong programs in the technological higher education. Four new dormitories, a student-life building, a Student Health Service Building, and a new Public Safety Building were all constructed in 1988.

The recently established Honors Program and the Margaret Elardi Nevada Scholars Program have helped the University attract many academically outstanding new students. Thanks to a substantial donation from Mrs. Margaret Elardi, the Nevada Scholars Program offers scholarships for valedictorians to enroll at UNLV. More than 100 valedictorians from Nevada high schools registered at UNLV in the fall of 1988.

In addition to its regular academic programs, UNLV offers more than 600 classes through its Division of Continuing Education, which enrolls 16,000 students annually.

The University operates an on-campus Center for Business and Economic Research, Center for Economic Education, Center for Applied Computer Science, Environmental Research Center (in cooperation with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency), Desert Biology Research Center, Center for Survey Research, and other research and public-service centers.

With its Performing Arts Center, the campus is the cultural hub of Southern Nevada. The Master Series of concerts by world-class orchestras and soloists, Nevada Dance Theatre and Contemporary Dance Theatre, and the Department of Theatre Arts combine with other University and community arts organizations to provide a broad selection of concerts and stage productions. The Barrick Lecture Series and several campus groups bring noted speakers to the University, and local and visiting artists show their works in Donna Beam Fine Arts Gallery.

The university has excellent sports facilities that are open to students and the general public. The Paul C. McDermott Physical Education Center has lighted tennis courts, playing fields, a 50-meter Olympic swimming pool, two gymnasiums, handball/racquetball courts, dance studios, gymnastics and weight-training rooms, and a full-size track.

Other points of interest on campus include:

Museum of Natural History — Permanent and traveling exhibits illustrate the biology, geology, and archaeology of the Southwest. Open daily, free admission. Call 739-3381.

Donna Beam Fine Arts Gallery — Exhibits by faculty and invited artists, with an emphasis on modern art. Located in Alta Ham Fine Arts Building. Open weekdays, free.

James R. Dickinson Library — Total holdings of 1.4 million items, including more than 485 books and bound journals. The Special Collections Department contains a world-renowned collection of gaming materials.

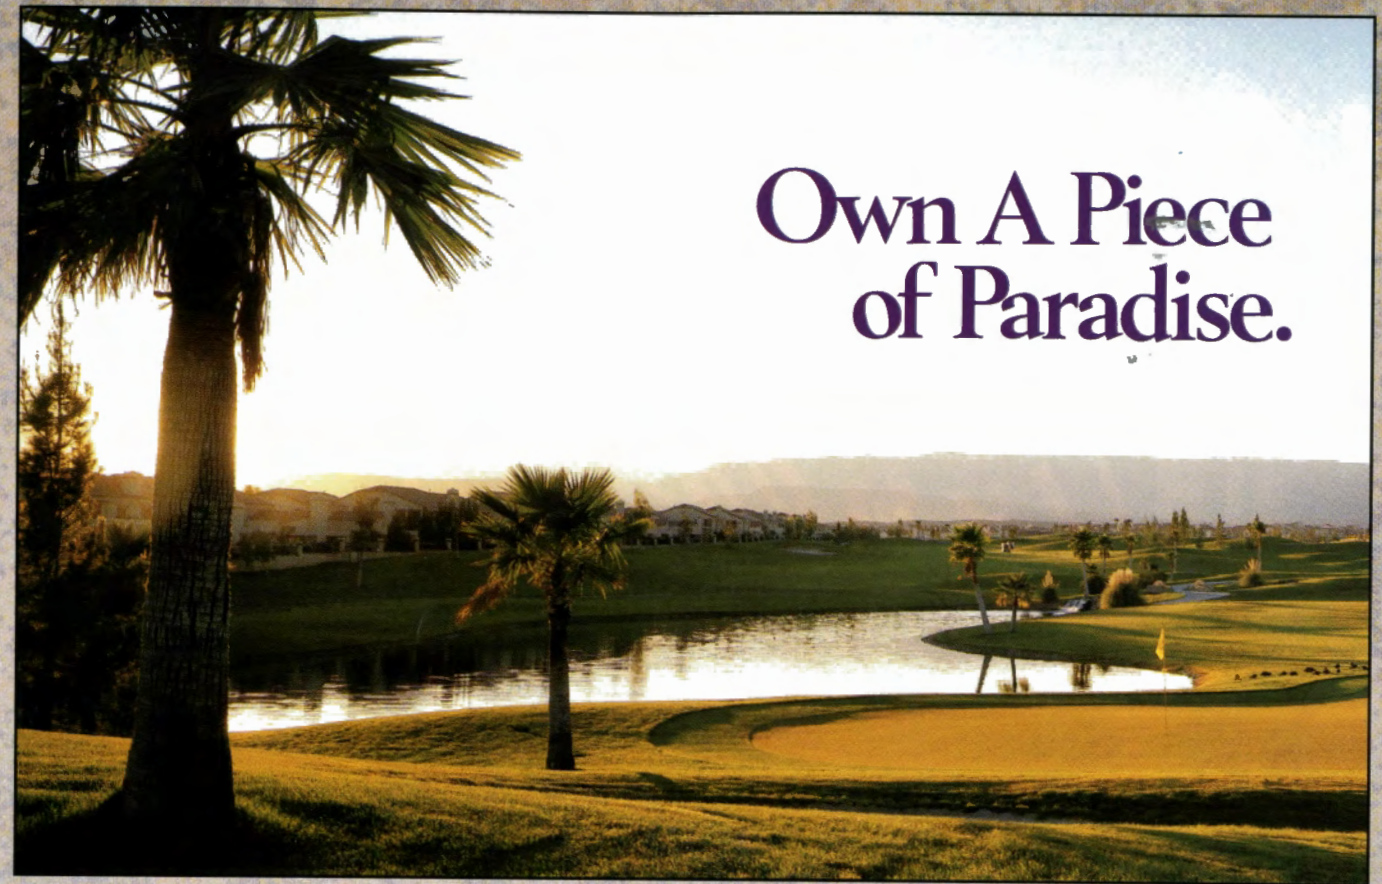

The Flashlight — A 38-foot-tall, 74,000-pound steel sculpture by internationally known artist Claes Oldenburg stands on the plaza between Artemus W. Ham Concert Hall and Judy Bayley Theater, at the north end of the campus's Academic Mall.

Atrium and Aviary — A lush garden and bird sanctuary in the lobby of Jauanita Greer White Life Sciences Building, open weekdays.

Thomas and Mack Center — The 18,500-seat sports arena and special events facility, home of the UNLV Runnin' Rebels.

UNLV operates on a semester system and is a member of the American Association of State Colleges and Universities, the Council of Graduate Schools in the United States, the Western Association of Graduate Schools, the American Council on Education, and the Western College Association. All of the University's academic programs are fully accredited by the Northwest Association of Schools and Colleges, and many programs have received further accreditation from independent national accrediting bodies.

THE COACHES: UNLV head coach Jerry Tarkanian is in his 21st year of coaching at the major college level and is the winningest active coach by percentage with a career record of 517-112 (.822). In his 16 years at UNLV, Tark has posted a mark of 401-95 (.808). Totals are heading into the San Jose State game.

Temple head coach John Chaney is in his 6th season at Temple and has posted a record of 167-46 heading into Thursday's game with URI. Overall he is 392-105 in 16+ seasons.

Long Beach State head coach Joe Harrington is in his 2nd year at Long Beach and has posted a record of 28-23 heading into next Saturday's game against NMSU. Overall he is 154-122 in 9+ seasons.

UNLV-THE BEST IN THE BIG WEST: Although this is the first season that the old "PCAA" has been renamed the Big West Conference, the Runnin' Rebels have dominated the league since joining it in the 1982-83 season. The Rebels have captured all six league championships and have posted a regular season mark of 107-11 (.907) in those six plus seasons. In addition, UNLV has won the conference tournament in four of those six years.

Greg Anthony makes a quick stop into the laps of the Rebel stat crew.

UNLV RECORD: The Runnin' Rebels raised their record to 16-6 on the season with a 89-80 win over North Carolina State last Sunday. David Butler scored 21 points and grabbed seven rebounds in the win over the 17th-ranked Wolfpack, which snapped NC State's 17-game home winning streak. In Big West Conference action, UNLV is now 10-2 and in sole possession of first place.

BIG WEST KING: UNLV Head Coach Jerry Tarkanian has literally owned the Big West. Already the only coach to win 100 or more conference games overall (at Long Beach State and UNLV), he initiated an even more elite club earlier in the year with a win at Long Beach making him the first coach in conference history to hit the century mark in wins at the same school. In six years at UNLV, his conference mark stands at 107-11. In ten years overall, Tark's ledger is 146-15 (.907).

HOME, SWEET HOME . . . With the win over UC Santa Barbara, the Runnin' Rebels have begun a new winning streak at the Thomas & Mack Center. Now in their sixth year at the "Shark Tank," the Runnin' Rebels have posted an overall record of 83-6 (.933) in their fabled arena.

. . . AND SOUR FOR OPPONENTS: In an NCAA poll administered prior to the season, the Thomas & Mack Center was ranked in a tie for third place as the toughest place to play college basketball among Division I schools. Duke was considered the toughest place while Kentucky took second place honors. In a four-way tie for third place was North Carolina, New Mexico, Syracuse and UNLV as selected by Division I head coaches.

NEXT UP: Following the San Jose State, Temple, and Long Beach games, UNLV closes out the home portion of its season with a February 23 game against Fresno State. The Rebels play their remaining four games on the road including games at Louisiana State (Feb. 25) and UC Santa Barbara (Feb. 27).

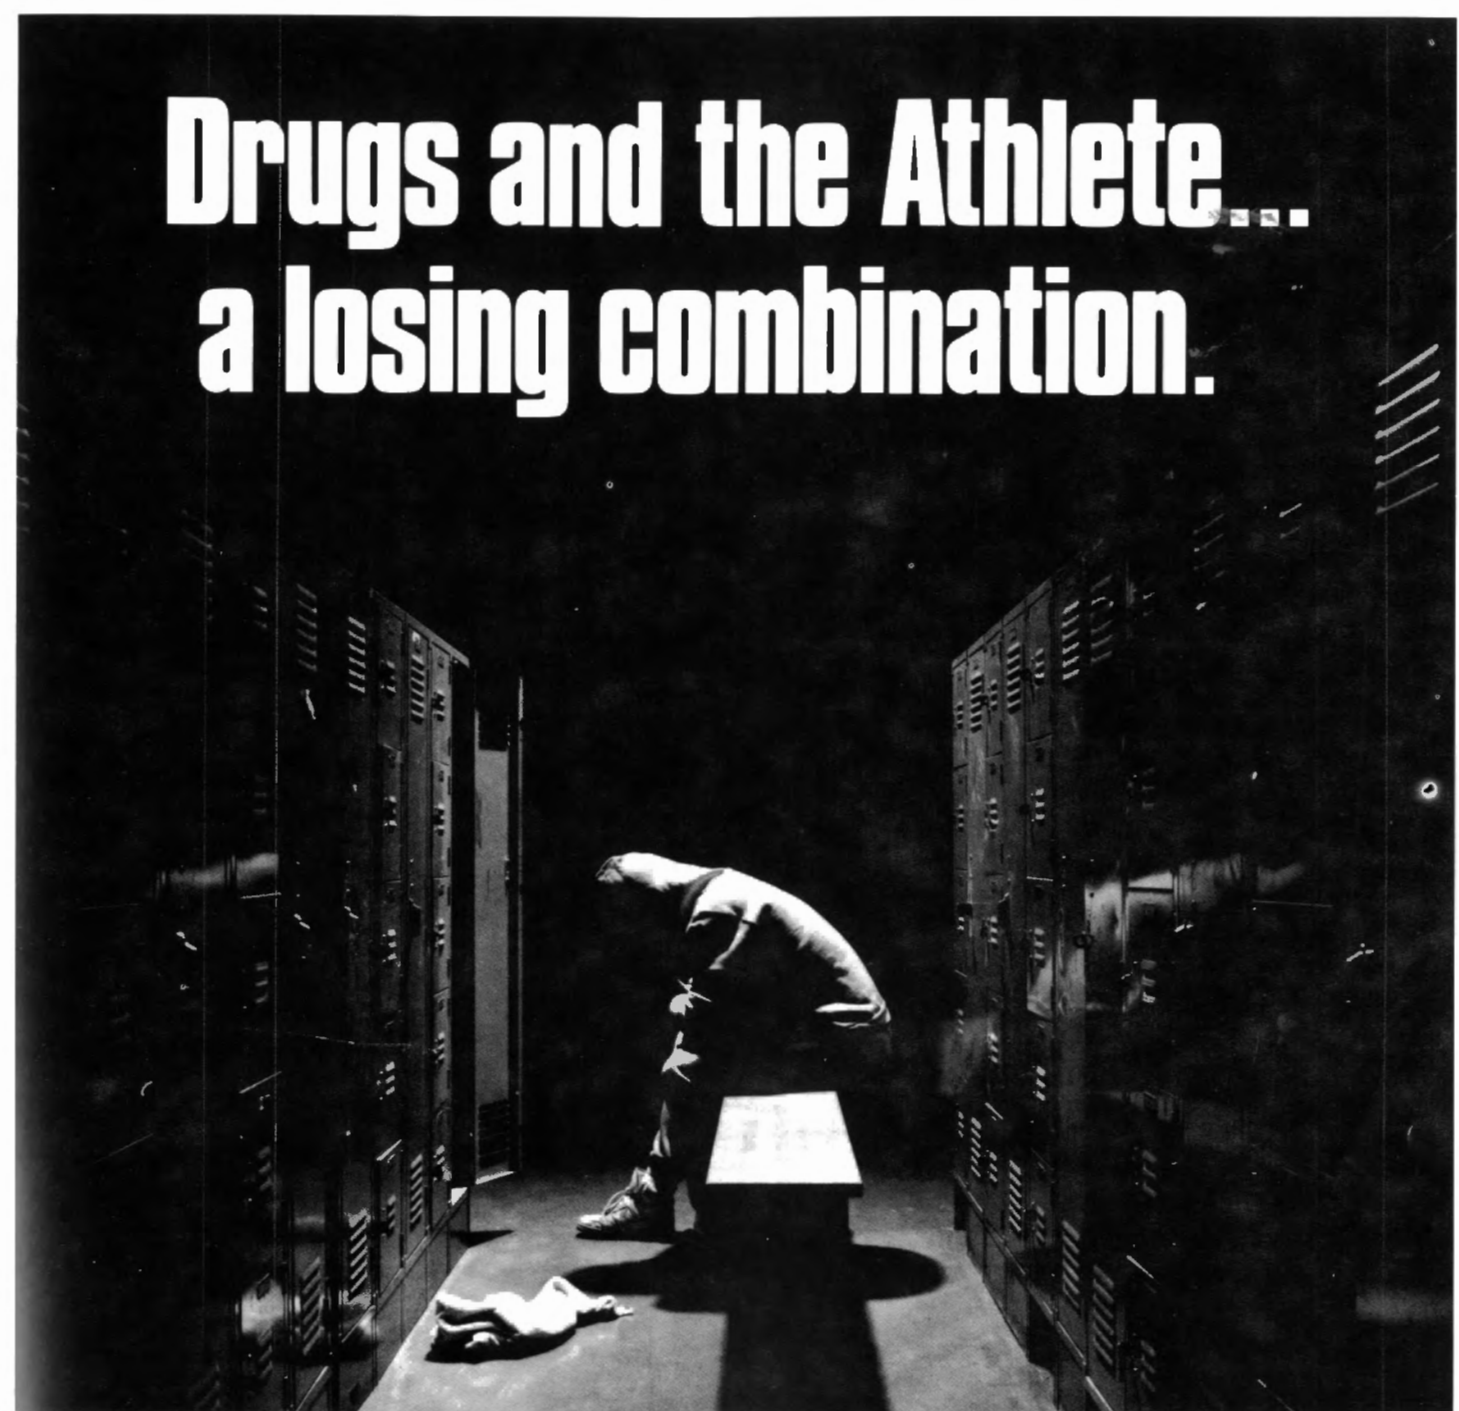

With these two games, the Rebels say "good-bye" to announcer Ross Porter (pictured here with UNLV baseball coach Fred Dallimore). Ross will be joining the Los Angeles Dodgers at spring training in Vero Beach next week.

Augmon and Ackles tip the ball.

Drugs and the Athlete... a losing combination.

Athletes command a unique position in American society and in societies throughout the world. Many view the athlete as a hero who strives for perfection. The public expects excellence, and to achieve these high standards and thereby maintain public favor, the athlete must maintain peak alertness, responsiveness, efficiency and coordination.

A small segment of the athlete population has resorted to the use of drugs (e.g., anabolic steroids, amphetamines and various "street drugs") purported to improve physical performance. The decision to use drugs to improve physical performance, for the most part, has not been based on sound information and could have dire physical consequences for involved individuals. Further, such usage violates NCAA ethical principles.

The ethics of sport need to be emphasized, particularly in that taking drugs to improve performance constitutes cheating. There is need to reemphasize the fact that the important thing in sport is to compete honorably; to win at all costs is a contradiction to the meaning of sport.

The athlete should not carry all the blame for the situation. Coaches, trainers and the medical profession need to share some of this burden, as does the public, for expecting and frequently demanding a winning effort every time.

Society has placed a number of demands upon the athlete. If one believes that athletes and the general public will make sound judgments most of the time when provided with the necessary information, educating athletes and others about drug effects, appropriate drug use and the skills needed to cope with such problems could have substantial benefits to the individual and to society.

The NCAA has produced a pamphlet entitled "Drugs and the Athlete...a losing combination," which includes the latest and best information available on the problem of solving drugs in sports. To order, send $3 for 12 copies to: NCAA Publishing, P.O. Box 1906, Mission, Kansas 66201.

AVIS, A COMPANY THAT TRIES HARDER, IS PROUD TO SUPPORT A TEAM THAT MAKES IT LOOK EASY.

Giving of ourselves enthusiastically is our trademark. In a phrase, we try harder.

It's this code of ethics that winning teams are made of. But we're not telling you Rebels anything you don't know.

What you may not know about is our low weekend rates (so low, in fact, they make Avis something of a rebel of rent-a-cars). They're yours for the asking at any four convenient Avis locations: the Las Vegas International Airport, Caesars Palace, Las Vegas Hilton and Bally's Grand Hotel.

Or call us locally at (702) 739-5595, or toll free from Southern California and out-of-state at (800) 331-1212.

It's just one more way trying harder makes it easier on you.

Avis features GM cars.

Rebel Rookie Knows Her Role and She's Playing it to the Hilt

by Greg Bortolin
Las Vegas Review-Journal
Reprinted with Permission

Lori Brotherson could have played for the Lady Rebels' next opponent but that would have been easy.

Instead, last year's Review-Journal Female Athlete of the Year out of Virgin Valley High decided to accept the Elardi scholarship at UNLV for high school valedictorians and walk onto the Lady Rebels Top 20 program.

"You really have to give her credit," UNLV Coach Jim Bolla said. "She showed up for all of the pre-season conditioning. She has no allegiance to UNLV other than pride. When she gets into the games, she never shoots because she'd rather pass the ball."

"When I talked to her early in the year she said this was the hardest she's ever worked academically or athletically. She's doing a great job at both. When she plays, she's happy about it and when she's on the bench, she cheers."

"She's the kind of person you want on your team."

At UNLV, she's a freshman who averaged 3.6 minutes in nine games. She's the last one off the bench but she's on the 17th-ranked Lady Rebels that are 18-3 overall and 9-3 in the Big West. She'll get a look at where she could have gone in Cedar City, Utah, at 6 p.m. today when UNLV takes on Southern Utah State. The independent Thunderbirds are 6-16 in their first season at the Division I level.

"I came here because I got a really good academic scholarship," Brotherson said. "I didn't like the idea of going somewhere where it is freezing and I liked the idea of coming to Las Vegas because it's warmer and not that far from home."

So far Brotherson has been up to the challenge. Having five brothers around to play with and a father who is a basketball coach has paid off. The leading scorer and rebounder in Virgin Valley history, Brotherson averaged 22 points and 13 rebounds during her senior season. Because her high school team was so dominant, she compiled those statistics playing a lot of half games.

Quotable

"The difference (between college and high school) is that everyone here can play. You don't have to worry about players not being able to catch and throw."

— Lori Brotherson

No longer the star, Brotherson says she has made the adjustment and has her priorities in order.

"The first semester was a hard adjustment here," Brotherson said. "All the required reading, tests and lectures were a shock. Study hall really helped a lot. My hardest class was psychology, which had 300 people in it."

On the court, Brotherson said she really didn't know what to expect.

"I just want to get into the flow more and hopefully next year I'll play more," Brotherson said. "The coach knows what he's doing, just look at his record. We'll just have to see what happens."

Brotherson never expected to start and candidly believes she deserves her fate.

"The difference (between college and high school) is that everyone here can play," she said. "You don't have to worry about players not being able to catch and throw."

Brotherson said the coaching staff was grooming her as a No. 2 guard. In the meantime, she'll work on her ballhandling and confidence in taking her shot. But halfway through her freshman season, Brotherson likes the chemistry of the Lady Rebels.

"We're all like family but we have our times," she said. "We don't let it affect us on the court. I admire certain aspects and their attitudes carry over. P.J. (Pauline Jordan) can rebound and is tough. I admire that. Linda (Staley) is a good ballhandler and is consistent. Shari (Netzel) always has a good attitude and I admire that as much as the other skills."

And they're all very competitive.

She's playing alongside four guards who could all make a case for starting. But Brotherson likes the way the competition isn't taken personally. And then there's Bolla's complex offense.

The hard part is over, though. Brotherson is happy she chose UNLV.

AROUND THE LEAGUE — Penny Toler became the Big West Conference scoring leader when she scored 25 points against UNLV. Toler has 1,789 points, which passes up former teammate Cindy Brown . . . Toler needs just 50 assists to pass UNLV's Misty Thomas on the all-time assist list . . . Pauline Jordan leads San Diego State's Chana Perry in rebounding average 13.8 to 13.7 per game . . . The Lady Rebels 15.7-point average difference between points scored and yielded leads the league.

DONOVAN OSBORNE: UNLV's TOP GUN

Sophomore hurler Donovan Osborne already has established himself as one of the finest lefthanders in the country . . . thus far in 1989 he is 3-0 with a 1.57 ERA . . . Here is more on UNLV's "TOP GUN":

- Osborne's career high 14 strikeouts (in eight innings) last Friday vs. BYU was the most by a Rebel pitcher since Greg Roscoe tied the school record with 15 vs. Nebraska in 1986 . . . Osborne's previous career high was 13 vs. San Jose State last season in 8.1 innings . . . Osborne's 14 strikeouts, plus one by ninth inning reliever Chance Gledhill, tied the school record for team strikeouts . . .

- After allowing three straight singles to load the bases with one out in the seventh against BYU, Osborne slammed the door with five straight K's over the 7th & 8th innings before leaving due to a high pitch count (130) . . .

- Osborne's victory over 22nd-ranked BYU was his eighth straight win in as many decisions including his last five in 1988 . . . Other "victims" of the "Osborne Express" were '88 College World Series participants Fresno State and Cal State Fullerton, '88 regional foe Evansville, and WAC power Hawaii on the road earlier this season . . .

- Since his streak began (9 games with no decision vs. UCLA), Osborne is 8-0 with 53 K's, only 19 walks, and a 3.37 ERA in 61.1 innings pitched . . . He has averaged 6.2 IP per start over the course of the streak, and has completed at least eight innings five times . . .

- Osborne was one of just five freshman or sophomores in the country to earn recognition among Baseball America's "Pre-Season Top 30 Pitchers" . . . Osborne is the only lefthander on the list that is not eligible for the 1989 major league draft . . . He was a Freshman All-America pick by Baseball America in 1988 . . .

- Osborne was an honorable mention all-conference pick in the Big West Conference which sent seven of nine all-conference pitchers to NCAA post-season play . . .

- He finished the 1988 campaign with a 10-4 record, 4.24 ERA, and UNLV freshman records for wins and strikeouts (94).

UNLV's Bart Pippenger Surprises Himself

by Dean Juipe
Las Vegas SUN Sports Editor
Reprinted with Permission

Bart Pippenger came to UNLV because he liked the basketball team and to pursue a degree in hotel management. He had no idea he might develop into a world-class swimmer during his stay. But he's edging toward that distinction.

"All this success is very surprising," Pippenger said Friday from his home in Orofino, Idaho, where he is spending his Christmas break. "I came from a small town (pop. 3,000), was really only a swimmer and never that great of a high school swimmer. I never thought I'd be as far as I am now."

Pippenger's status took another leap this past week. At the U.S. Swimming Championships in Indianapolis, he won the 200 butterfly and tied for first in the 100 butterfly. He had career-best times in each, taking the 200 in 2:00.13 and the 100 in 54.47.

Just last August at the U.S. Olympic Trials meet in Austin, Texas, Pippenger swam the 200 in 2:00.20 and the 100 in 54.62. He finished fifth in the 200 and ninth in the 100. Those were improvements over his finishes in the NCAA meet last spring, when he came in fourth (against lesser competition than the Trials) in the 200 and 17th in the 100.

Obviously, he just keeps getting better.

"When I first started I just wanted to do well in the conference meets for UNLV," Pippenger, a 20-year-old junior, said. "I guess this proves you can be as good as you want to be. You have to stick with it, never back down, always give 110 percent and never cheat yourself."

Pippenger lives by those rules. UNLV's swim teams practice three mornings a week for two hours, two afternoons a week for 2½ hours, and Saturday's for four hours. No one works harder than Pippenger, who is also conscientious enough to sacrifice competing in one of his specialties (the 100 butterfly) to fill a gap on the Rebels. When Doug Beaudry left the team last fall, it was Pippenger who stepped in to fill the vacancies in the 200, 500 and 1,000 freestyles.

He does that just to help the team — his strength is clearly in the shorter butterfly events.

Specifically, until the meet in Indianapolis, he thought his specialty was the 200 butterfly. But now he's closer to the world record in the 100.

The world record in the 200 is 1:56.24, with the U.S. record Melvin Stewart's 1:57.50. The world record in the 100 is 52.84.

Pippenger was seeded No. 2 in the 200 and No. 3 in the 100 at Indianapolis.

"I didn't at all think I'd go as fast as I did at the Trials," Pippenger said. "The atmosphere (at Indianapolis) wasn't the same as it had been at the Trials. The team wasn't there and neither was my coach (Jim Reitz). I've always had him there, so that was a little different."

"It was kind of scary — I had a little experience but maybe not as much as I should have had."

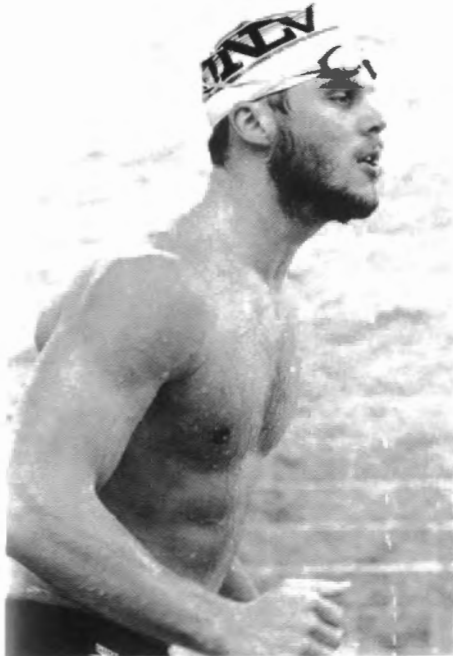

Pippenger's practice times in the 100 at Indianapolis were good and he said he swam the prelim (55.10) as hard as he could. During the final he was third at 50 meters, then made a move that even he found surprising. "I don't know what happened, but I just kicked it in," he said. He finished tied for first with Jim Harvey.

BART PIPPENGER

Pippenger said he cruised in the 200 prelim, then took dead aim at his goal of 1:59.59. He was in line for it too, until losing some of his concentration down the stretch. He won, but he got out of the water a little disappointed.

"I was under my goal at the first 50 and a half-second under at 100," he said. "I had a strong third quarter and was way under, then in the last 50 I started looking around too much and it cost me some time. You're taught not to look around but I did, and I breathed every time I came up."

The failure to hit his goal seems secondary. The fact of the matter is that Pippenger has become one of the country's leading collegiate swimmers. And, like all who battle opponents and a clock, he wonders how good he can become.

"I'm still trying to find that out," he said. "It's a great feeling to be improving. You wouldn't want to keep working and not be dropping time."

"Having my best times at Indianapolis only makes me want to go harder."

Thomas & Mack Center:

November/December '88 marks Fifth Anniversary

Five years brings
"Something for Everyone"

It's difficult to imagine a Runnin' Rebel game with a sell-out attendance of little over 6,000 cheering fans, but only six years ago that was the case for the UNLV team on their home court at the Las Vegas Convention Center.

Back then there were thousands of unfortunate Runnin' Rebel fans who would have given their first born for a ticket to a home game. The cries for a new and bigger home court grew louder as the city and the university grew larger.

The cries were answered when two prominent Nevada bankers, E. Parry Thomas and Jerome Mack set up the original land foundation and donated the first one-half million dollars for the initial architectural renderings and feasibility studies for the building that now bears their names.

On Nov. 21, 1983 the Runnin' Rebels faced the University of Victoria, Canada in an exhibition contest at a new gray and red complex on the corner of Tropicana and Paradise roads called the Thomas & Mack Center. Coach Jerry Tarkanian was happy and satisfied. Loyal Runnin' Rebel fans were ecstatic.

Initially the building's construction plans centered around one type of event — college basketball. Over its relatively short five-year history, this one-dimensional concept dramatically changed. Because of many physical alterations, the Center is capable of hosting just about any type of event imaginable.

The Center is primarily "Tark's Shark Tank," with the UNLV Runnin' Rebels playing the number-one attraction for Las Vegas, but multipurpose has become the buzz word used by the Center's management team.

"We have something for everyone," says Dennis Finrock, executive director of the Center. "Shows like Sesame Street Live, big-time wrestling, professional rodeo, top-name rock concerts, NBA exhibition games — every year the number and diversity of our events increases."

As the Center celebrates five years, it looks back on the many diverse attractions it has provided Las Vegas. Concerts have become as popular as athletic events. Some local favorites who have performed at the Center include Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin and Diana Ross (for the gala grand opening held on Dec. 16, 1983); and touring shows such as Pavorotti, the Boston Pops, Genesis, Yes, Van Halen, Elton John, Billy Joel, U2, Lionel Richie, Rod Stewart, Hank Williams Jr., Kenny Rogers, Dolly Parton and Waylon Jennings have also played the Center.

"We provide both accommodations and experience that easily mold our facility to meet any need."

The National Finals Rodeo (formerly held in Oklahoma City) has found a new home at the Center. Known as the "Super Bowl of Rodeo," this annual event has spurred a great boost to the once-sagging December Las Vegas economy.

Family-style entertainment has also grown at the Center. Every year the ever-popular Disney On Ice Show brings in close to 60,000 fans. Other family shows include the Harlem Globetrotters, Masters of the Universe and the Muppet Babies.

The Center also hosts industrial shows. These types of events depend on large accommodations, experienced managers and unique floor plans in order to be successful.

"We provide both accommodations and experience that easily mold our facility to meet any need," says Finrock. As a testimony to that, the Center has already hosted industrial shows and parties for such prominent companies as State farm Insurance, Shell Oil, Kentucky Fried Chicken and Toyota.

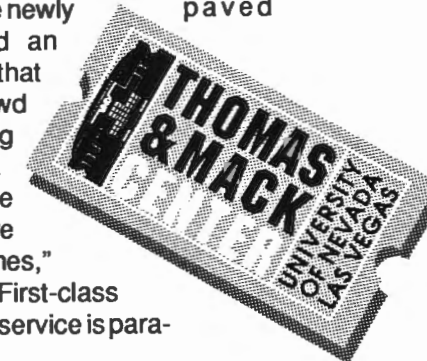

"Our goal in every thing we do for the building is to make it more convenient for the promoter and more pleasant for the guests who attend our events," says Finrock. To meet such goals, the Center recently formulated an in-house service committee that meets weekly to discuss better guest and client service. In addition, new projects on board include plans for accoustical clouds and short curtains that hang from the ceiling to enhance sound absorption during concerts. And some recent changes are the newly paved parking lot and an applause meter that measures crowd response during sporting events.

"Service and variety are our central themes," adds Finrock. "First-class guest and client service is paramount."

Offering a well-rounded program of events has made the Thomas & Mack Center one of the premier facilities in the west. Guest tours of the facility are held on request Whether interested in booking a show or just attending any of the 160 events held annually at the Center, the experience is guaranteed to be enjoyable.

the Ticket!

"Our goal in everything we do for the building is to make it more convenient for the promoter and more pleasant for the guests who attend our events."

By Dean Juipe

From Dwaine Knight's perspective, this was as good as winning.

The UNLV coach was just short of ecstatic as his team dropped its score for the third straight day and rallied for a third-place finish in the 15th annual PriMERIT Bank Rebel Classic at the Desert Inn. Top-ranked Oklahoma State may have won the 15-team tournament, but you wouldn't have known it by Knight. He looked at the present and had a glance at the future, and liked what he saw.

"I'm pleased, real pleased, with this team and it's showing," he said after the Rebels' 895 three-day total went up. Their 296 day was three shots better than the second round and four shots better than the opening round.

"It's amazing, but we've been in every tournament with nine holes to go," Knight said. "This is a young team that has done great and continues to progress. We've got some guys who can play a bit."

UNLV finished 14 strokes behind Oklahoma State, the nation's top-ranked team, and six behind defending tournament champion Arizona State. The Rebels also had two of the top five individuals, with Hub Goyen and Darin Osborn in a three-way tie for third. As an added bonus, the Rebels had the highest finish of any Big West team and grabbed first place in the conference standings, with the Rebel Classic one of three tournaments that count toward the regular-season championship.

"We've had a tremendous fall and I couldn't ask for more," Knight said. "Today we got it going on the front side and had a chance to win, but then tailed off a bit. It's one thing to get in a position to win and another to be able to keep it going, so that will give us something to work on."

Among the contenders, UNLV had the youngest team, with three freshman, a sophomore and a junior in the lineup.

THE UNLV REBEL ATHLETIC CLUB

What is the RAC?

The UNLV Rebel Athletic Club is a gift club established at The University of Nevada, Las Vegas to provide support for the athletic program in areas other than athletic scholarships. The Rebel Athletic Club provides support in areas which include: academic support services, recruiting, awards, banquets and equipment.

How Do You Benefit?

As a Rebel Athletic Club member, the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics provides numerous benefits and privileges in accordance with the different membership contribution levels.

These benefits include a media guide; Rebel Athletic Club embroidered shirt, sweater, jacket and blazer; Rebel Athletic Club clock; Redd Room/Stadium Club privileges; Big West Basketball Tournament priority seating; free VIP parking; and trips to selected football and basketball games.

Established to Perpetuate Academic and Athletic Excellence at UNLV

The University of Nevada, Las Vegas Department of Intercollegiate Athletics fields fourteen mens and womens athletic programs that compete at the NCAA Division I level. It is our goal to produce national contenders in every one of these programs. In intercollegiate athletics, there is a high correlation between winning and budgetary expenditures. In order to reach our goal of academic and athletic excellence it is necessary to generate sufficient revenue to produce and maintain these high caliber programs.

The UNLV Scholarship Donor Fund (currently including over 2,000 individuals and corporations) provides a major portion of the scholarship and recruiting budgets of the athletic programs at the University. This financial base provides deserving student-athletes with the opportunity to develop and grow through intercollegiate competition at the highest level. It is necessary, though, to generate additional revenue through the UNLV Rebel Athletic Club in order to supplement the UNLV Scholarship Donor Fund.

★ New Member Incentive

It is the goal of the UNLV Department of Intercollegiate Athletics that every participant in the Scholarship Donor Program eventually join the growing ranks of the Rebel Athletic Club.

Therefore, any first-year member of the Club will receive a $150 credit if they pledge a minimum contribution at the $500/Associate Coach level.

Please call or visit John Peterson at the Athletic Development for additional information, Thomas & Mack Center, Room 74, phone 739-3614.

★ How UNLV Benefits

UNLV Rebel Athletic Club members have the satisfaction of knowing they are responsible for providing:

(1) Educational opportunities for young student-athletes.

(2) The margin of excellence which enables UNLV to provide quality competition at the level of excitement and intensity only found in Division I athletics.

Rebel Athletics Enjoy Another Banner Year 1987-88

Spearheaded once again by the tremendous success of the Runnin' Rebel basketball team, UNLV athletics prospered in 1987-88 season with seven of fourteen sports being represented in national post-season championships.

The '86-87 basketball season saw the Runnin' Rebels claim their sixth PCAA championship in the six years UNLV has been in the conference. UNLV posted victories over the Soviet National Team, then unbeaten and eventual number one-ranked Temple, Louisiana State, and Providence while climbing as high as number 2 on the Associated Press Writers Poll. The Rebels ran to a 26-4 regular season record, 15-3 in the PCAA. They advanced to the second round of both the PCAA and NCAA tournaments. Jarvis Basnight (All-District 8 and All-PCAA first teams), Stacey Augmon (PCAA Freshman of the Year), Gerald Paddio (All-District 8 and All-PCAA second teams) and Jerry Tarkanian (PCAA Coach of the Year) were among the Rebels honored in 1987-88.

The Rebel soccer team rolled to its fourth PCAA championship in the five years the league has existed with a 8-2-0 league record, 14-5-0 overall. The team was ranked as high as eighth by Soccer America Magazine and won its opening round game of the NCAA Soccer Championship tournament. Eddie Anibal, Shawn Ritchie, and Jeff Wale all earned All-PCAA first team honors. Wale was also chosen PCAA Co-Player of the Year while head coach Barry Barto was selected PCAA Coach of the Year. Junior Simon Keith was honored with the Stan Gilbertson "True Grit" Award by the Dapper Dan Club of Pittsburgh, PA, as the nation's most courageous athlete.

UNLV's Lady Rebel basketball team concluded their season with a 25-9 mark and their fifth consecutive appearance in the PCAA Tournament Championship. The Lady Rebels, 14-4 in conference play, finished second in the PCAA behind Final Four participant Long Beach State, and were selected the No. 1 seed in the Women's National Invitational Tournament. UNLV established a national identity early in the season with a key road victory at Louisiana State which propelled the Lady Rebels to a No. 13 national ranking. Pauline Jordan was named a first team All-PCAA selection while senior captain Karen Hall received honorable mention honors.

The Rebel Swimming contingent sent three swimmers to NCAA competition resulting in three All-Americans and the highest finish ever by a Rebel men's swimmer. Sophomore Bart Pippenger set new standards for Rebel swimming, placing his name among the national elite in the 100 and 200 Butterfly. Pippenger led the nation early in the year in the 200 Fly and finished fourth for All-American honors at the NCAA Championships. Wendy Meyers captured a fifth place NCAA finish in the 400 Individual Medley while Sally Fleisher garnered honorable mention All-America accolades with a 16-place finish in the 100

Breaststroke. Rebel men's and women's squads each finished second in the PCAA and 27th nationally. Pippenger and Meyers were each named PCAA Swimmer of the Year.

The Hustlin' Rebel baseball team returned to NCAA post-season play for the first time since 1984, finishing the season with a 40-22 record and wins over nationally ranked foes Georgia Tech, Oklahoma, Wichita State, Oklahoma State, Cal State Fullerton, Fresno State, and UCLA. The Rebels captured national attention as the only team to defeat then-No. 1 ranked Oklahoma State through the first two months of the season, and later established itself as the nation's only club to play all three "number ones," lending credit to their claim as one of the strongest schedules in the nation. Head Coach Fred Dallimore eclipsed a coaching milestone with his 500th career victory and six players were named to PCAA all-conference teams. Dave Sturdivant and Scott Lewis were drafted by the California Angels. Layne Lambert and Donovan Osborne were named to the Baseball America Freshman All-America team.

Rounding out the Rebel sports season was the women's track program which sent four athletes to NCAA competition. The Lady Rebels' 440 Relay Team consisting of Tanya Davis, Gretchen Jiles, Carrie Franklin, and Cheryl Cheeks earned All-America honors by finishing eighth in the NCAA Finals. They are the fourth UNLV relay team to earn All-America status since 1977.

Other Rebel highlights from the 1987-88 athletic year: The Rebel football team brought prestige to the UNLV as senior running back Elbert "Ickey" Woods became the first UNLV and PCAA runningback to lead the nation in Division I rushing. Woods brought national exposure to the Rebel football program as he ramblled his way to the NCAA rushing title with 1,659 yards. He established UNLV records with three consecutive 200-yard games and nine games of 100 yards or more. Woods became UNLV's highest drafted football player in the history, chosen the NFL's 31st pick overall—the 3rd pick of the second round—by the Cincinnati Bengals.

Lady Rebel tennis player Jolene Watanabe, a sophomore from LaPuente, CA, finished the year ranked 69th in the nation for singles while teammate Tami Agassi, a freshman from Las Vegas, was ranked 94th. UNLV peaked in the PCAA Championships, finishing a strong second as a team.

The men's tennis team laid the foundation for the future in 1988. With no seniors on the squad, UNLV is poised to improve dramatically on their seventh place finish in the PCAA Championships.

The Swingin' Rebel Golf team, under the guidance of first year head coach Dwaine Knight, improved steadily throughout the year. Senior Kevin Pedigo reached a three-way playoff in the PCAA Championship tournament. The team finished second in the U.S. International University Tournament, its best finish in recent memory.

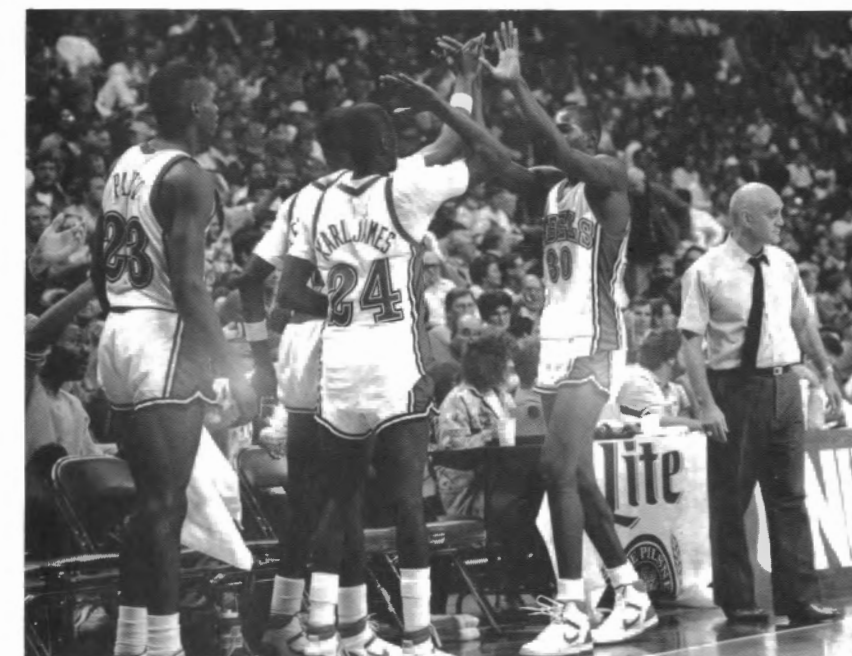

Lady Rebel softball player Mary Gerstner, a senior from Hays, KS, earned all-West Region First Team and all-PCAA First Team honors after leading the team in hits, runs scored, and times hit by pitch. Gay Lyn Turley, a senior from Mesa, AZ, also earned All-PCAA First Team Honors, while Tammy Bahde, a junior from Boulder City, NV, earned All-PCAA Second Team and All-West Region Second Team honors.

JIM BOLLA - HEAD COACH

In his seventh season in at least a shared head coaching capacity at UNLV, Jim Bolla continues his quest to make Nevada, Las Vegas a national power in the world of women's basketball. The 1988-89 season marks Bolla's first as sole head coach after sharing duties with his wife, Sheila Strike-Bolla, for the past six years. It is his eighth year at the University, landing UNLV in 1981 as an assistant coach under then head coach Sheila Strike. Through six years as head coach, Bolla enters the season with a 142-43 record.

DeNise Ballenger

Last year's three-point shooting leader in the Big West Conference, DeNise Ballenger, returns for her final year with the Lady Rebels. She came to UNLV last season out of Angelina JC in Lufkin, Texas, and immediately established herself as UNLV's second leading scorer. She is a native of Nacogdoches, Texas, and originally attended Northeast Louisiana University out of high school. She will play the point and off-guard positions, and is a bonafide threat to drive inside or hit the jumper from three-point range.

Lori Brotherson

Beginning her first season at UNLV, Lori Brotherson carries impressive credentials from a four-year career at Virgin Valley High School in Nevada. She is the only native Nevadan on the Lady Rebel roster, and was the recipient of a UNLV Elardi Scholarship awarded to all high school valedictorians from Nevada High Schools. After averaging 22 points and 13 rebounds in high school, she received recognition as the Las Vegas Review Journal's Female Athlete of the Year last year. She will add depth to the UNLV squad or forward.

Kim Crawford

A fourth-year senior, Kim Crawford begins her final year with the Lady Rebels hoping to return to a Big West title for the first time since her freshman year. Another three-point scoring threat, Crawford will be looked upon for valuable experience and leadership. She is a native of San Luis Obispo, California, and some of her best games, including a career high 23 points against Louisiana Tech, have been against the nation's best competition. She is one of the Lady Rebels' most versatile talents.

LADY REBEL BASKETBALL

— UNLV's LADY REBELS ARE MAKING HEADLINES IN '88-89 —

Mandy Hannah

Joining UNLV for her first season is high school all-american Mandy Hannah. Hannah sat out last season while at UNLV, but begins playing this year and is expected to contribute immediately in as many as four positions. She is an extremely talented athlete and was considered by UNLV coaches as possibly the finest player in Los Angeles out of high school.

Geannine Jordan

Known as UNLV's most consistent and most durable player over the past two seasons, Geannine Jordan, begins her third year with the Lady Rebels. Geannine averaged 10.9 points and 7.0 rebounds last season, and has led the club in shooting percentage each of the past two years. After earning Big West All-Freshman honors two years ago, Geannine has established herself as one of the top forwards in the conference and will challenge for post-season honors this season.

Pauline Jordan

The twin-sister of fellow Lady Rebel Geannine Jordan, Pauline Jordan begins her second campaign at UNLV as a pre-season All-America by numerous national publications. Pauline led UNLV in scoring (16.4) and rebounding (8.7) during her sophomore year last season, and was chosen first team All-Big West. She set Lady Rebel records with 84 blocked shots and seven in a game, and scored in double figures in 33 out of 34 games. She and sister Geannine hail from Pasadena.

Vicki Lander

An up-and-coming sophomore, Vicki Lander begins her second year with the Lady Rebels. Lander will play both the point and off-guard positions this year, and could be expected to score more often as the season continues. A native of Evansville, Indiana, she scored a career high 20 points against South Alabama at the Women's National Invitational Tournament last year.

Merlelynn Lange

Hailed as the tallest Lady Rebel player in history, six-foot-six freshman Merlelynn Lange comes to UNLV this season with a stockpile of credentials. Lange displays excellent mobility for a player her size, and is a member of the Canadian National Team. She also is the fourth Lady Rebel in recent years to come to UNLV from Canada. A native of North York, Ontario, Merlelynn has played against the finest centers in the world, and has travelled to Brazil, China, Cuba, Korea, Malaysia, the Soviet Union, and Yugoslavia.

Tammy Moore

Another newcomer to the Lady Rebels this season, Tammy Moore was a Kodak and National Junior College All-America last year at Kaskaskia Junior College in Centralia, Illinois. Originally from Detroit, Moore averaged 24 points and 8.6 rebounds while leading her club to a 24-6 finish and a sectional championship. She is considered by Lady Rebel coaches as a pure point guard and is expected to develop into a scoring threat as the season progresses.

Shari Netzel

One of two fourth-year seniors, Shari Netzel provides the Lady Rebels with strong support off the bench and excellent defense on the floor. Netzel blossomed a year ago and earned valuable play time in key games. She scored a career high 17 points against Cal State Fullerton at the Thomas and Mack, and had 12 rebounds against San Jose State. From Culver City, California, Netzel will play the forward position, and may be used on defense anywhere from the point to the post.

Shelly Ray

Shelly Ray begins her second year with the Rebels after an injury plagued year in '87 - '88. Shelly transferred to UNLV last year out of Walla Walla JC and the University of Oregon, but was sidelined again after two games with recurring knee troubles. Originally from Walla Walla, Washington, Ray will play the forward slot for UNLV, and is expected to play a valuable role on the boards.

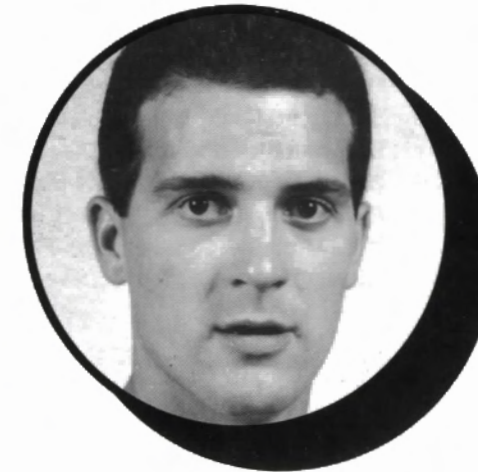

Linda Staley

Perhaps the most improved player on the team and certainly one who will have a definite impact on this year's club, Linda Staley appears to be the Lady Rebels' next point guard. Relying on strong leadership capabilities and excellent court sense, Staley has emerged as the UNLV floor leader. The Palmdale, California native averaged 4.3 points and two assists last year, and started in 13 games. Staley's best game a year ago came at Louisiana State, leading UNLV to an upset win with 11 points and six assists.

Mission Accomplished

by Tom Flagg

Vince Eade

By the time UNLV's Hospitality Research and Development Center completes its three-year, $863,000 educational development contract in the Dominican Republic in April, it will have made great strides in helping build the hotel administration program at the Universidad Catolica Madre y Maestra (UCMM), according to Vincent Eade, former chief-of-party.

The project has been so successful, in fact, that it has been extended eight months beyond its original April cut-off date.

Eade, a lecturer in UNLV's William F. Harrah College of Hotel Administration, worked in virtually every aspect of the hotel business before coming to UNLV, where he specializes in teaching labor relations.

He spent the 1987-88 academic year at UCMM's three campuses in the Dominican Republic, where he oversaw work on the contract between the UNLV's hotel college, UCMM, and the United States Agency for International Development.

USAID selected UNLV's hotel program from among competing institutions around the nation to boost tourism in the Dominican Republic by improving the hotel/hospitality program at UCMM.

The UCMM system enrolls some 7,000 students, 400-500 of whom are in the growing hotel administration program. Increased emphasis is being placed on this program, because tourism is an important part of the Dominican economy. The Dominican Republic is expected to have more hotel rooms than any other Caribbean country within the next five years, said Eade who has been succeeded in the position by David Britton, the current chief-of-party, who holds a master's degree in hotel administration from UNLV.

Eade took over the program in its second year. In addition to teaching, his job was to monitor progress on the implementation plan that was established during the first year.

"I also went out to the hospitality industry to get people interested in the university (UCMM) and its projects," Eade said. "We wanted to see if UCMM could have some of the success that UNLV's hotel college has had in getting industry support — not just in spirit, but financially."

That effort was successful, to the extent that local hotels sent speakers to seminars and classes and participated in various luncheons, dinners, and other functions, much as the Las Vegas hotels do with the UNLV program.

The program is aimed not at UCMM undergraduate students, but at university faculty and owners and employees in the Dominican hotel and restaurant industry. They are invited to participate in seminars led by visiting UNLV faculty.

"We would do advance publicity to the hotels and restaurants, and let them know that USAID, UNLV, and UCMM would be doing a seminar on, say, food purchasing," Eade explained.

UNLV faculty members who visited UCMM typically gave a seminar in Santo Domingo in English, with simultaneous translation. Then they would go on to the university's Puerto Plata campus and repeat the class.

Faculty member Patricia Shock, for instance, taught a seminar on group business at UCMM. Donald Bell led a class on dining room service and beverage control. Al Izolo taught food production, Lyell Metcalf lectured on financial management, and Frank Borsenik gave a seminar on energy management. Faculty members Henry Melton, David Christianson, John Stefanelli, Bob Martin, and Leslie Cummings also presented seminars.

"I thought the interest that the people had was very good," said Bob Martin, who gave a two-day seminar on professional housekeeping in Puerto Plata to some 65 people. "They seemed extremely interested. In fact, they drove long distances to get to the seminar."

UNLV faculty contributed more than their teaching abilities to the project. Charles Levinson, for instance, designed a new food and beverage training laboratory, which was built on the Santo Domingo campus. Bob Martin and Betsy Bender-Pederson designed a front desk/housekeeping training lab for the same campus. Martin also prepared some management cases and put together a program on front office management and procedures.

Seminar attendees include people from the top and middle management, students, government officials who are involved in tourism, and members of professional associations in the hospitality field.

"My experience was that, the more practical the approach, the better," Eade said. "The typical attendee was looking for solutions 'right now.' They'd say, 'I need to go back to my restaurant and fix a problem. Help me.' They'd want to know how to compute yield, or redesign their menu, or set food costs."

Dominican students are interested in the way things are done in the United States, but ultimately, American systems have little practical application, Eade said.

"As we did these seminars, we became more efficient in identifying the type of subject matter that was needed down there, to the point where we got very slick, with a lot of hand-outs they could take back and refer to later," Eade said.

The range of professional experience among seminar participants is wide, he noted.

"We found it to be anywhere from novices — because the industry is growing so fast that they had promoted the first person they could find — to some very knowledgeable people with European training and background in the hotel industry."

In any case, participants greatly appreciated the information they received in the seminars, Eade said.

The Hospitality Research and Development Center worked with UCMM faculty to improve specific aspects of the Dominican institution's program. For instance, Nancy Master, reference librarian in UNLV's James R. Dickinson Library, analyzed library resources for the hotel/hospitality program at UCMM. She produced a report on the proper selection of books, periodicals, and audio/visual materials that the UCMM library should add to its collection. Ultimately, UNLV provided a list of some 2,000 recommended items.

Visiting faculty members from UNLV met one-on-one with UCMM instructors who needed help in specific areas. Such individual attention helped bring UCMM faculty up to certain skill levels quickly, Eade explained.

The UNLV party designed a short-term program for UCMM faculty by indentifying hospitality industry training seminars in the United States where faculty members could receive immediate information.

A long-term aspect of the faculty development program involves five UCMM graduate students who are doing master's degree work in the hotel administration program at UNLV. They are under obligation to return to UCMM to teach for four years after they receive their degrees.

Eade believes UNLV faculty also have benefited from the federally funded project.

"I think it was categorically a great learning experience for the UNLV faculty who went down to UCMM," he said. "The opportunity to analyze the operation of a university outside the United States, in a Third World country, was extremely interesting and educational."

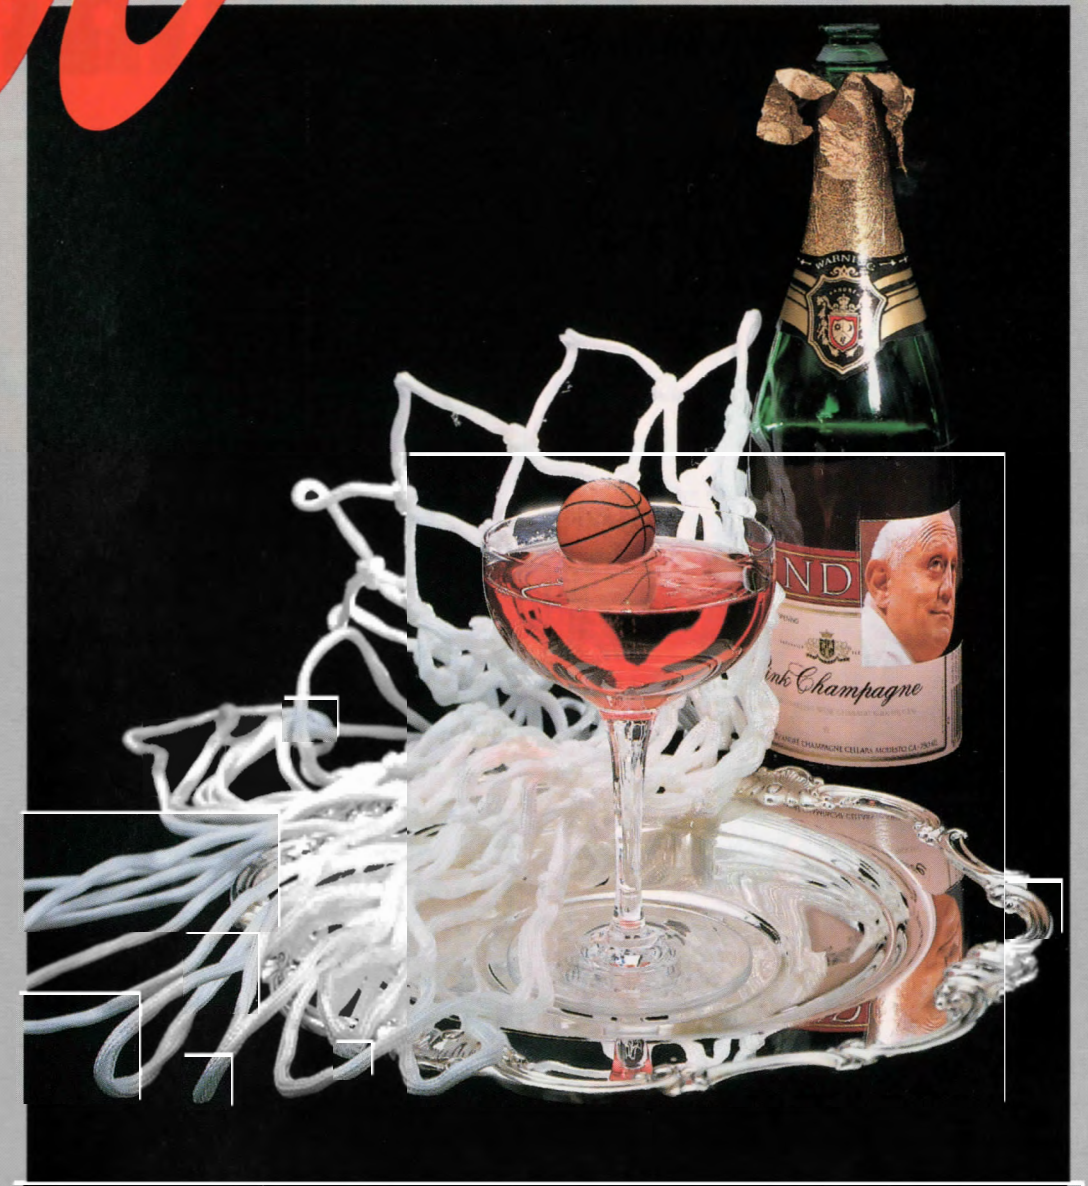

Eade likened the project to a laboratory situation.

"I used to do a comparison between Las Vegas and the Dominican Republic: both are booming; tourism is now their number-one industry, as it is ours; they have a major hotel program developing, as we have here..."

"It was a rewarding experience for me in that, here was our federal government buying education rather than bullets," he said. "I think (the project) will make a contribution in the long run — the physical facilities, the training facilities at the university, the American presence in a non-military way. I think that's important."

The Hospitality Research and Development Center is directed by Dr. Alan Stutts, associate professor of hotel administration. The UCMM program was the first large project undertaken by the center.
